frontal headache in children, particularly those of school age, is due to eye troubles. The remedy is the optometrist, not the physician.

Worn for a year or so in childhood will strain, allowing eyes to develop normal, strengthening them so that in most cases will not be needed in youth and early life.

Obituary

WM. RUNDLE

The news of the death on Monday morning last of William Rundle, a well known farmer residing about one mile west of Bloomfield on the Belleville road, came as a great shock to his many friends.

It appears that Mr. Rundle had not been in good health for some time and that recently he had become despondent. On Monday morning, he went to his room and during the forenoon secured a loaded revolver from the place where it was kept in the house, and going to the bathroom, shot himself through the temple, dying instantly.

Coroner Dr. Whiteman was notified and after an investigation, the decision was that he had committed suicide while temporarily insane.

The deceased was a native of Bloomfield. As a young man, he qualified as a school teacher, following this profession for a few years. Later he went to Australia on a business proposition, spending a couple of years there. Returning, he engaged in farming and had a fine farm with good buildings, making a success of his profession. A fall, a year ago, is said to have caused his recent trouble.

His wife, formerly Miss Richards, of Bloomfield, survives him, also a family of two boys and one girl. Two brothers, James, of Bloomfield, and John, of Toronto, also survive.

The funeral will take place this afternoon (Thursday) from his late residence, in Glenwood under Masonic auspices.—Picton Gazette.

WALTER S. ROULSTIN

Walter S. Roulstin passed away at his home, Ontario street, early Monday morning. Mr. Roulstin had battled with lung trouble for some years and had for the past few weeks been confined to his home. He was born in Prince Edward county and spent most of his life in Picton.

For a few years he lived in Jersey City, N.J., where he married. Later he returned to Picton with his wife. His last position was bookkeeper for Adams & VanDusen, a position he filled as long as health permitted.

The father dying when the children were young, their mother, Mrs. Sarah E. Roulstin, and Walter and Jennie (now Mrs. W. Russell, Ottawa), continued to reside in Picton. Walter Roulstin was a young man of amiable disposition and good business qualifications and his early demise is regretted.

He was a member of Prince Edward Lodge, A.F. and A.M. and the funeral on Wednesday was conducted by that order, Rev. F. L. Barber and Rev. Alfred Brown taking the burial services.—Picton Times.

ALBERT MILLS

On Sunday morning, March 21, 1920, Albert Mills, of West Lake, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Curtis B. Dooxee, of Dooxee's Corners, where he had been spending the winter. Mr. Mills had been in failing health for the past three years. The deceased was born 69 years ago, near Bloomfield, and was the last surviving member of a family of eight children. His wife, Emma Jackson, predeceased him nearly four years ago. He was favorably known in this county and will be much missed in his own neighborhood at West Lake, where he had spent the greater part of his life. The funeral took place on Tuesday, at 3 p.m., the Rev. A. E. McCutcheon, of Bloomfield, officiating. Interment was made in the Disciple cemetery. He leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving father, two daughters, Miss Myrtle Mills, and Mrs. Curtis B. Dooxee.—Picton Gazette.

Everyone Wants
Money's Worth

mail order house does so because he thinks he is getting the goods for less money than he would have to pay for them at the store in his own town. He thinks he is looking out for No. 1, and he says it is not his fault if the merchant in his town cannot make any money and is forced to go out of business. He overlooks the fact that he is likely to be as hard hit as anyone else when that merchant closes his doors but, leaving that probability out of consideration, the chances are about 10 to 1 that the buyer has really lost money on his deal with the mail order man.

Price Not Only Consideration.
If buying an article of any kind, whether it be a house and lot or a paper of pins, the price is not the only thing to be considered by any means. You are not in the habit of going into a store when you want to buy a suit of clothes and saying to the storekeeper: "Give me the cheapest suit of clothes you have in the house." You want the best suit of clothes you can get for the price you pay for it, but you don't usually want the cheapest thing you can find.

A man may delude himself into believing that when he buys a suit of clothes from a mail order house for $10 he is saving money, but what is there to justify him in such a belief? The mere fact that he is getting a suit for $10 does not mean that he is saving money. The chances are that if he should go to the man who runs the clothing store in his own town and ask for it he could get a suit of clothes for $10 and the chances are also that it would be just as good if not a better bargain than the suit which he could get from the mail order house for the same sum. It is not the price he pays that shows whether he is getting a bargain or not. It is the quality of goods that he gets for his money that counts.

Can Underseil Mail Order House

The home merchant can sell as cheaply as the mail order man if he sells as cheap goods as the mail order man sells. His expenses are not as heavy as those of the mail order man. He pays less rent in proportion to the business he does, his taxes are less in proportion to the capital invested. His advertising bills are less than those of the mail order man in proportion to the volume of his sales. He can undersell the mail order man any day in the year if he wishes to sell only goods of the same quality and style of those sold by the mail order man, but he doesn't do this because he knows that the majority of the people in his town do not want that quality and style of goods. Therefore he keeps in stock goods of all qualities and all prices. He has the $10 suit for the man who thinks that he can get more for his money by buying a suit at that price than he can by buying a better one for $20, but he tells the customer just what he is buying.

The next time you think about buying something from a mail order house, if you ever do think of such a thing, go first to your home merchant and ask to see the article which you are thinking of buying.

Ready to Compare Prices.

Your home merchant is a business man. He gets the best values he can for his money when he buys goods, and he does not expect his customers to do anything else. All that he asks, in return for the favors he does his customers and the things he does for the good of his community is that he be given an opportunity to meet the insidious competition of the mail order house. He is perfectly willing to have his prices and his values compared to those of the mail order house, but he has a just complaint when he is not given a chance to make this comparison.

If all buyers would take the value as well as the price of the article they are buying into consideration, the mail order houses would all go out of business tomorrow.
