

Three Acres on Yonge Street At Mount Pleasant Cemetery Is Not Yet Part of Toronto

Portion of Street is Still in Township, Altho Maintained By City-- Land Must be Acquired so Street Widening Can be Gone On With-- Up to Toronto Now to Annex Cemetery Property West of Yonge, the Roadway and the Cemetery Property Back to Bay View Ave.

The adjoining map shows upper Yonge street in front of Mount Pleasant Cemetery, where a situation is more or less created by the fact that a little triangle of about three acres of land on the west side of the present Yonge street is still in the Township of York, the partially enclosed by the city. The plan shows one bound of the city going along the south bound of Mount Pleasant Cemetery and across Yonge street; then north and along the west side of the original road allowance; and it will be seen from the map that the cemetery trust still owns most of the original farm lot that was between the present Yonge street and the original road allowance. Therefore, the little triangle of cemetery property west of the present Yonge street, and the original road allowance, are all still in the township and not in the city. As a matter of fact, at the present moment, the portion of Yonge street now used, and running thru the cemetery lot, belongs to York Township, altho it is maintained by the city. The township, however, is ready to deed it over to the city at the city's request.

The map and these facts are important, because Yonge street is to be widened twenty feet on the west side, beginning at the south bound of the triangle in front of Christ Church. A strip will be taken thru the church building and up thru the cemetery property on the west side of the present Yonge street, and then all the way up thru North Toronto to the city limit. To get this strip, it will be seen that a portion of the church triangle must be taken, and a very considerable strip of the cemetery triangle of three acres.

But not only are the public interested in the cemetery property west of Yonge street, but they may also be more or less interested in the property between Yonge street and Lawton avenue—half the range of lots fronting on Lawton avenue being in the city and half in the township at the present moment, as the map indicates. It has been proposed that the city should acquire the whole block between Lawton avenue and Yonge street for park or ornamental purposes, and it is believed that reasonable terms could be made with the cemetery trust for its power house, and that the range of lots on Lawton avenue could be bought for a reasonable figure. There happen to be at the present time, about a dozen houses on Lawton avenue, the value of which is in the neighborhood of $100,000; this valuation, however, does not include the land. By failing to acquire the property owned by the Walmsley estate and the property west of it, the city can certainly acquire the interest of the cemetery trust on the west side of the street; in fact, the trust ought to be prepared to surrender the property to the public in consideration that the cemetery is exempt from taxes, and the trust intend to sell the east end of the two hundred acres, now becoming enormously valuable owing to the growth of the city. The first thing, therefore, to do in order to simplify the situation,

TODMORDEN'S NEW SCHOOL WILL BOOST TAX RATE

The aldermen in Ward One are awaiting the return of the petitions for and against the annexation of Todmorden and Cedarvale before they come to a decision as to what their recommendation should be in the matter. The petitions are still being circulated throughout the districts and according to reports are being very well signed.

Ald. Hill's Opinion. In conversation with the World Alderman W. W. Hill said that it was just a question of the district being annexed immediately or after it was thickly populated, and he thought that annexation should take place before this happened. He was also of the opinion that in the districts which are sure to be annexed in the near future, the city should have some control over the class of buildings that are erected.

A number of residents in the above districts are beginning to see that the new $100,000 school which is to be commenced this spring is going to double their taxes, whereas if the place was annexed this amount would be shared over the city. Don Road Widening. Since Don Mills road is being widened within the city limits residents in the township are afraid that the junction of the association and the old part in the township will be dangerous to traffic unless the corner caused by the widening is smoothed out. Discussing the matter with the World Ald. Walton referred to the special legislation the township is asking to enable the council to fix the building on any street. If this is secured he thought the township council would do well to fix the street line on Don Mills road to the city width.

SPREADING RAIL CAUSED WRECK

(Continued From Page 1.) The engine of the wrecked train, which was still on the rails, was rushed to Toronto, where a special emergency train was made up and sent back to the scene of the wreck.

Altho the accident occurred shortly after 8 p.m. it was not until 3 p.m. Sunday that the passengers were finally brought into the Toronto Union Station.

An auxiliary train was sent out from Toronto, and the work of clearing the wreckage was kept up all night, but it was not until nearly noon on Sunday that the line was clear for traffic. A full investigation into the matter has been ordered by the railway company.

Five years ago Superintendent Bishop purchased five acres of land in the Oakwood district, facing on St. Clair avenue, for the purpose of erecting a high school, the purchase price being $3000 per acre, the total sum amounting to $15,000. The foresight of Mr. Bishop is shown by the fact that this piece of land is worth today $150,000.

The City of Toronto turned down the Bull property, which extended from Dufferin street to Ossington avenue, comprising 100 acres, five years ago, for $250,000. Today it is worth $85 per foot, a large number of select residences being built on it, and others in course of construction.

There are few large available spaces now left in the Earls Court district. The Allan Royce property, on St. Clair avenue and the Miller property, on Dufferin street, are the only large pieces of land on the market available for park sites today.

Deputy Reeve Miller is contemplating the erection of four large greenhouses this year, also a solid-brick, square-plan residence to cost in the neighborhood of $6000, on the property mentioned.

The park site favored by the Earls Court Voters and the British Imperial Association, as well as the majority of the residents, is the Miller property. New Lodge Opened. The Earls Court district is well catered to with respect to fraternal and other societies, and a considerable length of time holding their meetings in one hall in Earls Court.

A serious state of Harvey avenue hill in the township is causing much discussion amongst the residents. It was a household name in the township several years ago, and the hill was a source of much trouble to the residents.
