Immigration to Canada from France is expected to commence on a large scale within two years. Already 12,000 residents of the southern provinces of that country have decided to make their homes in the Dominion, and 25,000 will cross the Atlantic as soon as their preparations for departure are complete This is according to A. Fox, a prom nent French-Canadian of Montreal, who has been employed to arrange for the accommodation of the first contingent on their arrival in Canada. Mr. Fox has been in communication with agents in France for months. He says the arrangements for emigration have been progressing for some time, that the peomost of whom belong to the Roman Catholic church-have become disgusted by the attitude of the French govern-ment towards the Vatican, and have decided to migrate to a country where re-ligious freedom is more highly regarded.
