

- Rheinisch-Westfälische Zeitung*, the, on the coming war, 1912, 318
- Ritter, Dr., lecture leader of the Pan-German Union, conducts intrigue for war, 348
- Rizoff, M., Bulgarian Ambassador, states reasons for Bulgaria's entry into the war, 258
- Roberts, Lord, 78; The Nation on his ideas, 79
- Rohrbach, Herr Paul, 8, 21, 296; The Ascent to a World Nation, quoted, 396, 415 et seq.; his German World- and Colonial Policy, quoted, 397; Hard Necessity, A, 404; quoted, 405; Guilt and Destiny, 407; Our Opponents, quoted, 408; 400, 411, 413, 414; on the war-path, 404-418; Zum Weltvolk hindurch, pamphlet quoted, 395, 415; article by, on War—the Father of All Things, 418, 419
- Rouvier, M., French Prime Minister, compels Delcassé to resign in 1905, 105
- Russia and possession of Constantinople and Dardanelles, Schieman on, 24
- Russia's spirit of compliance, 380-384
- Russian and German Emperors, meeting at Potsdam of, 9
- Russians not responsible for the war, 3
- S
- Salisbury, Lord, and the pernicious increase of armaments, 194
- Sazonof's accounts of Potsdam Agreement described by Schieman as "conscienceless," 9; accompanies Tsar to Potsdam, 30
- Scharnhorst and Gneisenau introduce general compulsory service into Prussia, 295
- Scherl, Herr, 357
- Schieman, Prof. Dr. Theodor, 2, 8, 9; "the German Déroutée," 9, 11, 13, 15; Delaisi's testimony to, 16; jingoistic activities of, in Moroccan conflict, 17; his views on King Edward's visit to Berlin in 1909, 18; quotes Golos Moskwy on King Edward's visit to Reval, 24; on "understanding" between Sir C. Hardinge and Isvolsky, 25; tactics of falsification of, 31; ignores London Conference of Ambassadors, 34; Lord Haldane's friendly letter to, 39; and the Hague Conferences, 194-196
- Schieman and Greindl, 16 et seq.
- Schotthöfer, F., on French chauvinism in the Frankfurter Zeitung, 1913, quoted, 362
- Schücking, Walter, on "German Professors and the War," in the Forum, 146; The Union of States of the Hague Conferences, 151
- Second Hague Conference, the, Otfried Nippold's work, 151, 180n.
- Second Hague Conference, the, 175 et seq.; voting at, 180