

VERDICT LATER IN INSURANCE CASE HEARD HERE

Jury Answers Questions in Royal Assurance and Melvin Ross

After deliberating an hour last evening on the evidence in the case of the Mount Royal Assurance Company vs. Melvin Ross, of St. Stephen, the jury in the County Court brought in their answers to ten questions submitted by the court, but no verdict was entered. There will be argument of counsel on points of law at a later date before Judge J. A. Barry, and the latter will direct the finding in the matter.

The action was brought by the company to recover $285.10 paid to the defendant under a fire policy, setting up that there had been concurrent insurance with another agency at the time the policy was taken, and that the plaintiff had no notice of the other insurance, and that this constituted a breach of a statutory condition. The defence maintained that H. H. Butler, who effected the insurance with the Mount Royal, was an agent of the company and he knew of the other insurance at the time.

ANSWERS QUESTIONS.

The jury, on the questions of fact submitted to them, found that there had been other insurance, that the defendant had relied on Butler in effecting the policy with the plaintiff company and making their claim, and that Butler was an agent of Macdonald & Foster, general agents of the Mount Royal, merely for the purpose of soliciting applications, forwarding them to Macdonald & Foster. The jury did not give any finding as to whether the company should recover or what amount they should obtain, if any. This matter will be decided by the court after hearing argument.

The jury was composed of—E. W. Rowley, O. S. Trentowsky, C. E. Baxter, C. W. Warren and F. I. Withers. H. O. McInerney, K.C., appeared for the company and E. Earle B. Smith, of St. Stephen, for the defendant.

COUNT HISSED

BERLIN, May 28.—Count Ludwig Salin Hoogstraeten, estranged husband of the former Millicent Rogers, who has been severely criticized on several occasions for his tactics during tennis matches, was openly hissed at the closing rounds of the Whitson tournament at Berlin's fashionable "Red White" tennis club. The count's opponent was a promising 18 year old player named Wetzel of Baden. Count Salin, who was defeated in the first set, refused his opponent's request for a new set of balls, whereupon young Wetzel left the court and the Count claimed the match. The spectators who hissed the Count for his action also accused him of attempting to nettle his young opponent during play with cries of "come on, you're Germany's hope," and similar interpretations.

Kings County Producers Keep Milk Price At Present Level

There will be no reduction in the price of milk in Saint John this summer as a result of a decision reached by the Kings County Milk Producers' Association at Apohaqui on Wednesday afternoon. A delegation from the city milk dealers conferred with the producers in an effort to secure the customary reduction but without success. About 80 of the producers were present at the conference.

The city deputation, which was headed by J. N. Riley, president of the Saint John dealers, tried to induce the producers to reduce the price of the eight-quart can from the winter price of 50 cents to 40 cents f.o.b. the shipping point, as was done in other years. This the producers would not do.

Frank Roach, of Sussex, then moved that the summer price remain at 50 cents. This motion was carried, an amendment that the price be set at 45 cents, receiving only about eight votes.

The 50-cent rate will remain in force until Sept. 1 when another conference will be held. The retail price of milk will remain at 13 cents to 14 cents during the summer. It had been hoped that a reduction of one cent would be effected.

Ren Smith, president of the Kings County Milk Producers' Association, was in the chair.

Local dealers declared after the meeting that they were desirous of reducing the price as was done in all other cities but that they were at the mercy of the producers and powerless to resist their demands.

RESTIGOUCHE WILL PLANT MANY SPUDS

100,000 Bushels Last Year in Eastern Coast of County

CAMPBELLTON, May 26.—Farming activities on the North Shore are going on slowly under backward weather. In spite of the unfavorable weather, however, it is estimated that seeding will be about on an average with other years, and some gardens are already completed.

A considerable acreage will again be allotted to potato growing this season by Restigouche farmers. Last year's crop along the eastern coast of the county approximated 100,000 barrels. Potatoes are now selling here at figures which hover around the five dollar mark, and are reported as being none too plentiful.

Convention of Movie Men Here Closes

The Maritime convention of Famous Players Lasky exhibitors and salesmen came to a conclusion last evening in the Admiral Beatty Hotel when a dinner was served the visiting picture men. During the evening vocal solos were given by E. Clyde Parsons, Mrs. Blake Ferris and Arch Mason, of Springfield, and humorous readings by Steve Matthews. Dancing and singing numbers by a group of the Rossley Kiddies in costume were also much appreciated. The impressive entry of a large birthday cake with 15 candles was a pleasing incident of the proceedings and after the formal cutting of the cake the toast to the host of the occasion was proposed by W. H. Golding and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" was heartily sung.

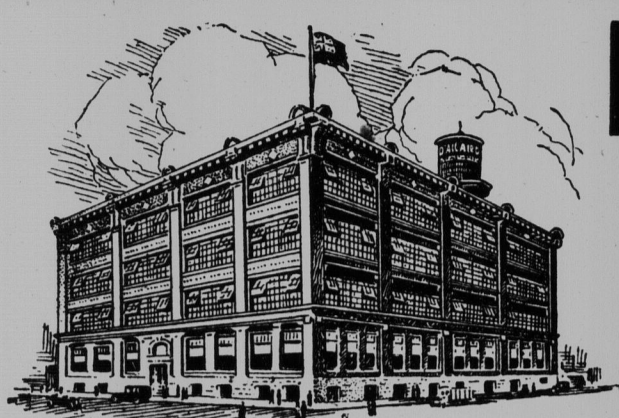

J. F. O'Connell, manager of the Majestic and Strand theatres, Halifax, presided at a short round table discussion in which all the motion picture men took part.
