CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED

To Rid the Country of Existing Evils-Address at Kingston by Rev. J. P. McInnes.

The reading of the report of the Social Service committee at the Kingston Presbytery was followed by a fiery address delivered by Rev. J. P. McInnes, of Foxboro, in which he appealed for the hearty cooperation of the ministers and members of the church to help rid the country of existing evils.

"Some say that it is not the work of the church to root out these evils—that it is not the work of the church or the elders," he declared. "I feel that we have to take more radical measures than we have taken in the past. It is very easy for us to fold our arms, but if we are going to allow these evils to remain!"

Continuing, Rev. Mr. McInnes stated that the social service work was the most important of the presbytery to deal with. He did not know the condition of affairs outside his own district, but felt sure that the conditions in his district were typical of the conditions in others. "And there is great need for this work being done," he added, "and it appears as if there is no person to undertake the work."

He said that in six months' time $500 in fines had been imposed in the township of Thurlogh, where there was local option, four young girls had been sent to the reformatory, and three given over to the care of the Children's Aid Society.

The report of the Social Service committee was presented by the convenor Rev. S. J. M. Conroy, of St. Andrew's church. He reported active interest in the work in Kingston and touched on various matters. Referring to the moving picture shows he stated that while the pictures in themselves were not immoral, the effect was not for good. That these picture shows should be filled, in a time when there is so much distress, was also remarkable. While some of the pictures were instructive, there were others that were not, and the speaker referred to one picture portrayed where a husband was kicking the servant girl before leaving his home, instead of his wife. There was a law forbidding children under 16 years of age to be in the picture shows unless accompanied by their parents or a guardian, but this law was violated. Regarding the recent request of the presbytery that an effort be made to have the pool rooms closed at 10 p.m. nothing had been done although the intention was to press the matter. It was felt that students spent too much of their time in pool rooms and developed bad habits.

The committee made the following recommendations which were adopted: "The appointment of committees of social service in each congregation, to cooperate with the work being done by the Social Service of the Empire. It then made a few remarks about the civility and greatness of Sir Walter Raleigh. He spoke of what Mr. Clarke was doing in the interests of Canada and the whole Empire. DR. J. L. HUGHES MAKES VISIT

At two p.m. quite a number of the people of the neighborhood and others interested assembled at the school house, among those present were our worthy inspector Mr. E. J. Clarke and our esteemed friend Lieut.-Col. W. N. Ponton.

After the singing of the 'Maple Leaf' and the 'Children's Song' by the school and the reading of a paper prepared by one of the pupils, we had the extreme pleasure of listening to Dr. J. L. Hughes. He spoke of his association with the writer of the 'Maple Leaf' and the 'Children's Song' and the desire on the part of those who are educating the youth of today to influence them to an appreciation of nature. He especially advocated gardening in the schools of this present age. He said that any child learns a great lesson when he plants a seed—a lesson of trust in God. He recalled a conversation which he had with the poet Longfellow, who when asked concerning his poetry, what he considered the most valuable for retaining if all others were destroyed, quoted these lines from his poem, entitled 'The Builder':

In the eger days of art Builders wrought with greatest care For the time that they were here Let us do our work as well Both the unseen and the seen Make the house where Gods may dwell Beautiful, entire and clean

He spoke of Mr. Clarke and the good work he is doing in this respect, and he expressed his admiration of the many reasons why he was highly pleased to see the medal presented to the pupil who had won the medal. He spoke of the work of the Empire and the good work it is doing and of how much people may learn of the different parts of the British Empire through the study of its history. He had learned to know through conversation before the meeting saying that he had made a new friend since coming to Belleville in the person of the whole Empire. He then made a few remarks about the civility and greatness of Sir Walter Raleigh. He spoke of what Mr. Clarke was doing in the interests of Canada and the whole Empire.

COMFORT OF THE CITIZENS

Trenton, Mar. 4.—A gentleman has written us suggesting the following matters which would, if carried out, add to the comfort of the residents of this town.—He would have a shed erected on the market square for the accommodation of farmers attending market; also lavatories; a comfortable sitting room; and a fountain furnished with drinking cups, individual paper drinking cups might be kept in the rooms for women, care-taker, drinking trough for horses might also be cheaply placed at several convenient locations throughout the town.

These are very practical suggestions and should be taken up by both the Board of Trade and Council. As has been pointed out before, nearly all the real live towns in Canada, of any business pretensions, are providing such accommodations for their citizens. In many places this course of action has been forced upon the towns, owing to the closing up of hotels in local option districts. The same time whether the hotels are or not, there are many women who would not patronize them, and some accommodation better than is at present provided should be arranged for.

In the same communication our correspondent hints that the local newspapers are dead ones. Now this hits us a little hard, and insofar as the local news furnished by the 'Ontario' is concerned, it takes exception to his statement. The local editors will have to defend themselves, and perhaps when they realize that their work is being criticized, they may deem it advisable to buck up a little.

Our friend also thinks we should improve the fire brigade, and deplore the lack of equipment, etc., with which to successfully cope with a serious conflagration. Low land values and high assessment rates are also scored, and he advocates assessing vacant lands to full value, in order to force their sale or improvement. Assistance to local joint stock companies is suggested, but as we have had some experience in this line, it cannot be seriously considered.

DIED AT HOLLOWAY

The angel of death passed over our neighborhood and claimed for its victim the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Parker after a lingering illness of anæmia death came on Friday morning, February 27th. After the ceremony the remains were laid to rest in the Victoria Cemetery near Plainfield. Lindsay Bird and Messrs. Iol Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved parents. Although Ruth was only two years of age yet she held a warm place in the hearts of those near and dear to her.

"AGENT" HAS DISAPPEARED

23 Bulgarians Are Stranded Here-Brought to Belleville With Promise of Work.

A Bulgarian may be guilty of a smart trick as well as any other man. The local police are looking for a man named Stefan who is alleged to have worked a clever game on twenty-three of his fellow countrymen and to have skipped out of the city leaving the men here penniless. The story, as given by the police is that a Bulgarian made arrangements with twenty-five Bulgarians to bring them to a job in a large paper mill in Belleville. He collected $2 from twenty-three of them, and two of these handed over $20 more. The other two backed out. The members of the bunch each bought tickets from Toronto to Belleville for $2.25, the twenty-three and their friend accompanying them. The tickets cost $5. They left Toronto yesterday morning and reached here about noon. Shortly after arrival the "agent" disappeared and it is said went to Montreal with the money he had collected, $90.

Both teams strengthened up their line-ups and consequently a good game was exhibited. Each team worked hard to carry away the honors but the College boys proved the fastest the score ending in their favor by 4 to 3. The half time score, however, was 3 to 0 in their favor but Bales, by two nice rushes found the net each ed it up to 3 to 3. Neither team made any head-ay until the B. B.
