Those are the alternative forms of contract now being considered, and which, in fact, shall be the forms given to every traction line doing business with the hydro-electric commission.

According to the terms of the first contract, the company may sign an agreement to take 860-horsepowers. They would then have to pay the service charges on 75 per cent. of that, or 600-horsepower at $12 a horsepower, which would mean that they would pay an annual fee of $7,200 to the hydro-electric commission before any owner whatever was used. They would then have to pay six-tenths of a cent for whatever power was used. If the company should agree to take 1,000-horsepower, they would have to pay 75 per cent. of that amount at the rate of $13 per horsepower, which would in that case be 750 times $13, do not be penalized for any quantity used between 75 and 100 per cent. of the amount contract-

Bishop Williams stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that the matter was not definitely decided upon yet, but would be in a few days.

The reason for holding the synod in Stratford is that the big general synod will meet in London in September, and it was thought that the tremendous amount of billeting in connection with both big gatherings would be too much for London.
