Reply to "Who's Who"

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—A gentleman under the cognomen of "Who's Who" has seen fit to cast aspersions upon Sergt. Harold Mitchell, and other gentlemen in the Soldiers' Association who have fought upon the field of battle and shed their blood for their country.

However, he says he trusts he is wrong in his deductions, which may go to show various things. I am going to take it upon myself to say that he is, in fact that he is "all up a gum tree." Knowing a lot of members of the R. S. and R. V. Association, I am going to say a word for them, (if it at all necessary), and one which they might not say themselves, in answer to your correspondent "Who's Who," and other people who have had certain things whispered to them.

It would appear that a strong attempt is being made to force the R. S. and R. V. Association into the political arena by certain politicians and their supporters, some of whom have only lately become converted (?) to the principle of Selective Conscription, and perhaps even to their patriotic duty.

However it is a certainty that the R. S. and R. V. Association are not going to give way to any pressure brought to bear upon them by any group of politicians or their backers, and will follow the independent, non-political policy. We have heard some very peculiar things said lately. It has been said that the Returned Soldiers' Association is the Government too much, that they are getting too many recruits for the Regiment. That it is not their duty to look after the Regiment, but the Government's. And because the R. S. and R. V. Association have made a strong attempt to get men and save the Government's. And because the R. S. and R. V. Association have made a strong attempt to get men and save the Government's. And because the R. S. and R. V. Association have made a strong attempt to get men and save the Government's.

The R. S. and R. V. Association have been damned with faint praise, by some from whom they expected more. On the other hand they have been taken in this matter. Immediately which brought certain results which were satisfactory to the Association. This matter is also, I understand, it is not known publicly that the R. S. and R. V. Association has some of the matter of Mr. Coker's peculiar epistle, previous to its publication, by your paper, and that steps were taken in this matter. Immediately which brought certain results which were satisfactory to the Association. This matter is also, I understand,

Street Car Accident.

CHILD RUN DOWN—NOW IN HOSPITAL.

What proved to be a marvelous escape from a terrible death occurred on Military Road at 3 o'clock last evening, when Albert James, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hootley, of 13 Knight Street, was hit and run down by a street car, and as a result of injuries received now lies in a critical condition at the General Hospital. As the result of an investigation the Telegram is able to describe briefly what happened. About five minutes to three yesterday afternoon Mrs. Hootley, mother of the child, noticed her little son playing with the door bell of a neighbor's house across the street and thinking the child safe because her household duties. About five minutes after she stepped outside the front door to see if the child was near the house when she was informed by a Mrs. Streeter that her little boy had been run down by the street car and killed. Mrs. Hootley, who realized at once the awful consequences of her child's fate, fainted and falling to the ground was picked up and brought into her home where after a short while she regained consciousness. The injured child in company with two other children was taken to the General Hospital. The accident was witnessed by a man named Dyer, a sanitary employee, who was working on Military Road at the time. Dyer signalled with his hand and again with his cap and getting no reply from the motorman shouted at the top of his voice. On the car being pulled up much difficulty was experienced in extricating the child from his perilous position. Dr. Macpherson, who fortunately was passing at the time rendered immediate surgical aid and on examining the little chap at his home nearby found his right leg broken above the knee while several severe cuts and bruises were inflicted on his hands, face and body. After splinting the broken limb, the child was taken to the General Hospital.

Dr. Tail's Lecture
May 16th, 1918.
ON CHILD HEALTH AND WELFARE
The lecture given by Dr. J. S. Tail, "On Child Health and Welfare," at the College Hall last night was not so well attended as the subject warranted.

Mayor Gosling presided and on the platform were His Excellency the Governor accompanied by Capt. Campbell, A.D.C., His Lordship Bishop White, Rev. Dr. Bond, Rev. T. B. Darby, Messrs. Morris, Ayre, Mulhally and many of the Municipal Council. Following a piano solo by Miss Elsie Tait, a brief introductory by Mayor Gosling, who dealt with the general condition in the city as regards sanitation, etc., and a solo by Mr. A. Williams, Dr. Tail took up his subject which he dealt with in an impressive manner. Child health, he pointed out, was the most important problem of society, and on it hangs the welfare of the race. He spoke strongly on the duties of motherhood and fatherhood, and also pointed out the pressing need of a reformatory, as the sending of children to a penitentiary is a terrible reflection on any social condition. The high mortality rate due largely to ignorance, and the time has come for a properly constituted health administration on the same lines as those of England, which attended solely to matters of health. Ours is the moral guilt of allowing the slaughter of the innocents to continue. The statistics show a regular holocaust which calls for a searching enquiry. Laws of health are not observed in many institutions through lack of knowledge on the part of the teachers. Following a solo by Mrs. King, His Excellency took occasion to point out the importance of the lecture. His Lordship Bishop White, who also spoke strongly on the subject, proposed a vote of thanks to the lecturer, which was accorded by acclamation.

To-Day's Messages.

REVIEW OF EVENTS.

Still another day has passed without the Germans renewing their offensive in Flanders or Picardy, and nowhere have the infantry operations by either side on these battle fronts, or for that matter on any of the numerous theatres of the war, risen in importance above the patrol engagements. North of Kemmel, where the Germans on Tuesday gained a footing on Hill 44, one of the bloodiest regions of the west front, the lost advantage points have been relieved through the persistent counter attacks of the French, who succeeded in expelling the enemy from the shell holes, along the top of which he had been tenaciously holding. Not alone were the Germans forced to recede, but the French advanced their line and also took prisoners. Likewise south of Halle, in the Amiens region, the French have taken another bite into the German line, and successfully warding off a German counter attack launched in an endeavor to recapture the lost ground. The Germans in these manoeuvres suffered heavy casualties and also lost prisoners. Throughout Wednesday the British were left severely alone by the German infantry in their trenches. The enemy continues to use his artillery vigorously against salient positions held by the British and French all along the front, especially against Field Marshal Haig's forces south of Albert, and against the French north of Kemmel. The French north of Mont Didier, and along the curve in the battle front between Mont Didier and Noyon, also have been under an intense fire from the German guns. The meeting between the German and British Emperors at German grand headquarters, seemingly, has been productive of a strengthening of the relations between Germany and France. Dual Monarchy, which had been reported unofficially were strained. After parting, Emperor William and Emperor Charles exchanged messages of felicitation over the accord arrived at in their discussions, and expressed of deep sympathy and friendship. It is asserted that the Emperors not only reached an agreement on the solution of the question of Eastern border states, but that they also selected rulers for Lithuania, Courland, Estonia and Poland. Another famous situation case has ended in France with the conviction of the seven defendants, all of them connected with the notorious Germanophile evening paper, Bonnet Rouge. M. Duvall, Director of the paper, was condemned to death, and the others sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from two to ten years.

Milk Case in Court.

The opening proceedings in the case of the Health authorities vs. a milk vendor from Mount Pearl, was heard before Judge Morris in the Magistrate's Court this morning. Mr. Leo Carter appeared for the Health authorities, Mr. Dunfield for the defendant, while Mr. C. E. Hunt presented a watching brief for the baker who intends entering a civil action against the defendant. Counsel for complainant presents his case to the court and pointed out the seriousness of the case. Counsel for the defense claims that the prosecution failed to present the prosecution by the proper evidence. In the second place the act only applies to articles that are kept and exposed for sale, which refers to shops and not to persons who deliver milk and that the regulations cannot go beyond the act. In the third place the defendant was buying milk from another party to oblige his customers and was losing on the transaction. His Honor after hearing both sides of the case, reserved judgment until to-morrow.

May Reloat Ethie.

The latest message from the wrecked steamer Ethie, at Mistaken Point, states that the ship is resting on the bottom, but owing to a heavy sea the divers cannot go down. So with the Clyde, Petrel and Hawke the ship will be refloated if it is at all possible. A large quantity of the freight has been removed, much of which is only slightly damaged.
