

Home Water Works

"Home Water Works" is the title of a new book by Carleton J. Lynde that should be invaluable to any farmer who is considering the installation of a system of running water in his buildings. "If I lived in the country without water on tap in the house," says Dr. Jas. W. Robertson in the preface of the Canadian edition, "I would read this book with great care, use the information it contains, and provide in an economic way this one of the important aids towards satisfaction in house keeping."

The volume in its subject matter and the manner in which that is presented is a valuable guide book to anyone who is thinking of installing a simple water system or of improving one already in existence. Any intelligent farmer by following the directions given should be able to install his own system. The book is nicely gotten out in cloth bindings. Price through Farm and Dairy, 75c.
