THE RUSSIAN ELECTIONS.

For the past few weeks one of the strangest and most pitiful elections the world has ever seen has been going on in Russia. An Imperial Ukase, it will be remembered, went forth long since with the order that a National Assembly-the first in the history of oligarchic Russia—is to be held on the 10th of next May, and the assumption was to be inferred that thenceforth Russia would be oligarchic no longer. The Assembly, as thus defined, is to consist of two Houses, the Duma and the Council of the Empire, corresponding rather closely, as drafted, with the British "Commons" and In the latter House it was provided that half of the members should be elected by the people and half appointed by the Czar, the former eligible for nine years, while a third of the number is to be reelected every three years. Each Zemstvo (Elective Provincial Assembly) is empowered to elect one representative to the Council, six being elected by each of the following Synod of the Church, the Universities and Academy of Science, and the

In the end, it is safe to say, the present movement must crystalize for the good of the country. In the meantime, serious fears are entertained that an outbreak, more bloody than any that have yet taken place, may occur may be said, with all reverence 'God help Russia."

BLACK PATTI TROUBADOURS. An eminent New York dramatic critic writes as follows after seeing his season's Greater Black Patti

Thoubadours:

"One of the largest audiences in the history of the house welcomed Black Patti Troubadours to the Star Theatre last night, and was rewarded by hearing a splendid singing organization. "Looney Dreamland" is the title given to the one act extravarage that serves as a medium the people love the leader who, or the Government which, does something. The Government that hesitates, waits for the time to "ripen," and never does anything until it is compelled to do so by public clamor, is not the Government the people want.

The Hamilton Spectator thinks that some remarkable evidence of the truth of that statement is found in the present attitude of the Toronto Globe toward the Whitney Government, A little while ago, when business was being made ready, and there was, comparatively speaking, "nosystem." Wednesday last the Globe broke out into a song of praise to Whitney, because the Premier had announces that the Government would develop the mineral deposits of the Gilkes limit, and to-day the Globe continues its song, inspired by the Government's announcement of a new railway from Coball to Sudbury.

BILL WAS TALKED OUT

Cattle Embargo Discussed in the British Commons

THE PREMIER'S POSITION

London, April 7.—(C. A. P.)—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Thomas Cairns (Liberal), in moving the second reading of the diseases of animals act amendment bill, sketched the history of the act of 1896 and the continued hostility that had been shown it by reason of the fact that under its provisions foreign, and especially Canadian, cattle could not be landed alive at our home ports. This bill, he said, did not affect Ireland, yet the Nationalists had announced their intertains.

Quality Had Deteriorated.

Mr. Price, seconding the motion, said
the quality of stock had gone down under the operation of the act of 1896. It was not suggested that any risk of disease should be taken. Canada was free from the disease.

Messrs. Courtenay warned and C.
Wason moved and seconded the rejection of the bill, and denied that it would benefit the farmer, the laborer or the consumer. Mr. Wason said he protested against the recent despatch of Hon. Sydney Fisher, which repre-sented the atcion of the British Gov-ernment as unfriendly to the Dominion. That was an unveracious state-

Sir Gilbert Parker asked that Speaker if such an expression was permit-ted, and Mr. Wason said he would sub-stitute the expression that the despatch was liable to misconstruction. Mr. Hamar Greenwood supported

Mr. W. O'Brien said if the bill passed 200,000 holdings in Ireland would be rendered unprofitable.

Government is Neutral.

Government is Neutral.

The Premier said that personally he preferred the old system by which matters of this kind were left to the discretion of the responsible Ministers. If the embargo were suddenly removed it the embargo were suddenly removed it might cause nervousness in many parts of the country. As to the policy of admission of Canadian cattle, he thought the House should be left to determine these matters without the interference of the Government. He had no desire to exercise any influence, and would leave this an open question. Walter Long, for the Opposition, scored the Government for not accepting responsibility.

ing responsibility.

Several members continued the discussion on both sides, while many others vainly tried to get the Speaker's eye. Finally the bill was talked out without a division, the Speaker refusing the closure.

fusing the closure.

Mr. Cairns afterwards said the bill would be put down in the usual way on Monday, but had not much chance of being reached. The impression among the members is that the bill is dead.
