

C. L. B. Cadets

Yesterday the Union Jack and the coloured flag of the C.L.B. flying on the poles of the Armoury indicated a special Church Parade. The Newfoundland Regiment and their Comrades were ordered to answer the roll call at 2.15. The Spencer Guides and Girls' Friendly Societies Companies were also invited and ready to march, but the Guides Parade was cancelled by their officers. However, the old Brigade carried on as usual and all the veterans were on duty, including President Crane and his "Old Guard," of which all C.L.B. men are extremely proud to be marching with the Battalion. The Brigade was about four hundred strong. Leaving the Armoury under command of Lieut-Col. Walcott, P. Rendell, C.B.E., Officer Commanding, the Regiment formed up to the Eastward of the Armoury where photographer Read of Windsor, Nova Scotia, took a panoramic photograph of the entire group. Copies of this intended to be forwarded to General Headquarters, London, for purposes of historic record. The Catholic Men's Bible Class and the Brigade attended the service together. Chaplain Lt.-Col. J. Brimacombe and the Rector, Rev. Canon Jones, M.A., officiated. Mr. Frank Rendell, People's Warden, was present and superintended the seating of the extra large congregation that nearly filled the sacred building. The General and Staff are grateful to the organist, Prof. King, and the ladies and gentlemen of the Choir who were present and did a great deal to help make the service so enjoyable.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Brimacombe from St. Luke XXII, 27th verse. "For I say among you as he that saith, 'The preacher's theme was for the service. He claimed that the Catholic Men's Bible Class members were doing duty weekly visiting the prisoners on the harbor and those at the wharves. He gave an invitation to the seamen to 'Come to Church' and leaving Sunday literature, were doing special work for God. Many an early Sunday morning the C.M.B.C. chapel would be more comfortable in their own homes; no, they are keen to be up and doing. The Master washed the disciples' feet when He was here, and when the laymen of the Church take their responsibilities and do their bit for Him, what shall they say later when they stand face to face at the day of Judgment? Will He say, 'I was too busy'—that hollow excuse. The Master left the Heavens and was incarnated as a Babe in Bethlehem and lived a pure holy life as an example for us, in healing the sick and preaching the gospel, afterwards dying for us the painful and agonizing death on the Cross. He addressed his listeners to get busy as men were told to do and everybody do something, and in the doing of it often can will discover his own self. He also referred to the self-sacrifice made by the gallant officers of the C.L.B. in the years that are gone, to whom the Brigade to-day owes its existence. He also appreciated the work of those self-sacrificing men who are now giving so many pleasures and hours of rest and recreation in order that the lads of the Brigade may benefit by it. The sermon was one of the best ever delivered by Rev. and Lt.-Col. Brimacombe, who closed his address by admonishing each and everyone to 'Work for the night is coming when man's work is done.'

Several of the original members of the C.M.B.C. who attended yesterday's service were much gratified to learn that the Harbour Mission work started by Rev. Canon Bayly, M.A., of Bonaville, is carried on so splendidly.

The Brigade returned to the Armoury via Gower and Flavin Streets and Military Road, where Lt.-Col. Rendell announced that the winner of the Outerbridge Shield this year was No. 2 Section F. Company, under the command of Sergt. Barrett. Congratulations, Sergeant, and also to your gallant lads, President Crane and his "Old Guard" were complimented on their appearance by the C.L.B. who assured them that their presence at C.L.B. Parades was highly appreciated by all ranks. After the national anthem was rendered by the Battalion Band the parade was dismissed.

The Lieut-Col. announced to the lads that he is taking steps to have the Brigade incorporated, a constitution drawn up and the appointment of a Board and Governing body for Newfoundland, founded on the basis of the English Pocket Book of 1224, modified to suit Colonial conditions, which was unanimously approved. We also hear Lieut. Col. of Field College Company, who has recently been at Columbia University, will give an illustrated lecture on New York in Canon Wood Hall, October 23rd, when all ranks will have an opportunity to learn something of that great city.
