* WAR SUMMARY *

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

in the past few months. "Our heavy guns appeared to be very effective, Sir Douglas comments laconically in alluding to the silencing of German artillery in three different areas.

Petrograd official reports seem to indicate a temporary luli in active operations on the eastern front. The capture of two Carpathian heights litton involving an annual expenditure near the source of the River Pruth was announced in the afternoon statement. South of Krevo, in the Vilna sector, and in the region of the Sereth, south of the Brody, at scattered points, the enemy appears to be undertaking offensive movements, but with indifferent success. Petrograd last night reported briefly no change in the situation.

British aerial supremacy on the western front has been persistently asserted by authorities who weigh their words carefully, and day to day developments are fully confirmatory of the claims. The latest German attempt to challenge such aerial mastery resulted in a spirited engagement on the Somme front, many aeroplanes being in action. Four enemy machines were destroyed and many others crippled, while the British suffered no casualties.

The adjournment of both houses of the British Parliament yesterday was attended by expressions of fullest confidence in the satisfactory outcome of the war, such expressions being in marked contrast to those heard at Westminster a year ago. The signal successes won by the entente allies on the eastern and western fronts and the knowledge that the Balkan offensive has begun auspiciously has driven parliamentary pessimists to cover, and even the Northcliffe press has shown a decided change of heart. It is recognized that the way may be long, but that the end is certain.

Intense artillery activity by the Germans north and south of the Somme has met with prompt response from the French. Infantry fighting has been limited, but the French troops again showed their dash in the capture of German defences between Fleury and the Thiaumont works en the right bank of the Meuse in the Verdun sector.

Reports that Greek troops had clashed with the Bulgarians are not confirmed, but the situation is evidently strained to the breaking point. A Reuter despatch from Saloniki states that the Greek commander at Seres has issued a formal call to demobilized troops in the district to join the colors in preparation for active resistance, and that followers of Venizelos are lending their co-operation.

Biggar, K.C., made to the parks board last evening.

The Hamilton Shipbuilding and Ferry Company, Mr. Biggar said, was willing to spend a large amount of money to improve the park, but could not see its way clear to do this if it did not get a long term lease.

The board expressed willingness to meet the company half way, and details of the plan will be considered at a meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon. An application from the Dominion Gas Company for permission to erect a small meter station on park property on Dundas street was rejected by the board

At least four hostile machines were destroyed, and many others were driven down damaged and apparently out of control. Others were pursued to their aerodrome. We suffered no casualties. "Despite the continual fighting, a reconnaissance was completed successfully and bombing raids were carried out against sundry points of importance."

The Food Problems.

There was considerable discussion There was considerable discussion in recent days concerning the question of food supplies here, altho high prices are due to scarcity of supplies, the costliness of freightage and the abnormal consumption of food by the untold millions of men in the field. Captain Prettyman said today that he estimated that the men in the field estimated that the men in the field eat balf as much again as they did in civilian life. While the question of food supplies is pressing heavily on the civilian population, the government thus far has seen no reason to take any new or drastic steps in the direction of administrative control of either the price or consumption of food.

In the debates the cabinet ministers also expressed the greatest confidence in the constantly growing economic pressure which is being exercised pressure which is being exercised against the central powers.

The difficult questions of suffrage and registration reform have been shelved temporarily, but as a precautionary measure the house of kords inserted in the bill extending the lite of parliament an amendment which the house of comment acceptance. of parliament an amendment which the house of commons accepted, providing that any new parliament elected upon the existing register should endure only for two years. This is an emergency which is unlikely to arise, however, as a large majority of the country is opposed to holding elections during the war. It seems almost certain that the next parliamen will be elected upon a basis of adult suffrage with women voting, altho there are many opinions that the the there are many opinions that the country ought to be consulted upon the important question of admitting women to suffrage by means of a general
