HUNS GALICIAN DRIVE IS BROKEN AND EXHAUSTED

Effort to Drive Bear Away From Roumanian Frontier is Frustrated.

(By Frederick Renner)

Petrograd, Sept. 2.—To-day's news shows more than a steady slowing up of the German advance. The Russians now hold the Germans on the entire front, except in the neighborhood of Riga, where the enemy has again returned to the River Mirra, from which he was lately thrown back to the River. On the Vinnia front the Russians have advanced on the right bank of the Wyliia, but this move, while proving a successful reply to the German attempt to outflank Vinnia from the south is hardly to be counted.

AN IMPORTANT VICTORY More significant is the very considerable Russian success in Galicia, where 3,000 prisoners, with many guns, were taken between the Zlota Lipa and the Strypa. The locality of this success adds to its importance. General Pflanzler, with about five army corps, attempted to attack both flanks of the Russian army in Galicia, with the clear object of forcing it away from the Roumanian frontier. The Russian victory occurred just where the Germans would least have desired it, its effect will be great both as an encouragement to the Russians and as lessening the confidence of the already weary Germans. It must not, however, be supposed that this will alter the general plan of the German strategic retirement, the accomplishment of which it will make easier but not unnecessary.

GERMAN FORCES EXHAUSTED In an interview accorded me General Mikheevitch, head of the General Staff in Petrograd said: "There is no doubt that the German army is being exhausted by the drawing out of its communications. According to the testimony of those at the front, all the German soldiers of the best age have been used up, and the enemy's army consists now mainly of youths and men well advanced in years.

"If the Germans retain the upper hand it is because of their technical superiority in that respect, but it should not for a moment shake the confidence of the public in final victory. The vital forces of Russia stand incomparably higher than those of Germany. All necessary measures are now being taken to insure the immeasurable development of the Russian technical resources and the increase of her output of war munitions. As soon as the requirements of the front are satisfied the Russian advance and the German retreatment will begin."

RUSSIAN PAPER CONFIDENT A London Times despatch says: In confident vein The Novoe Vremya emphatically denies the possibility of the Germans ever reaching Kiev, Moscow or Petrograd.

It is assumed the Austro-German offensive on the Galician front will cease automatically with the halt of the retreating Russian forces, whose resources have been appreciably lightened by their latest victory.

The Riga correspondent of The Bourse Gazette reports that several large bodies of German prisoners captured in the Mitau region passed through there on August 29. The inhabitants are now being allowed to return to Riga.

It was ruled in a Cleveland court that a baby could not be held as hostage for rent.

VERY LIKELY

By Special Wire to the Courier. Berlin, Sept. 2.—Wireless to Sayville—The Overseas News Agency says: "The Frankfurter Zeitung remarks, in an article which evidently is inspired, that if the London Economist's opinion that Sir Edward Grey's letter indicates a readiness to begin peace negotiations is correct, Germany calmly awaits further developments. The only basis upon which Germany will find it possible to conclude peace remains unchanged."
