A terrible murder and attempted suitcide occurred at a boarding-house, No. 58, St. Faul street, kept by Mrs. Showalter, at 9 o'clock to-night. Dr. Showalter, her husband, who is said to have been very dissipated and quarrelsome of latt, and to have frequently threatened the life of his wife while sitting in their room alone, seized her and drawing a razor, ent a fearful wish in her throat, severing in my was immensely funny. Next week alone, seized her and drawing a razor, cut a fearful gash in her throat, severing the carotoid artery. Mrs. Showalter died in a few minutes after. He then cut his own throat from ear to ear, after which he made his way to the street and sat on a cub-stone, and from there was taken to the Washington University hospital. It is said that his injuries are not necessarily fatal. The affair created the greatest excitement, and hundreds gathered in the vicinity. Both were highly respectable.

Coal-A Warning. There is every prospect that the price of coal will soon advance. The reason is that so many colliers have been lost by the late storm. The shores of Cape Breton and eastern Nova Scotia are lined with vessels that have been cast ashore. Many of them will be got off, but not in time to carry coal this fall. Added to this is the fact that many of the wharves Gold 1151; sight exchange 108; money in Cape Breton where coal is loaded are There is no confirmation of the capture much injured, and the shipping facilities considerably impaired. The advance competition that has hitherto regulated the cost of coal will cease, which will also have the effect of advancing prices. A Fighter Knocked Overboard. At noon a row took place on board a bark at the Anchor Line wharf between two of the crew. One of them struck the other a severe blow on the side of Freights.

Naw York, Aug 27th—The light receipts and advance in grain and the application of the bulk of the available supply of petroleum to old freight engagements, a conviderable number of vessels being on demurrage, have checked business to some extent in those departments, but with a reduced tonnage supply previous rates are supported. In short foreign voyages and the coastwise trads there h a been a fair business at about previous rates. Berth freights have been comparatively dull, owing to the temporary interruption of grain supplies, but rates are steady.
