

IN FOURTEEN INNINGS, RED SOX TAKE SECOND GAME OF SERIES

Longest World's Series Game Ever Played Is Won By Boston After a Hard Struggle—The Scores

By Frank G. Menke
Boston, Oct. 10.—Del Gainer is the hero of Boston to-night. He was called upon yesterday afternoon in the hour of Bean town's greatest need, and he responded with a smashing single which scored a Sox runner and gave the Red Sox a 2 to 1 victory in the fourteenth inning of the second battle for the world's championship.

It was a thrilling climax to an enthralling baseball drama, a victory that came just when it looked as if darkness would end the deadlock. It sent into frenzy of baseball madness the 41,373 persons who witnessed it. The game abounded in startling plays. It was as different from the first affair of Saturday as day and night. The Dodgers rose to supreme heights to-day. They played like real world series performers, and the Sox kept pace with them in electrifying the stands with amazing plays afield. All in all, it was a ball game, the kind that one reads about in fiction but rarely sees.

The Dodgers were beaten, yes, but not dishonored. They performed a comeback as they promised, and if their playing yesterday forecasts what they are going to do in the future, it should inspire hope in the hearts of their supporters, even though the series counts two to nothing against them. The Dodger chief caused a surprise when he sent Smith, his southpaw, to the firing line, and a wise choice it was, because Smith pitched one of the proudest games ever seen in the blue ribbon events of baseball.

"Babe" Ruth worked for the Sox, and hurled just as was expected of him, a masterful game, rising to the greatest heights in the pinches.

Baseball is Not Crooked

In Forty Years, But One Case of Clear Dishonesty Has Been Found.

Since the National League was founded in 1876 it has had to deal with but one case of proven dishonesty among its players. That was the famous Louisville scandal of 1877, and, in view of the talk which the recent protest of Manager McGraw against the listless exhibition by the Giants has occasioned, may well bear retelling.

The Louisville club of that year came east for its last trip of the year looking like the sure winner of the pennant. By winning six of the twelve games to be played the club could make good on the flag. The first series, one of six games, was to be played against the Hartford team, a second division organization at that time, playing on the old Mutual grounds in Brooklyn.

Louisville looked like an easy winner of the majority, if not all, of the games. The night before the first contest certain poolrooms in Hoboken, N.J., laid heavy odds that the Hartford team would win. Louisville lost the game the next afternoon through the errors of Craver, Hall and Nichols. Again the poolrooms laid heavy odds on Hartford, and the second game was lost on errors of Sevin, Hall and Nichols.

The bad work was kept up during the whole trip, and the Louisville club returned home with a record of ten games lost and two won, the Boston club winning the pennant by a margin of three games.

When the players reached Louisville they found rumors of crooked work had spread. Devin called upon President Chase of the club to find out how matters stood. Chase made Devin believe that he knew far more than he did and gave him until that night to make a full confession. Hall, who had seen Devin go into Chase's office, went to see the President. Chase saw his opportunity, and by working on man against man he obtained a full confession from each.

The entire team was summoned before the Louisville club directors and each player was asked to give a written order on the Western Union Telegraph Company for duplicates of all messages sent out by him during the season. Capt. Craver was the only player to refuse, so he was summarily expelled. Examination of the duplicate telegrams led to the later expulsion of Devin, Nicholas and Hall. Not one of these men was ever permitted to take part in organized baseball thereafter, though Devin, until the day of his death, pleaded at every National League meeting for reinstatement.

There was no general organization of baseball in those days, and while Devin was an outlaw found employment for a brief period with what was probably the first straight-forward professional team in Canada, the Standards of Hamilton.

Corkery Again is the Winner

Only Soldiers Were Allowed to Run in Hamilton Long Distance Race.

Hamilton, Oct. 10.—The annual around-the-bay race of The Hamilton Herald, the classic long-distance event of the continent, was won again yesterday by James Corkery, 180th (Sportsmen's) Battalion. Corkery won the race last year, and his chief competitor this year as last, was the Indian runner, Arthur Jamieson. Corkery's victory was clean cut, and he finished fresh and strong while the Indian was all in. Corkery's time, 1:51.58, is just 48 seconds slower than his time last year, and was very remarkable in view of the fact that the race was run in rain and the course was very greasy. This year's race was confined to members of overseas battalions.

Six started and five finished, as follows:—1, James Corkery, 180th Battalion, 1:51.58; 2, Arthur Jamieson, 114th Battalion, 1:53 4-5; 3, E. W. Boulton, 198th Battalion, 1:57.50; 4, Percy Weyer, 9th Mississauga Horse, 1:59.09; 5, Murray Feist, 295th Battalion, Hamilton, 2:21.30. Lieut. Herbert Dale, who looked after Boulton was delighted with the showing made by his protégé, who, though but a green runner, finished in good shape and time. Corkery led for the first seven miles, with Jamieson and Boulton right on his heels. Here Jamieson started a sprint and got a lead of two hundred yards on Corkery. At the 12-mile post Corkery started after him, and by the time the Valley Farm was reached had cut Jamieson's lead down to fifty yards. At the 15-mile post Corkery caught Jamieson and the two ran together to the top of the Valley Inn Hill, where Corkery pulled out in front, gradually increasing his lead.

SUCCESS OF B.C.I. FIELD DAY

R. Deagle and K. Middlemiss Lead the Honor Roll.
