One Bad Inning Proves Tecs' Undoing In Third Game For Mint League Flag

HAMS GAIN EDGE AGAIN WITH 7-2 WIN OVER TECS LEAFS FROM RACE

Costly Errors in Sixth Pave Way For Hamilton Victory.

SEVEN HITS EACH

Special to The Advertiser.

Hamilton, Sept. 17.—The stonewall defence of the London Tecumsen's, which played such a prominent part in the first two games of the series for the league championship, blew up in the sixth inning of the third game here this afternoon, and the Clippers stepped into the lead by taking a 7 to 2 decision.

Two hits, a double and triple, two errors, a base on balls and a sacrifice hit were sufficient to give the locals four runs in the sixth, break a tie of two all, and put the contest on ice. The errors, both of which were committed by Vermilyea, came at the start of the lnning, and but for them the locals might have been turned back scoreless.

Ralph Judd and Pete Harris engaged in a great hurling duel until the sixth, and but for this inning on both sides, the pitching would have ranked with the spectacular efforts of the moundsmen in the two opening contests at London.

As in the first two games the hits As in the first two games the hits were scarce. Each team gathered seven, but the locals got the edge by grabbing all the extra base knocks, a double, two triples and a home run being among theirs. The visitors' blows were all singles, but with the exception of one they were hard-hit balls. Spectacular work by the Hamilton outfield cut off several seemingly extra base hits, Bashang, Gleich and Neitzke each making at least one catch of real merit. Bashang took a likely-looking blow from Kernan's bat, as did Gleich, while Neitzke robbed Vermilyea of a sure double by making a long run and one-handed stab with two out in the ninth. Stimpson and Sandquist provided the thrills from a London standpoint, the latter's work around the red-light corner being especially good.

latter's work around the tears at the ner being especially good.

Judd Effective.

Judd was enective throughout. He had only one bad frame, the sixth, in which he allowed his only base on balls of the game and two singles. At all other times his tast ball, mixed in with a sweeping curve and a good change of pace, had the visitors bantled.

Harris also twirled nice ball in all but one frame. The work was depreciated to some extent by the fielding benind him, and he was forced to work himself out of several bad holes. Lou Browers, with two hits in four trips to the plate, was the only London swatsmish to hit safely more than once. Every one of London's hits was a single, and all but one was a hot spot that gave the Clipper fielders no chance to cut them off.

THE CRITICS.

A few critics of Wednesday night's boxing card rather deplored the fact that the main bout didn't last longer. That it didn't was a tribute to the honesty of the game. Clements had been touted as a contender from the west, and Ryan, who has the world's championship in sight, wasn't taking any chances. It would have been an easy matter for Ryan to have arranged to carry Clements for so many rounds, but the days of those things are past in boxing. For one too much distrust between the boxers themselves, and then again the managers and fighters have both begun to realize that the public can only be fooled once in a while. However, the card proved that international stars, no matter how sincere, have no more attraction than third-rate boxers in London. Ryan, who does not need to look for bouts unless guaranteed $700 at least, and who usually works at $1,500 and $2,000 prices, added London to his knowledge of geography, even if he didn't add a cent to his bank

THE SILVER LINING.

The fact that rain interfered and stopped a game between Hamilton and Tecs will work to the advantage of the Londoners, as unless Hamilton sweeps the series this week, the crucial games will be played here. Home grounds shouldn't mean a lot to professional baseball players, but actually they do.

A REDUCED MINT.

Whereas a few months ago, it seemed that the Mint must break up, sentiment seems to be swinging in favor of an International circuit, somewhat expanded as to clubs, but reduced in classification. Several cities over in the Michigan end of the Mint, formerly in the old Southern Michigan league, and later in the Central league, such as Lansing, are ready for professional baseball again, but not Class B. Hamilton and London are still in the ring as far as professional baseball goes, but not in line for Class B. An eight-club Class D league could operate very
