The Canadian Foundation for the Americas (FOCAL) is an independent, non-governmental organization that fosters informed and timely debate and dialogue on issues of importance to decision-makers and opinion leaders in Canada and throughout the western Hemisphere. Established in 1990, FOCAL's mission is to develop a greater understanding of important hemispheric issues and help to build a stronger community of the Americas.

Maxwell A. Cameron is Associate Professor at the Department of Political Science, of University of British Columbia in Vancouver, Canada. He specializes on comparative politics and democracy in Latin America. The FOCAL team that worked on this publication were Martin Roy, Nobina Robinson and James Buchanan. The views expressed in this paper are those of the author, and do not necessarily reflect those of the Canadian Foundation for the Americas (FOCAL). This report is based on a workshop held at the University of British Columbia under the auspices of the Canadian Foundation for the Americas (FOCAL). The workshop, preparation and printing of this paper has been made possible thanks to the support of the Canadian Centre for Foreign Policy Development.

Additional copies of this paper may be obtained from the FOCAL web site (www.focal.ca)
