New York, Oct. 3-A third expedition designed to recover $3,000,000 in gold, silver and precious stones, which have been at the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean for thirteen years, has sailed from the Tebo Yacht Basin plant of the Todd Shipyards Corporation, South Brooklyn. The expedition will leave on two steam trawlers, the Foam and Spray.

A group of well-known New York business and society men are behind John F. O'Hagan, a noted diver, was commissioned to organize the expedition. With him are Frank J. Grilley and Fredelin, C. C. Neilson, former United States Navy divers. The sunken treasure is all aboard the Ward Line steamship Merida which went down sixty miles off the Virginia Capes thirteen years ago after a collision with the United Fruit Company's steamer Admiral Farragut.

The cargo of the Merida consisted of a large amount of silver, about $500,000 in gold and many precious stones, among them the famous Maximilian rubies, once the pride of the Empress Marie Charlotte, mad widow of the ill-fated ruler of Mexico. The vessel had 4,700 tons of copper in her hold as ballast. She is be-lieved to be resting on an even keel on a hard sandy bottom.

The first expedition to recover the treasure was made in 1917. In 1921, the steamer Ripple was sent to hunt for the treasure. Both expeditions
