

LOBBS PASS SECOND READING AMENDING BILL

Only Ten "Die Hards" Voted for its Rejection — Notice of Modifications Providing for Total Exclusion of Ulster.

London, July 6.—The House of Lords today passed, by 272 to ten, the second reading of the bill to amend the Irish Home Rule bill.

That the House of Lords would pass the bill in order to amend the Home Rule bill was a foregone conclusion, but there was surprise that only ten "die hards" could be found to vote for Lord Willoughby de Broke's motion for its rejection.

The Marquis of Crewe, in winding up the debate, in the course of which he challenged the opposition to guarantee that there would be no civil war in Ireland, even if the bill was amended totally excluding Ulster. Concerning the possibility of a solution by conference, if dropping the amending bill and breaking down the government policy was to be a preliminary it would be impossible for the government to accept it, but short of entailing such a sacrifice, the government was most anxious to facilitate a conference.

For himself, he did not hesitate to say that if John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, William O'Brien, and two or three other Irishmen could get together it would be a better augury for some permanent arrangement than any other kind of a conference.

After division was taken, notice of several amendments was handed in providing for the exclusion from home rule of the whole of Ulster.

These amendments, if carried, will make the exclusion of the whole province of Ulster absolutely without any referendum or election, and the excluded province will be placed under the jurisdiction of the new secretary of state in the Imperial parliament, whose administrative orders would require the sanction of the British parliament.

JOHN BRAMAN IN JAIL FOR BURGLARY AND SHOOTING; ACCOMPLICE SURRENDERS

O'Leary regained consciousness and was able to talk with those who visited him. To Commissioner McLellan he told what had been said to him by Braman, and stated that Braman said that Thomas Petrie had been with him in breaking into Mowatt's. O'Leary told the commissioner that it would be good to go out and get the officers after Petrie before he got away.

Fighting Chance for Life.

O'Leary's condition was not so very bad during the afternoon and he picked up wonderfully, and last night he was resting fairly although still suffering from the pain and shock. The doctor said that as the bullet did not perforate the bowels, and as O'Leary was a strong young man, usually in perfect health, he had a fighting chance for his life.

Has Fighting Chance.

During the afternoon John O'Leary and his wife, the father and mother of the injured officer, visited him in the hospital and spent some time with their son who talked to them on different matters. Last night he was still conscious and a couple of times asked the attendants what changes he had.

Enquiries at the hospital last night brought the fact that O'Leary had but a fighting chance for his life, and that was due to his youth, strength and clean habits. Should complications set in, however, the worst is feared. He is expected to survive for a couple of days. Although his condition is indeed very serious, he may yet pull through. There was no attempt to remove the bullet.

Braman Takes it Calmly.

After being locked up in the police station cell, John Braman did not appear excited over his plight and answered all questions put to him by the police. He acknowledged the breaking and entering Mowatt's store, and told the officers that Thomas Petrie was with him at the time. He also told the officers that it was he who robbed Carleton's, says on Saturday night and the store of W. H. Thorne and Company on the 16th of June.

About two o'clock he was taken from the cell by Police Sergeant Scott and brought into the court room. The prisoner was without a hat or necktie. He wore a new pair of tan boots and a brown coat and trousers the latter being supported by a boy scout belt. His right cheek showed a bad bruise which he received in the tug-of-war when he was arrested by Officer O'Leary.

As he stood before Magistrate Ritchie the prisoner looked rather pale and appeared to realize his position.

His Honor had the charge read over and informed the prisoner that he was not obliged to say anything at the present time in answer to the charge. The prisoner was then remanded to jail. From the court room to the jail the prisoner was conducted by Sergeant Scott, and it was on their way to jail that he was photographed by a member of The Standard staff.

Petrie Gives Himself Up.

Up to last night the prisoner had not engaged any lawyer to represent him. He will be kept in jail pending the condition of Officer O'Leary. Immediately after Braman informed the court that Thomas Petrie had been in the break-in Chief Clerk called at the residence of Petrie, the father of Thomas,

THOUSANDS VISIT GRAVE OF CHAMBERLAIN

Noted British Statesman Buried Yesterday — Only Members of Family and Few Friends Attend.

Birmingham, July 6.—The late Joseph Chamberlain was buried today in Hockley cemetery, which is situated in the constituency he represented in the House of Commons for so many years.

Previous to the burial, a memorial service was held in the Church of St. Andrew, the members of both the church and the cemetery consisted solely of members of the Chamberlain family, as the late statesman had expressed the desire that his funeral should be free from everything of a public nature.

Nothing could, however, prevent a great crowd of citizens of Birmingham, among whom Joseph Chamberlain was a popular hero, from lining the route along which the funeral passed from the dead statesman's residence at Highbury to the church and from there to the cemetery. As the procession passed the men reverently uncovered their heads.

London, July 6.—The family of the late Joseph Chamberlain had declined an offer by the government to allow his body to be buried in Westminster Abbey. This action was taken in deference to the wishes of the late statesman.

Simultaneously with the burial in Birmingham, memorial services were held in St. Margaret's church, Westminster. Premier Asquith, the members of his cabinet, of the late Mr. Chamberlain's colleagues in the House of Commons, members of the House of Lords and of the foreign diplomatic corps, together with a large number of persons prominent in the official and social life of the capital, attended.

A service also was held in the Church of St. Lawrence, Jewry, which adjoins the Guildhall of the city of London, and in which parish the late statesman's ancestors lived for many years.

Birmingham, England, July 6.—Hockley cemetery was thrown open this evening and for several hours a procession made up of many thousands passed in front of Mr. Chamberlain's grave, paying reverential tribute. The grave was covered with magnificent wreaths.

At No. 6 Delhi street and asked for Thomas. The young fellow's sister informed that Thomas had been at a camp at Long Lake. Long Lake is situated on the Sandy Point road and could be reached very easily. A brother of Thomas Petrie went to the camp, found Thomas, and about four o'clock brought the young man into the city and took him to the Central Police Station where he gave himself up to Chief of Police Clark.

When questioned regarding the robbery young Petrie said that he had been with Braman in making the break-in at Mowatt's. He had been at school and he wanted the money to assist in educating himself. He said he had intended going to Chicago to further his education. He, however, did not say where the money was that Braman said he had given him and this is still to be accounted for. Young Petrie was kept in a cell in central station last night and will be taken before the magistrate today and remanded to jail.

About fifty dollars of the money stolen from the drug store is the property of the postal department having been taken in for post office orders.

Petrie Worked For Mowatt.

Thomas Petrie, who is under arrest, is a tall dark, slight youth and up to last April had been in the employ of Howard J. Mowatt in the Waterloo street drug store. It is thought that he has been working there a good while, having worked there as a boy acquainted with the establishment, and knew where the money was kept, and that Saturday night would be a good time to make the break as the banks close early in the day and there would be no chance of placing the money in the bank after noon. It has also been stated that there is still a third young man being looked for by the police as suspected of being connected with the robbery, but so far as this is concerned the police had nothing to say last night.

The police say they do not believe that there is anything in the story that Braman and Petrie belong to a gang, mentioned as similar to the old "ran yard gang," but it is believed that the two now arrested have fallen into evil ways and after making one break, and being successful in avoiding capture, these facts encouraged them to other breaks.

IRELAND NOT SO HOPEFUL

London, July 7.—The Dublin correspondent of the Times states that there is less hopefulness in Ireland than in England regarding the possibility of agreement on the basis of exclusion. Southern Unionists are not reconciled to exclusion, but if this is inevitable they want to be protected from abuse on the part of the Nationalist power. This can only be effected by special safeguards which the Unionist members will try to secure in the amendments.
