Society at St. Thomas

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 12.—The annual convocation at Alma College on Friday evening, was a delightful function and hundreds of guests from St. Thomas and outside points were present.

The splendid building was brilliantly lighted and the artistic decorations of flowers and palms, added much to the attractiveness of the spacious corridors and lofty drawing-rooms and studios, and beautiful statuary greeted the eye at every turn.

The guests were welcomed in the first drawing-room by Principal Warner, and Mrs. Warner assisted by members of the faculty. Mrs. Warner wore a pearl-grey satin, with lace garniture and pearls and diamonds ornaments.

The art-room was thronged with guests during the evening, viewing the splendid display of pictures painted by A. St. Thomas, St. Thomas, R.C.A.

Refreshments were served in "the palm-rooms" from a table artistically arranged with crimson roses and ferns by members from the domestic science class.

The many animated students in light and colored frocks and the many band and winded guests, presented a brilliant scene.

An excellent programme of classical and popular music was given by the Alma College band of the 28th Battalion of London under the direction of Professor Pocock.

Mrs. Colter, Elgin-street, was the hostess of the largest and most enjoyable bridge party of the season, on Tuesday evening; the house thronged with guests, who were seated at long tables in the drawing-rooms and library and the many guests were greeted in the handsomely decorated room by Judge and Mrs. Colter, and the charming daughter of the house, Miss Laurie Colter.

Society at the Capital

The Saturday afternoon skating party at Government House last week was again most enjoyable, but again it was to be regretted that Her Excellency Lady Grey could not be present as she has not yet sufficiently recovered her usual health.

Major Trotter, A.D.C., received the guests in her absence as Lady Grey and also His Excellency were on the ice. Other members of the Government House party who were present were: Lord and Lady Lansborough, Lady Darnley, Lady Harwood, Lady Eileen Butler, Lady Mary Dawson, Mrs. and Mr. George Montagu of London, Eng., who are guests of Her Excellency just now, Lord Lascelles, Captain Pitt and Captain Newton. A large number of citizens also availed themselves of the beautiful weather and joined in the sports of skating and tobogganing.

On Friday evening the second ball which Her Excellency has given this winter, came off most successfully, and altho the invitation list was not so large as at the preceding one, yet the event was equally charming. The guests included principally the "younger set" who were very young and married people were also present.

Lady Evelyn Grey, in Her Excellency's absence, performed the duties of hostess in a very unobtrusive manner, and very becomingly gown in pale green satin with bugle trimmings. She wore a beautiful necklace of pearls and diamonds, and a pair of pink roses. As usual the floral decorations were most elaborate and arranged in a most artistic manner. The work of the ladies was most commendable and the dancing was most enjoyable.

The vice-regal party included Lady Harwood who wore a gown of green velvet with diamond ornaments. Lady Darnley in black satin with trimmings of silver gauze, and wearing a handsome diamond necklace, the Countess of Lansborough who was beautiful in black satin, trimmed with crystals, the corsage being draped in a lattice work of rhinestones which also formed the sleeves; and Lady Eileen Butler looking extremely pretty in pale blue with tulle and lace, and a necklace of pearls and diamonds.

Embroidered in gold. Altho the invitations had specified the hour of half-past one a.m. for carriages to be ordered dancing was kept up successfully until nearly 3 a.m.

Miss Morris, Bide entertained at a very lovely bridge party on Friday afternoon at her home, 1000 Bloor-street, when the guests included: Miss Ethel Aldous of Winnipeg, Miss Edith Piddling and Miss Laura White, all of whom were accompanied by their husbands. A number of floral decorations were most artistically arranged in the pretty church. In front of the church stood a screen of flowers and palms and above the altar steps a huge floral bell hung, while large vases of pink and white roses, and white and pink carnations and palms and ferns were banked at the foot of the screen. Pillars of white and pink roses, and white and pink carnations and palms and ferns were banked at the foot of the screen.
