The British parliament, Mr. Hamar Baker and Sir Henry Davies, were on Wednesday, and all were in ridiculed the idea that there was a Mr. Greenwood, speaking of Bourassa and Mr. Monk means in Empire, and I for one hope the support them."

position not to proceed to a vote on a fair and open question for the people's benefit, are now before that people to ask if they will allow obstructive or progressive measures to be enacted in the future. To decide that question in the plainest way, we must decide by the experience of the past. The late Mr. Blair, the much belittled man in the past, and Mr. Pugsley, the man who has been the target of ungrateful, jealous, and spiteful attacks, and who stands as clear evidence of their endeavoring and faithful effort for a greater and more grateful majority. Blair's effort—the people's elevator—was ridiculed by the Conservatives who had previously moved from our midst the employment-giving Harris works of the poor man. Blair is an instance of self-sacrificing energy no whit less than was that of Bennerman in Britain for a people's betterment. It must be allowed with truth that both met the premature fate that awaits all men who try earnestly and conscientiously to serve the people. And now the Minister of Finance, the man whom New Brunswick has the great luck and honor to send forth for a whole dominion's benefit is assailed by incapable, unreasoning, jealous, and spiteful men who are even greater than the combined work of all the men of that office who preceded him. Again mark the contrast in the effort of Liberal or Conservative rulers.

No better examples of extreme intensive effort for a people's welfare can be shown in the world over than the work done so far in this dominion—than that which has been accomplished by Laurier, the greatest peace-maker, Peckham, the greatest financier, and Pugsley, the greatest public works builder Canada has known. By their benevolent work, they are the true friends of the people, having made a greater and better Canada.

Yours most respectfully,

J. S. CLIMO.

St. John, Sept. 12th, 1911.

VE NONSENSE

would have been sure of success. But no, Mr. Borden does not believe in what he is preaching in the matter of reciprocity, it is just the reverse. Mr. Borden knows very well that reciprocity will be a boon for Canada, and this is why he obstructed the passing of the agreement, and brought on a premature election, so that the people would not receive the benefit derived from reciprocity a year previous to the proper time for the elections.

Now, Mr. Editor, as it is wrong to condemn without a trial, therefore, it is necessary to give reciprocity a fair trial and if Canada is to become more prosperous, in the humble opinion of the writer, reciprocity will bring the desired prosperity.

Thanking you for space,

Yours, etc.,

with that kind of applause that fully indicated the approval of the present.

When the candidates, Hon. Dr. Pugsley and James Lowell, arrived they were received with cheers and every mark of approval, which indicates the success that will attend the Liberal cause on the 21st.

Lamp burners should be washed frequently to remove dust and carbon that choke the perforations. Occasionally they should be boiled in a washing soda solution.
