

PREFACE.

---

We take this occasion to thank the members of the legal profession, and very many of other professions and avocations, for their generous support of this publication in this its first year of existence. As to the future, there is one point we should like to emphasize: the more subscribers we get, the more matter we are enabled to give, so that in a few years, with a continuance of the present encouraging support, we shall be in a position to give a legal compendium which will be absolutely complete as a book of general legal reference. The possibilities of such a book are very great, and with the hearty support of the members of the Bar of this country, its possibilities will be fully realized. To this end we cordially invite suggestions from our subscribers, in order that we may give effect to them as far as possible.
