

up better memories, his own sweetness has done a world of good to all of us. Mother and Dad are simply crazy about him - Dad, particularly, and I think it has done his condition a world of good too. I am glad that we are now close enough to them again that we may visit them regularly, and let them really enjoy their grandchild.

Very many thanks again for your remembrance of us at Christmas - your love & as at Harris, your letter, and the lovely photo. Words cannot express our real appreciation of them all.

Your loving nephew,

Dear Uncle Willie,

I was just on the point of writing you yesterday afternoon when the postman finally arrived with your Christmas gift to us. The photo is a lovely one of both you and Pat, and it will always be one of our proudly treasured mementos. The frame in which you set it to us is a beautiful one, in itself an addition to any room.
I do not know what may have delayed the photo in reaching us, unless it
