New York, Aug. 19 .- The Universal Negro Improvement Association is holding its annual meeting in Harlem, and listening once more to the stories of the promised land that lies over the seas. The "Back to Africa" movement is in full swing again, and Marcus Aurelius Garvey, variously known as "President of Africa" and "Commander of the Sublime Order of the Nile," has announced that no less than 7.000,000 negroes have expressed their intention of going back 'home." Four million of these negroes are supposed to be in the United States. The other 3,000,000 are scattered through the West Indies, where Garvey himself hails from.

Mysterious Planet Is Seven Million Miles Nearer the Earth This Week.

THEORIES MANY

Giant Telescopes of Six Coast Observatories Have Swung Into Action.

> By L. C. OWEN. Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

Lick Observatory, Mount Hamilton Aug. 20.—Although giant telescopes of six Pacific Coast observatories have swung into action and a small army of astronomical savants is sleeping by day and scanning the heavens by night, it is improbable that Mars, in its trip to a point seven million miles nearer the earth this week, will divulge the momentous secret of whether it is inhabited.
Furthermore, if the learned as tronomers who, through long study know more about the war god planet than any other humans, are to be quoted strictly according to their viewpoints, it is probable that mankind will never be able to learn that ecret definitely. Because of the clearer atmospheric enditions prevailing here, more than hree score astronomers, some of them famous the world over, and most of whom believe that Mars may be inhabited either by animal or human life, started the most intimate studies they ever have been able to make of Moves in Opposition.

At that time the mystery planet started moving in what scientists term "opposition" to the earth, and during the trip will narrow down the usual forty-two million mile away orbit on which it travels to a more studies of Mars, however, will continue for almost ten days thereafter more distant forty-two million mile pathway.

most powerful telescopes yet invented by men, among them the famous hundred-inch reflecting mirror telescope at Carnegie Solar Observatory Mount Wilson, Southern California. The principal studies, however, will be made from Lowell Observatory, Arizona, where Dr. Percival Lowell, famous astronomer, recently completed his epochal photographic study of Mars, and from Lick Obalso are being made from the Lick Observatory on Mount Lowe, South-ern California, the Santa Clara Observatory here, and the United States

consensus of opinion among astronomers is that Wednesday night's opportunity to study the red planet at the closest range possible in more than half a century, will not be productive of anything particular-ly startling from the layman's view-From the scientific standpoint, however, the observations expected to have an important bearing, for the star-gazing savants hope to verify in a measure their belief that Mars has atmospheric condi-tions like mother earth, that she has a north and a south pole, and that there apparently are different zones temperature just like those that gird this world. Such successful observations as may be made, however, are expected to be largely cumulative in their effect, and merely to strengthen the theory already in existence that the planet has atmospheric conditions somewhat similar to this world, and herefore must be inhabited by some orm of animal life. Astronomers gathered here, but who have been unable to make observations for the past two nights because of the etheral haze which has cause of the etheral haze which has intruded itself between the earth and Mars, are united in the opinion that no telescope yet has been invented that will permit them to determine whether forms of vegetation exist on the distant planet, or whether it has any forms of life.

Noted Savant Speaks.

Anropos this belief. Dr. R. A. Tucker, director of Lick Observatory here, and internationally known as an astronomic savant says:
"While most scientific men who have been studying Mars believe it possibly is inhabited by some form of animal or human life—conditions there appropriately an internal states."

Toronto, Aug. 19 .- A Toronto ady rented a vacant house in the west end of this city, and today she was preparing to move in when her astonished gaze fell upon numerous cases of whiskey in the hallway. She was not only astonished but indignant, as the cache of wet goods had not been there when she bargained for the dwelling house. Evidently the owners of the liquor had taken a chance on the place remaining inoccupied for some time. In any case they have lost the cased goods. The lady did not want the stuff, so she notified a trust company from whom she had leased the premises. The company did the rest. The hallway was cleared quietly and expelitiously.

MONTREAL MAN OPERATES FARM OF VARIED SORT

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, Aug. 20.—Signor Guiseppe Mauiro, Neapolitan owner of a house in the east end of this city is also the proprietor of a unique sub-terranean farm. Inventory of the furred and feathered inhabitants of the "farm yard" taken by Fire Com-missioner Ritchie revealed the fact that the original population comprised three pigs, two goats, about 40 chickens, all of which were fiank-ed in the cellar by a large barrel, a pile of coal and a stack of wood. Over the farm yard live Guiseppe, his wife, their nine children, the hus-band of one of the girls and a newly out in the Mauiro house on August finished yesterday, when all the roads 16. ## NOTED ARMY BAND TO PLAY IN CITY

Winnipeg Musicians Will Visit London on August 27.

On August 27 Londoners who have heard the city bands of the Salvation Army playing the stirring marches and sweet music of the hymn on the city squares will be treated to a musical festival by the Winnipeg Citadel band.

The band will visit London for one day. It will go to Toronto and other cities before returning to the west. The Winnipeg Citadel Band of Winnipeg. Canada, was established in the year 1886. Being conceived on truly Salvation Army lines at its inception, its aim has been to give the citizens of Winnipeg music of the highest order, with the one aim, to highest order, with the one aim, to bring blessing and cheer to the human heart through turning the thought toward the Creator. Just how well this has been accomplished can be realized, when the organization is now recognized as a splendic factor in the musical, spiritual and artistic life of Winnipeg.

The band has passed through many changes and vicissitudes, not the least being the enlistment of over thirty members of the total personnel of forty during the world war, but with the return of many of the members after the cessation of hostilities, the band has gone through a period of recontruction, and today, under the leadership of Bandmaster Henry G. Merritt stands out as a typical and representative Salvation Army

In addition to playing a fundamental part in the forwarding of music of a religious character in Winnipeg and district, the band has toured Western Canada on three occasions. Visits are made to jails, and visits paid to the Stony Mountain Peni-tentiary are always looked forward to by the government officials and prisoners alike. The organization has played at the Government House at the request of the lieutenant-gover-nor, Sir James Aikens.

NOW HANGS IN BALANCE

The domino championship of London East is still hanging in mid-air. The battle for the championship was scheduled to take place at No. 2 fire hall yesterday afternoon between W. H. Heard and Dave Tindall. One game was played and another started, but Mr. Heard declared that Dave was trying to beat him by not sticking to the set rules of dominoes Heard had already won the firs game, and Dave explained that all he wanted to do was to win one of the games and then he would give the other one to him. This did not atisfy both parties, so it was decided to hold the match some other time.
