

order to make sure that only those be chosen whose knowledge of English is adequate and whose education is sufficiently advanced to enable them to take full advantage of the educational facilities offered; and

(c) to extend, as far as possible, financial help towards travelling and living expenses of those students who have passed the required tests, but whose resources are inadequate to meet necessary travelling and living expenses. In this connection, it would be a decided advantage if the Board could see its way to select each year a specified number of students from among those qualifying for its regular travelling scholarships and send them to Canadian Universities: this would enable the Board to conserve funds as only travelling and living expenses would be required, all tuition and class fees being waived.

In considering this project it should not be forgotten that Canada is a Pacific State and therefore most likely to be brought into steadily growing closer relations with China; that Canada, as a Dominion of the British Empire, stands for British ideals and interests; that as Canada is closer
