TWO BABIES DIE IN FIRE: MOTHER FIGHTS IN VAIN

Wall of Flames Defeats Woman's Attempt To Rescue Little Ones From Beds When Chatham Home Is Destroyed Following Oil Stove Explosion.

MEN FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO REACH CHILDREN where life is colorful and romantic

Special to The Advertiser by Staff Correspondent.

Chatham, Feb. 2.-Following the explosion of an oil stove, Mrs. Wilfrid Ritchie, a young mother, was a helpless spectator while her babes, Douglas, aged 2, and Gladys, aged 12 months, were burned to death in the fire, which destroyed their home on Taylor avenue

Tears ran down the faces of men when they found themselves beaten from effecting a rescue.

The tragedy occurred this afternoon. The children had been put to bed in a room at the front of the house. The oil stove was located near the bedroom door. As the mother was busy with her household duties the explosion occurred. In an instant the interior was blazing. The mother's first thought was for her children, but she found a flaming barrier preventing her reaching them. She ran screaming to neighbors for assistance.

William Stephens was one of the first to arrive at the burning dwelling, but the flames prevented him from entering. Other neighbors gathered, including several men, but all efforts to reach the children were futile.

The husband had been out of work for three weeks. He procured a job this morning, and was told to report for ice-cutting, duty this afternoon. A messenger hurried for the father, following the tragedy. He arrived to find his humble dwelling but ashes. The man seemed unable to grasp the situation. He gazed vacantly at the heap of burning embers, and even the words of his wife, as she clutched him in terror, conveyed no meaning to him. His first impulse when the tragedy was borne home to him was to rush madly to the burning debris.

Late this afternoon one of the bodies had been recovered.

There's no way to get around it. Dental statistics show that four out of every five over 40—and thousands younger, too—are victims of Pyorrhea. Do you want to avoid this dread disease?

Prevent tooth decay below the gum-line

As the soil nourishes the tree roots, the gums nourish the teeth. And as the tree decays if you bare the roots, so do the teeth decay when gum shrinkage starts in.

This condition—one of the first stages of Pyorrhea -is very common and something that ordinary tooth pastes are powerless to prevent. If not checked promptly it will lead to loss of teeth and serious organic diseases.

If used in time and used consistently twice daily, Forhan's will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. It will preserve the gums in their pink, normal, healthy condition, safeguard your health and keep your mouth clean, fresh and wholesome.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes. Formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S.
