THE ABBEY BELLS.

Westminster's Peal is Now a Full Octave.

The bells of Westminster Abbey, which, except on rare occasions of historic importance, have been silent for a long period of years, rang out again on the occasion of the King's birthday, at the close of an impressive dedication service, conducted by the Dean of Westminster.

But the peal was different from any due to the Abbey bell-ringers in previous times. For the first time in history, the famous Abbey possesses a full octave of eight bells, and bravely and merrily the Victory peal sounded.

Six bells had been the number of the peal ever since the Abbey had a tower in which to hang them. They were used to celebrate the armistice, the last occasion on which they were rung, and before that, on the Coronation days of King George and King Edward. Recently, however, some anonymous donors offered to renovate the old peal, and add the bells necessary to make the Abbey the possessor of a full octave.

The offer was received with gratitude by the Dean, and two of the old bells were re-cast and two new ones added.

At the close of the morning service on June 3rd the congregation passed to the northwest tower, and there the Dean formally dedicated the bells in the following terms: "In the faith of Jesus Christ, and in hope of the world's peace, we dedicate the bells now hung in the tower, as well as Dear Sirs—This fall I get thrown on a fence and hurt my chest very bad, so I could not work and it hurt me to breathe. I tried all kinds of Liniments and they did me no good.

One bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, warmed on flannels and applied on my breast, cured me completely.

those newly cast as those that, being old, have been renovated and hung afresh to the Glory of God and for the replenishing of this Church of St. Peter's in Westminster.

The Dean then signalled to the belfry by pulling a light cord, and the bells immediately rang out their peal.

The generous donors of the new bells were present at the ceremony, but had not yet released him from the pledge of preserving their anonymity.

A $10,000 LIQUOR INSPECTOR.
(London Advertiser.)

The provincial official who directs the Government liquor dispensaries now in operation in several centres of population is said to receive a salary of $10,000, and after the showing made before the Meredith commission in connection with the Ayearst charges this seems to be "a bit thick."

What heavy honor, what crushing responsibility, what technical knowledge falls upon or is demanded of this official that he should receive ten times the average wage paid in this province, in addition to traveling expenses. With local inspectors and official vendors in charge of the Government's stores, is there $10,000 worth of inspecting to be performed by a Government employee whose salary as Grand Custodian of the Barrer is greater than that of the Minister of Education by $4,000 and greater than that of the Premier of Ontario by $1,000. Is there a minister of the gospel, a school teacher, a college professor (certainly not a newspaper editor) who gets as much salary as the travelling overseer of the Imperial Quart? Even the members of the Provincial license commission, not even Mr. Ayearst himself can approach this gentleman for affluence, and apparently for influence.

Wonder what his politics was before he entered into the task of High Chief Taster. Also his party service in the past and his pull at Toronto? And just how many of the $200 fines imposed under the O.T.A. go to make up his salary?

The liquor business as conducted by the Ontario Government must be a highly lucrative profession when such a $10,000 plum is handed out to a chief of inspectors. The moral appears to be: Become a bartender and get a start to one of the largest salaries in Ontario.

Gas Warfare Among Savages.

As is well known the Germans were anticipated by some savage tribes in the use of poisonous gas for war purposes. Nature quotes authorities to show that tribes like the Tunambá and Guarani of the Brazil littoral and on the Rio Parana used poisonous gases in attacking fortified villages. Men went in front of the attacking party, each holding a pan with embers in the other. When the wind was against the Spaniards they sprinkled the embers on the peppers. This was also done in attacks on the Spaniards in Venezuela. In some way pepper was largely used in exorcising demons and evil spirits. The use of this pepper, known as Anji, would soon be discovered by these Indians, who cultivated the plant extensively. It was only necessary for some one to upset a basin of Anji into the fire and a hut would soon be cleared of its occupants. The use of the smoke in warfare would be a natural development.

Knew the Anecdote.

Dr. Harrison Allan, treasurer of the Bible Society of America, said in an address recently: "We find a deplorable ignorance of the Bible even among the higher classes. When, now and then, we meet some one who possesses a little biblical knowledge, he or she is apt to be ridiculously proud about it. A young millionaire and his wife were once talking to me about a visit they had made to the famous picture gallery of the Prado in Spain. 'What did you like best in the Prado?' I asked. 'A Correggio,' said the husband—a Correggio of Adam and Eve in the garden with the apple and the serpent.' Then the young wife looked at me with a superior air and added: 'Yes, that interested us especially, because, you see, we knew the anecdote.'

RED HOT JULY DAYS HARD ON THE BABY

July—the month of oppressive heat; red hot days and scorching nights, is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and cholera infantum carry off thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent summer complaint, or if the trouble does come suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Gramatski.

The story of an original German spy is told by Le Mercure de France. It appears that this man, Gramatski, condemned to imprisonment by the Norwegian courts, and doing time in his cell, wrote an advanced mathematical treatise and composed an opera. Owing to his good conduct his sentence was reduced by half, and he was about to be liberated when he begged to be allowed to finish his sentence, declaring that he was engaged on a translation of Lund's treatise on mathematics, a work of national importance. Gramatski offered to play some of the airs of his opera on the flute, but the court did not appear particularly inclined to hear them. The Norwegian authorities are considering what had best be done with Gramatski.

Clues to His Writing.

Sometimes the worst of handwriting becomes intelligible when one grasps the rules, for a man's script, particularly an author's—is frequently made difficult, chiefly by his deliberate or unconscious version of the accepted rules of calligraphy. Henry Ward Beecher had a daughter who acted as copyist, and she read him with ease simply by remembering three principles—that in her father's manuscript no dotted letter was meant for an "i," no crossed letter stood for "t" and that no capital letter ever began a sentence.

A Woman's Mite.

The poor woman's mite was well illustrated during the last Feed the Guns campaign in London. The story is told that while the Mayor of Shorehitch was standing one day in the street holding in his hand a cheque for £21,000, sent to him by a war factory, a poor woman gave him a shilling to invest in war bonds. 'It is all I have,' she said, 'but you are welcome to it to feed the guns and help the boys.' The mayor accepted the shilling, and the papers published a notice to the effect that if the investor would call at Shorehitch town hall she would be provided with a war savings certificate. The actual shilling, however, is being mounted to be kept at Shorehitch as a token of the patriotism of its people.

A ROMANCE-FILLED SEA.

One of the Historic Centres of the Orient.

Surely nowhere else in the world, writes P. B. Bradley-Birt in "Through Persia," is there an arm of the sea so fraught with historic memories as that which guards the approach to Persia on the south. Quitting India at Karachi, one sails straight out into another world, a world of Oriental despotism and old romance.

Even at the outset, as one crosses the Arabian Sea, historic memories crowd thick upon one. This way from the Indus, at whose mouth lies Karachi, sailed Nearchus, admiral of the great Alexander, in the fourth century before Christ, leaving so careful a record of his voyage that its course along the northern shores can still be traced to-day.

From the opposite end of the gulf, from Busrah in Arabia, 12 centuries later came Sinbad the Sailor, of wide renown, on his seven voyages of far-famed adventure to furnish nursery tales for all time to come.

Early in the sixteenth century there suddenly appeared upon the scene the high-popped vessels of the Portuguese, first of European nations here as elsewhere in the rush for empire in the new worlds, east and west.

Then at the beginning of the seventeenth century there followed in the wake of the Portuguese the British and the Dutch, eager to rob the earliest pioneers of their hard-won laurels and wrest from them the empire of the seas. From time to time the French appeared like meteors amidst the clash of warring elements, making spasmodic efforts to share the spoil and plunder of this new world of wealth, the fame of which, magnified a hundredfold in Oriental flower of speech, had spread far and wide over the west.

Throughout the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries this coveted arm of the sea was the constant scene of strife from end to end. With varying fortunes the Portuguese, clinging with dogged tenacity to the first footholds they had won, held their own for 150 years. For a time the Dutchmen swept the seas. Then the British succeeded to the supremacy of the gulf.

form a combination which save you much extra labor. Indurated Fibreware tubs are much easier to lift and to move about. They keep the water hot for a much longer space of time, because they do not conduct heat as metal does. They are easier to keep clean, because they are made in one piece without joint or seam, and the hard, glazed surface is impervious to liquids or odors. And they cost no more, last longer, too.

Eddy's Twin Beaver Washboard has double rubbing surface of Indurated Fibreware which loosens the dirt quickly and saves many tiresome motions.
