New York Doctors Remain Skeptical—German Physician Gives Second Injections to Twelve and Treats Eleven New Patients

(Canadian Press)

Buffalo, N. Y., April 25—Fred W. Lang, Jr., of North Tonawanda, who was taken in February to Pasadena, California, suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis in an advanced stage, has returned apparently cured by the Friedman treatment.

When he left he was so weak he could hardly walk, and Dr. C. T. Cranice, who attended him, said there was little hope for him.

Doctor Cranice obtained from Dr. Friedman sufficient vaccine to treat three patients and selected Lang as one of them. Lang had just suffered two hemorrhages and was very weak. In a few days he had gained two pounds. Another injection was given, and later a third. After remaining under observation of the California doctor, Lang was allowed to return to his home, near this city, apparently a well man.

Today Dr. Cranice said that Lang had not a symptom of tuberculosis and apparently was absolutely cured. When Lang went to California the state health department made a verified statement that he was in an advanced state of tuberculosis. The last injection was given more than two weeks ago. Lang has gained twelve pounds in weight since that time and says he feels as well as ever.

New York, April 25—Dr. Friedman's cure was discussed at a private meeting of the medical academy last night by Dr. C. H. Caulfield, president of the profession in the city, and who spoke about the results. He said that some of the patients in Toronto are progressing fairly well, although it is quite too early in the opinion of medical men, to pass an absolute judgment.

For the first time since he began treatment of tuberculosis in this city Doctor Friedman administered second injections yesterday. He gave injections to the six patients who were in the hospital for tuberculous and joint diseases, who also had received the vaccine. The results were not so good as those reported by the government, for the patients and the work were not so good as those reported by the government, for the patients and the work were not so good as those reported by the government.

Accompanied Husband Across Continent for Cure; Herself Dies in Providence

Mrs. Williamson Stricken With Pneumonia—Three of Family Took Friedman's Cure

Providence, R. I., April 25—Mrs. Alice Williamson, one of a family of eleven, who travelled from Los Angeles, and who so that her husband and two other members of the family could be treated for tuberculosis by Doctor Friedman, was buried yesterday. She died of pneumonia.

The three members suffering from tuberculosis were treated by the German physician since after their arrival. Mr. Williamson is still in a local hospital. While the family sold their household effects when they left for the east, the remaining members hope to return to the Pacific coast as soon as Mr. Williamson is able to make the trip.

The Seventeen Year Old Daughter of Millionaire Kidnapped by Auto Women

New York, April 25—Romona Borden, seventeen-year-old daughter of Gail Borden, millionaire condensed milk manufacturer of New York and Los Angeles, was on the front lawn of the W. C. Adams sanitarium, at Pompton Lake, N. J., when two women in an automobile snatched her to her.

She ran out into the roadway, followed by her nurse, Miss Hoagland, and was held by the strangers. Miss Borden started to enter the car. The nurse caught and held her. The two women then grasped the girl and lifted her into the tonneau, dragging Miss Hoagland with her.

"We mean no harm to the child," said the women, one of whom was of middle age and the other several years older. "We simply want to give her a ride."

They drove to Newark and stopped at the Hotel Navarre. The strange women said the chauffeur dismissed the machine. The party then went into the women's waiting room. Miss Hoagland stepped into an adjoining room to telephone to the sanitarium. When she returned her charge and the two women had disappeared.

TARIFF PRIETES'S NOVELTY IN HOUSE

Republican Representative Takes Original Way of Getting His Views on The Record—Bill to Senate First Week in May

(Canadian Press)

Washington, April 25—With only three more days left for general debate on the Underwood tariff bill in the house, the prospect today was that the measure would pass the house and go to the senate during the first week of May.

The majority leader, Mr. Underwood, has given notice that general debate on the bill will close when the house adjourns on Monday night. On Tuesday the bill will be called up under the five minute rule for reading and amendment. At that time it is the purpose of the majority to fix some limitation on amendments to hasten the bill along and to guard against a filibuster.

Representative J. H. Moore introduced a novelty today and for the first time in the history of congress, so far as known, a speech on the tariff was delivered by the reading of questions from the speaker's rostrum and the delivery of replies from the floor.

Mr. Moore's speech was a "tariff primer." He sent to the desk a set of questions which the clerk propounded to him and Mr. Moore, in his answers, ran the gamut of tariff, legislation and tariff doom.

"When was the first tariff act passed?" asked the clerk. "The first act passed was a tariff act," replied Mr. Moore. "It was approved by President Washington, on July 4, 1790, and was regarded as an American declaration of commercial independence."

"What do you mean by the Underwood bill?" "The bill introduced by Chairman Underwood, the exponent in the house of the theories of President Wilson," was the reply.

And so the question and answers ran on. Mr. Moore charged the Democrats with continually misrepresenting the tariff question, declaring the present Payne tariff law revised the tariff downward and when the clerk asked why people complained if they enjoyed such wonderful progress, Mr. Moore replied:

"They listened to ambitious politicians, agitators without conscience, journalists without ethics, and the general public, generally, who found it more convenient to write fiction than to work, and a few sincere reformers, usually misinformed and frequently misled."

ARTHUR MERRITT, KILLED IN GERMAN STREET, HIGH UP AT WORK ON POLE

Changing Wires When Accident Occurred and Body Hung in Mid Air—Lowered to Earth by Companions

(Canadian Press)

Arthur Merritt, a lineman in the employ of the St. John Railway Company, met his death in a sudden and fearful manner about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, when 2,000 volts of electricity passed through his body, killing him instantly.

At the time of the tragedy the unfortunate man was at work at the top of a pole in front of St. Andrew's church in German street, and was engaged in shifting wires. He had just finished a charge and his death was mercifully sudden.

His companions saw him stiffen and another employee went to his assistance but he was dead before they could reach him. His body was still suspended at the top of the pole and ropes were used to lower him to the ground.

Dr. P. R. Inches and Dr. F. E. Bishop whose offices are located near at the scene of the accident were immediately on the spot and did everything they could for the man in an attempt to revive him, but his heart had ceased beating. After the first prompt measures had been taken the doctors continued their efforts but without success.

Mr. Merritt, who was a former Moncton man, had resided in St. John and been employed by the railway company for the last two years. He was about forty-five years of age and is survived by his wife and three small children. His home was in Middle street.

This is the third accident of this kind which has occurred in the maritime provinces within the last year, the other fatalities having taken place at Halifax and Sydney.
