

Memorah and Citizens.
BY HENRY BURDETTE.

In the palace we hear a wailing cry
As the heavy robes that ride walk in
And the night wailing comes
For what is life with mirth and
And sleepless, toss the crowd head,
And pillow fall in royalty's bed
A faint aster the croaker crumb?

For there is no peace in the soft white skin,
And the costly robes that ride walk in
The new silk hat and the diamond pin,
And the heavy crown that sits on the
Oh, happier far, in the lumber man,
With a frocked nose and a row of teeth,
Who can't be made a palm-leaf fan,
And a happy, contented mind.

NEWS FROM IRELAND.

Dublin.
The two latest individuals selected for "honors" by the so-called Irish Government on Cork hill, are the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas and Mr. J. P. O'Connell, the "suspectable" Orange "fascist" who sits by the side of the Chief Justice in the House of Commons. No two selections could better illustrate the grounds on which the honors of the Castle are distributed in Ireland. Neither Mr. Morris nor Mr. O'Connell has ever been particularly noted for anything but winning a seat for the Tory party; and in the case of the former, if a promotion could be considered an honor in these days, it might well be thought that his political service had been already sufficiently rewarded by a judgeship.

On August 31, the Rev. E. Quinn, P. F. St. Aubert's, High street, while visiting the Queen's County, was struck by a stone while crossing the water, into which he had accidentally fallen, jumped into the canal, and saved the child's life. Father Quinn drove home, and was obliged to change his walking stick, in order to save the boy's life, he was obliged to enter the water in his own suit.

Wexford.
The men of the Gorey district made a stirring National demonstration, on Sunday, Aug. 23, at that historic Wexford town. Contingents were present from numerous surrounding districts, and included representatives from the Augustinians, and the Augustinian branches of the National League of the county Wicklow.

On Aug. 31, Mr. J. A. Scott, Gorey, and Mr. John J. Keating, Moneyvore, visited Her Majesty's prison, Wexford, for the purpose of seeing the new world-wide known "Kilnashbeg" girls. The Governor received both gentlemen courteously, and informed them that only one of the sisters was in the prison at present, and that, according to the rules, he could allow only one person to visit her. It was then arranged that Mr. Keating should visit the girl. The Governor said that in this case he would not enforce the red-tape of the prison rules, but that he would allow her to be seen in his own private office, and not as heretofore, "in the cage." Mr. Keating was then brought up to the Governor's office, and in a few moments Catherine Kinneavy stood before him, accompanied by the matron of the female wards, who remained by during the interview. And, oh! such a picture of the plundered victims of brutal landlordism it would be hard to find. The poor creature almost wept with joy, to see a friend from the outside world, and she was in very good health.

Queen's County.
Mr. R. Lalor, the member for Queen's County, has not written to Mr. Parnell stating his intention to resign. If his health should continue good he will be called upon to offer himself as a candidate. Should he see his way to do so, he will represent the Eastern Division of the Queen's County, and Mr. O'Connell the Western Division. The Conservative has not yet decided on whether to contest the county at the general election.

King's County.
The Rev. Canon Moran died on August 21st at 56, Marl, Victoria Road, Southside. Not only among the Catholics of the Diocese of Portsmouth, but also by followers of all creeds throughout Portsmouth, and, indeed, wherever his worth was known, will the event be generally deplored. He was born in the parish of Tullamore, King's County, Ireland, in 1834. Canon Moran studied at all Halls College, Dublin, and St. Edmund's College, Hertfordshire, and was ordained priest in 1857, and labored in connection with the mission at Deptford, Woolwich, and Chislehurst. He afterwards came to Portsmouth, where his work will be lovingly remembered for many a long year.

Cork.
The Kilkenny people are up and doing in more matters than one. They are determined that the landlord privileges shall be shared with the people, or be no more. Therefore, they have organized a club to hunt hares everywhere in the county, and if their project is stopped, so will the landlords' prerogative to chase the wily Reynard also. Some of the hereditary redcoats are coming in, as well they might, for there is only a reasonable and tolerant demand of the people.

A great demonstration took place, on Aug. 27, at Knocknours, near Ballinacree, on the occasion being the erection of a hut for Michael Flynn, the tenant recently evicted there. The branches present were Bandon, Innohannan, Knockavilla, and Ballinacree. Several tradesmen from different branches attended and gave their services gratis in erecting the hut, which was put in a field belonging to Mr. Robert Hales adjoining the evicted farm. After the hut had been completed, vigorous speeches were delivered by Messrs. Dinneen, Crowley, Flynn, Foley, and others, in which land-grabbing was denounced.

Kerry.
On August 21st, the tenants of Charles W. Stoughton met at his country residence, Ballinore, to pay their rent. They demanded a reduction to meet the present depression. Mr. Stoughton heard their complaints, but refused giving a reduction. The tenants are of opinion that Mr. Stoughton's refusal was in a great measure due to visits he had from three pestiferous landlords on the previous days, who treated their tenants in a similar manner; they all left in a body without paying.

A rather novel case of boycotting has occurred in the vicinity of Killarney recently. A farmer named Carroll, living at a place called Tourmore, who also acts in the capacity of bailiff on the Kenmare estate, purchased a farm from an evicted tenant named McCreary, for which it is stated, he paid a very liberal sum. Notices have been posted up in the locality cautioning people not to work on this farm. A large quantity of hay was cut down by Carroll, but not a laborer to whom he offered very liberal wages, would go to work on this farm, notwithstanding that some of them are known to be almost destitute.

Limerick.
The Limerick Chronicle states that National League courts of summary jurisdiction are being held in the vicinity of Ballymore, and that boycotting is rigidly practiced with the aid of a Vigilance Committee.

The action of the tenantry on the Devon estate, in abandoning the agitation for a strike against payment of rent unless an abatement of 30 per cent. was granted by the landlord, has evoked strong condemnation in National circles. It now appears that some of those who were the first to oppose payment on the reduction of 10 per cent. offered by the landlord, and accepted by the tenantry, were the chief promoters of the threatened strike.

Clare.
The sub-sheriff of Clare evicted three families, on August 29th, near Killmihil. The landlord is Mr. Vandelour, of Dublin. A force of eighty police, under the command of Colonel E. Vanson, accompanied the sheriff. The people had a double stone wall built across the road leading to the house, but this did not prevent the sheriff from carrying out his work. The tenants were afterwards allowed in as caretakers. Great excitement prevailed.

Tipperrary.
A great demonstration took place on Sunday, August 23rd, at Mullinahone, county Tipperrary, in celebration of the anniversary of the poet-patriot, Kilkham, who lies buried there. Deputations attended from all parts of Tipperrary, from the cities of Limerick and Cork, and from the surrounding districts. Mr. P. N. Fitzgerald presided at an open-air meeting held in the evening, and Mr. John O'Leary, Kilkham's co-worker in the old Fenian days, delivered an address, in the course of which he commented, with much discrimination and good taste, on the literary merits of the dead patriot. Several other addresses were delivered, and the proceedings were altogether of a most interesting and enthusiastic character.

Astrim.
Until quite recently it was not generally known, even in Ireland, that the humble post of Clerk of the Peace for the county of Antrim, was held by an Earl. The fact was not even known to the vigilant Irish members, and, stronger still, the first knowledge they received of it came all the way from St. Paul, Minn., from an Irishman who communicated the information to Mr. Sexton, M.P. From this information, which is confirmed by Mr. Sexton's inquiries through the proper Government channels, it is ascertained that the Earl of Belfast, a wealthy aristocrat, has for many years held and still holds the office of Clerk of the Peace for Antrim, and that while he regularly draws the salary, he performs none of the duties, but employs another person to perform them. It is estimated that a salary considerably less than the income attached to the post. The Earl does not live in Ireland. He has not even visited the country for years. He never, at any time, did any portion of the work, yet he is mean and dishonest enough to stick to the emoluments, or a very great portion of the emoluments, of a paltry clerkship for the petty county. What is to be thought of the Government which has tolerated this gross abuse?

Down.
The Orangemen of the North seem determined to test their full capacity for rowdiness, the patience of their Catholic fellow-countrymen, and the leniency of the local justices. One of the latest exploits of the rowdyism was to celebrate the Relief of Berrig by attacking the chapel at Magheralinn, smashing the windows and indulging their anti-Catholic propensities in assailing the house of the respected priest of the parish, Father McGrath.

Galway.
A remarkable incident of the Vice-regal tour in the West of Ireland took place on August 24th. At Arran the Vice-regal party journeyed to and from Kilmoyne, two jaunting cars being the vehicles employed. Earl Carnarvon's driver was none other than Brian Kilmartin, whom a jury convicted of a murder outrage, and sent to penal servitude for life. After spending two years in prison the man's innocence was established, and he was recently released. Of course advantage was taken of the opportunity to put Kilmartin's claim for compensation before the Vice-regal, and he, it is stated, was so inspired with the facts of Kilmartin's case that he requested to be supplied with all the papers and other information bearing upon it, with a view to obtain compensation for him if possible.

Mayo.
Some time since the Sheriff of the county, who is also the agent of the property, sent his deputy to Clare Island to carry out evictions. In executing this fell work he was accompanied by Emergency police. The first holding visited belonged to Mary O'Malley (widow) and six under-tenants—numbering thirty-six individuals. When part of the harrowing scene of eviction was gone through, the head tenant's brother having paid a year's rent, she and her under-tenants were left undisturbed till November. The next and last holding visited belonged to Honor and Bridget Malley. About seven years ago their father, when on his deathbed, had been flung out on the roadside under a downpour of rain, because a co-tenant failed in paying a share of the rent.

When being reinstated after having paid a large sum of money, including costs, the late landlord obliged these orphan girls to be co-tenants with the same landlord again. Age and poverty have made him fall a second time. Hence the evictions, as their portion of the rent would not be taken separately for their portion of the land. A few charitable persons, pitying these poor girls' hard fate, contributed what enabled them to operate of the kind ever performed. The disease for which this operation was performed was cancer of the stomach, attended with the following symptoms:—The appetite is quite poor. There is a peculiar indescribable distress in the stomach, a feeling that has been described as a faint "oil-gone" sensation; a sticky saliva collects about the lips from falling in the morning, accompanied by an unpleasant taste. Food fails to satisfy this peculiar faint sensation; but, on the contrary, it appears to aggravate the feeling. The eyes are sunken, tinged with yellow; the hands and feet become cold and sticky—cold perspiration. The patient does not seem to give rest. After a time the patient becomes nervous and irritable, gloomy, his mind filled with evil forebodings. When rising suddenly from a recumbent position there is a dizziness, a whirling sensation, and he is obliged to grasp something firm to keep from falling. The bowels are constipated, the skin dry and hot at times; the blood becoming thick and stagnant, and does not circulate properly. After a time the patient spits up food soon after eating, sometimes in a sour and fermented condition, sometimes sweetish to the taste. Sometimes there is a palpitation of the heart, and the patient fears he may have heart disease. Towards the last the patient is unable to retain any food whatever, as the opening in the intestines becomes close, or nearly so. Although this disease is indeed alarming, sufferers with the above-named symptoms should not feel nervous, for nine hundred and ninety-nine cases out of a thousand have no cancer, but simply dyspepsia, a disease easily removed if treated in a proper manner. The safest and best remedy for the disease is Seigel's Curative Syrup, a vegetable preparation sold by all chemists and medicine vendors throughout the world, and by the proprietors, A. J. White (Limited), 17, Farringdon road, London, E. C. This Syrup strikes at the very foundation of the disease, and drives it, root and branch, out of the system.

A Skillful Surgical Operation.
The American Ambassador at Vienna, Mr. Kasson, has lately forwarded to his Government an interesting account of a remarkable surgical operation lately performed by Professor Billroth, of Vienna, which, wonderful to tell, consisted in the removal of a portion of the human stomach, involving nearly one-third of the organ—and; strange to say, the patient recovered—the only successful operation of the kind ever performed. The disease for which this operation was performed was cancer of the stomach, attended with the following symptoms:—The appetite is quite poor. There is a peculiar indescribable distress in the stomach, a feeling that has been described as a faint "oil-gone" sensation; a sticky saliva collects about the lips from falling in the morning, accompanied by an unpleasant taste. Food fails to satisfy this peculiar faint sensation; but, on the contrary, it appears to aggravate the feeling. St. Mary's Hospital, Peterborough.
November 29th, 1891.
Sir—It gives me great pleasure to inform you of the benefit I have received from Seigel's Syrup. I have been troubled for years with dyspepsia; but after a few doses of the Syrup, I found relief, and after taking two bottles of it I feel quite cured.

"FIVE MINUTES BEFORE MASS."
Milwaukee Catholic Citizen.
In most instances there is absolutely no excuse for coming late to church. People are not hurried or pressed by other affairs on Sunday. If they really cannot get to church in time, let them be honest about it. They are not glibly about coming some minutes "before the play begins" at places of amusement. They waste ten times the time thus "lost" otherwise during the day.

A Cheerful Face.
Carry the radiance of your soul in your face; let the world have the benefit of it. Let your cheerfulness be felt for good. Wherever you are, let your smiles be scattered like sunbeams, "on the just as well as on the unjust." Such a disposition will yield you a rich reward, for his happy effects will come home to you and brighten your moments of thought. Strive to come off the higher and better spouses of nature to the emotion of the soul. Let the children have the benefit of them, those little ones who need the sunshine of the heart to educate them and would find a level for their buoyant nature in the cheerful, loving faces of those who lead them. Let them not be kept from the middle-aged, who need the encouragement they bring. Give your smiles to the aged. They come to them like the quiet rain of summer, making fresh and verdant the long wearisome path of life. Be gentle and indulgent to all; love the true, the beautiful, the just, the holy.

"Love Sees No Faults."
It has been said; but when a woman is dragged down, emaciated, wan, and a shadow of her former self, with never a cheerful word, she can be no longer beautiful or lovable. Nature may have been generous in her gifts, and endowed her with all the charms of her sex; but disease has crept in unawares and stolen the roses from her cheeks, the luster from her eye, and the sunshine from her heart. But to be well again lies in your own power. Take Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," it will cure you; thousands have been cured by it. Nothing equals it for all the painful malady attendant with a general debility. I have not had an attack of my old complaint since, and have gained fifteen pounds in weight." What is Catarrh?
Catarrh is a dangerous disease which thousands are consciously or unconsciously suffering from. It is a mucopurulent discharge caused by the presence of a vegetable parasite in the lining membrane of the nose. The predisposing causes are a morbid state of the blood, the blighted corpuscle of tubercle, the germ poison of typhoid, mercury, toxæmia, from the retention of the effluvia of the skin, suppressed perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments and the germination of other poisons in the blood. Irritated by these, the lining membrane of the nose is ever ready for the reception of the parasite, which rapidly spreads up the nostrils and into the sinuses, or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat; up the eustachian tube, causing deafness; burrowing in the vocal chords, causing hoarseness; warping the proper structure of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

Many ingenious specifics for the cure of catarrh have been invented, but without success, until a physician of long standing discovered the exact nature of the disease and the only appliance which will permanently destroy the parasite, no matter how aggravated the case. Sufferers should send stamp at once for descriptive pamphlet on catarrh, to the business manager, A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada.—The Mail.
