BORN.
INGLIS—In Carrick, June 2nd, to Mr. and Mrs. John Inglis, a daughter.
—Joseph Schultheis, Mildmay, issuer of Marriage Licenses.
Orangeville, June 2.—The nomination meeting here yesterday was rather interesting when Mrs. Barber made some passes with an umbrella at one of the several candidates named in opposition to C. R. McKeown, the former Conservative member. She, with her sister, Mrs. Quigley, were the only women at the meeting. Mr. McKeown is only being opposed by Robt. Woods, the Prohibitionist, who will run well. John Maclean, farmer, said that Mr. Woods wanted to leave the toil and toil of the farm to go to Toronto and wear a boiled shirt."

Clifford.
A business deal went through last week, whereby Messrs. George and Richard Bowes get possession of the implement building and business of Mr. John Lewis, and the latter gets possession of George Bowes farm. The exchange took place on the 1st June.
Some parties ruthlessly tore up the climbing vines at the tool house in the cemetery. It is surprising how such shocking acts of vandalism can be perpetrated. Surely even the youngest should know enough to reverence the resting place of the dead.
Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weber left this morning for Berlin, where in the future the family will reside. The Weber family have been residents of this village for many years, and a host of friends will wish them well in their new home.
Miss Catharine Dahmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dahmer, of this village, died on Wednesday of last week. She was a victim of consumption, taken away in the prime of life, being in her 26th year. The funeral on Saturday forenoon to the Lutheran cemetery on the 4th con., Carrick, was largely attended.

THOMPSON ACQUITTED.
Robert Thompson of Greenock, who was sent up for trial on the charge of stealing a horse from Wm. Anderson of Kinloss, came before Judge Barrett on Tuesday. Thompson, it will be remembered, traded horses with Anderson on Saturday, May 9th, getting in exchange a bay mare, a horse sorely afflicted with the heaves. Upon taking the horse home he found he had been loaded with an almost useless animal and he straightway began to repent of the deal. On Monday morning this repentance took form and he decided to return to the Anderson farm, and if possible, trade back. On the road thither the horse played out and laid down, but according to Thompson it was still alive when he left it. Proceeding to Anderson's he succeeded in inducing them to trade back, on the understanding, however, that their horse was in as good condition as when Thompson got it. When Thompson and Anderson afterwards came up they found the horse lying on the road dead, and Anderson considered himself buncoed, and charged Thompson with having used false pretenses to induce him to trade back. In the argument before the Judge, however, Thompson maintained that the horse was alive when he left it and that it had died during his absence. He consequently did not know it was dead when he approached Anderson to trade back. The Judge gave the prisoner the benefit of the doubt and acquitted him of the charge. —Bruce Times.

Additional Locals.
—The Dominion Exhibition at Calgary Alberta, will be held from June 29th to July 9th.
—Don't fail to hear the Rev. Thos. Wilson of Knox church, Walkerton. He will preach in the Presbyterian church, Mildmay, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.
—Chesley football club trimmed Walkerton Intermediates at the former town last evening by a score of 2 to 1. This places Chesley up at the head of the list, with a good chance of winning out the district. They still have to play two games with Owen Sound.
—One of the new regulations in regard to motoring is given below:—"In case an accident occurs to any person, whether on foot or horseback, or in a vehicle, or to any horse or vehicle in charge of any person, owing to the presence of any motor vehicle on any public highway, the person in charge of such motor vehicle shall return to the scene of the accident and give in writing to anyone sustaining loss or injury his name and address, and also the name and address of the owner of such motor vehicle, and the number of the permit of the said motor vehicle.
—Don't miss the league football match here next Tuesday evening between the old rivals, Mildmay and Walkerton. This game will commence at 6.30. Let there be a good attendance.
The Formosa Insurance Co. has sued 20 or 30 of the policyholders who have neglected to pay their assessment.

IT'S LOVE THAT MAKES THE WORLD GO ROUND.
I am convinced that we are all specialists—some intentionally, but most of us are not conscious of it. I have a plenty of nice, decent neighbors, and they are each of them specialists, but they don't know it. They think that they are "mixed" farmers. So they are, in a sense; but I repeat and insist that each and every one of them is a specialist. Take your own neighbors as an example. Begin below the south boundary. That's Luke Belden. His crops are straggly, his cattle are runts, his sheep are scabs, his pigs are razor-backs, his hens only lay when eggs are ten cents a dozen, his fences are shottled, but there is no one in the north riding has the horses he has. Don't you see that it's love that makes the world go round? And Luke Belden loves a horse. A horse just naturally blossoms and blooms and thrives under Luke's care. The colt can't help himself—he has got to be a beautiful horse—he can't help himself. And thus it is that though his cows don't pay hardly for their keep, and his sheep and pigs are a nuisance and a menace to the rest of the community, though he never has more than half a crop of anything, Luke is a pretty solid man, for he always has a colt or two to sell, and people just fall over one another trying to get them. For they have communed with a human soul ever since they dropped on the ground. For, if it was raining saw-logs, or if the snow was ten feet deep and it 40 degrees below zero, Luke, he'll up and turn the brood mare out to the pasture; he doesn't want the baby horse torn on boards, or concrete, or straw—no, sir, he knows his business.
Then, again, there's your neighbor to the north. His horses are sorry-looking skates—hammer-headed, knock-kneed, potbellied. But you ought to see his hogs! What did I tell you? It's love that makes the world go round. He just loves his hogs. He will lean for hours, his arms folded on the top of the feed-board, lovingly looking at his hogs. And they thrive under it. Every spoonful of buttermilk they get, every bucketful of dish-water, every spud, every ounce of chop, counts.
Then on the east boundary you have a neighbor who can't grow anything but wheat. And further on, a man whose sheep have an interprovincial reputation. And now I am coming to what I was going to say. You are planting flowers. It's love that makes the world go round. If you love roses, your roses will find it out, and they will dig down and climb up, and they will grow and flourish, and they will defy wind and storm and flood and frost and the worm whose stomach is a sepulchre.
John was the apostle who Jesus loved. What does that mean? Does it mean that He didn't love the other apostles? Perish the thought! We know that he loved them with a deep, abiding, measureless, tender, and inexhaustible love. Very well; then what doth it mean? It means the John was the most lovable of the aggregation. I repeat that it is love that makes the world go round. You can rejuvenate an old, neglected, battered apple tree by loving it, and you can make a plain woman beautiful by loving her. Your hogs will fatten up sooner if you love them well; your hens will lay more eggs if you love them; your horses will thrive on half the grain; your sheep will shear heavily; your folks your neighbors, your girl, will multiply your happiness if you love them well.—The Khan.

PROTECT YOUR TOWN.
Protect your own town and thereby show that you are in favor of protection. If protection is good for the nation it is good for the town. As townspeople we should favor our town above every other as the growth and development of it is what will enhance the value of all property both in and about it. Then buy your dry goods, groceries, books, bread, meat, etc., at home; have your printing, your blacksmithing, your shoemaking done at home; patronize home in every instance that you can. The success of our merchants and mechanics means new business houses and residences, additional demands for labor of various kinds. To the farmer a first-class town affords a better market for his grain, a better trading point and such a town is bound to increase the value of its land. Unquestionably "in union there is strength." Let us protect our town.
