

ATTENDANCE THE BEST ON RECORD

VARIOUS ORGANIZATIONS MEET

Field Day Fixed For Oct. 23—Huron College Notes of Interest—
A Convention.

The Western University happened quietly, like a flower in the morning. By Monday it was evident that even last year's record attendance would be exceeded. Most of the old students returned, and the new ones, including freshmen floated in, during the week prior to the opening, supplementing the old. The weather was just what the exams were going on. The weather was a proper setting to this occasion, for there is nothing so melancholy as a cold day. The cold is over, the sun and glow of May is gone. It is the dark hour before the dawn, however, and the dawn of Oct. 1 is always an awakening to new activity, fervor and hope. The old is over, the new is the new, and in with joy bells. Nature was as usual unpropitious to the open-was as usual unpropitious to the opening of college. The sun of Oct. 1 tried for a while to struggle through clouds and shine, but gave up early in the day. But the students, rushing about the halls, saluting each other and their professors, shouting and laughing, recalling summer experiences and comparing summer complexions, needed little outside encouragement. The ladies were particularly gay and vociferous in their pretty quarters at the west end. Student after student arrived, as the hours went by, each loaded with his trunk, his book of books, his stock of parental advice and injunctions, and his own fresh noble resolutions. The freshman presented their usual miscellaneous appearance. They ranged in size from 6 feet 2 to 5 feet 3. There were "knee pants" and "swallow tails," hats or other headgear from 7½ to small 6 1-8.

hair dressing from pompadour to plaster, and yet some foolish sophomores said once that all the freshmen looked alike. The only type not found among the freshmen is the Gibsonesque mummy, whom school-girls worship in the pages of American magazines.

A special meeting of the Western University Athletic Association was held at Huron College on Wednesday afternoon, December 12, for the purpose of electing a new president.

afternoon for the purpose of electing a secretary. Mr. F. E. Powell was unanimously chosen for that office. After the business was disposed of, a very interesting address was given by the chaplain, Rev. Principal Waller, on "Athletes of the Bible," which was much enjoyed by all present.

The students are pleased to welcome several young women freshmen as "specials." The new students have been prepared to study faithfully, and will be a great acquisition to No. 6. With determined faces they tell their intention of remaining there four years, annually emerging into B. A. S. It is hoped they will and make a bright class for '07, the largest that has so far entered the university.

The university this year has shown an exceptional interest and enthusiasm in many ways. Not the least of these was the discussion of the advisability of forming a modern language conversational society. The result of this discussion was a meeting on Thursday afternoon for the purpose of organization. The officers are: Honorary president, Provost James; president, Miss J. Dearness; secretary, Mr. N. Granger.

and a small but capable executive committee consisting of Miss Rowat, Miss Owens and Miss Hoson. The arrangements for the next meeting were left to this committee, who have decided to meet on Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. With such a good start the society promises to be prosperous and beneficial.

Mr. Dresser said he believed until the purchase of the Bethlehem stock was made that Schwab owned all stock. Mr. Dresser said only $27,000 was ever received from the French underwriters out of the $4,250,000 he had been assured would be forthcoming. If French underwriters had fulfilled their obligations there would have been no trouble.

FAIR AT ALVINSTON

Entries in All Classes Numbered 2,350.

Stock Was One of the Feature of the Exhibition.

For the 29th time in as many years, fair was held in the village of Alverstoke on Wednesday and Thursday this week. This annual exhibition of the Brook and Alverstoke Agricultural Society is always considered an event of great importance in that district, and so it was, considered this year.

and so it was considered this year, for there was a large attendance. Thursday the grounds were visited by a large number of people, and Alvin's was never so busy. A first-class prize list had been drawn up, and the fair was well planned. The entries numbered no less than 2,350. When it is considered that 100 horses were entered for company horses were entered for competition, some idea can be had of the high standard the fair must have in point of stock. The horses were not only numerous, but good animals were shown in all classes. The heavy draught, the general purpose and the carriage horses were all exceedingly fine specimens and did great credit to the fair.

The cattle were well represented, there being 125 entries, the majority of presented, considering the number that have been shown at other county fairs. In swine especially there has been a small number shown, generally, but at Alvinston there were 85 entries. The building where the chief exhibits, such as ladies' work, were shown, is very attractive, and the number of entries in many of the classes far exceeded those of last year. In do-stic manufactures there were 325 entries, in fancy work 375 and in fine arts 120. The display of horticulture was likewise very beautiful, the number of plants and flowers shown being very large. Altogether there were 325 entries in this class.

The fair was very enjoyable, owing to the great deal to the excellent arrangements of those in charge. The officers, directors and managers for this year were the following: President, Alex McLean, Rokeby; first vice-president, James McPhail, Alvinston; second vice-president, George Hand, Tancred; treasurer, Francis Duffy, Alvinston;
