They naturally gravitate towards the Liberal party. Up till Saturday The Star has discovered 56 of these Conservatives in all Canada. His hands were tied before, but thank God, he will be in the position to show Sir the job of minister of labor is too heavy for a boy to handle. SMOKING NUISANCE. Editor World: I was present at the grand stand performance at the exhibition last Thursday night. The gentleman beside me smoked his cigar, and there were others in the audience who did the same thing, and ladies and children were very much annoyed and had to endure this smoking nuisance. The young men who sold refreshments also sold cigars among the audience. I would like to see smoking and the selling of cigars prohibited in the grand stand at our National Exhibition.

The same bylaw, which prohibits men from smoking on street cars, should be enforced in the grand stand, and would meet with the approval of the general public to a greater extent.

Non-smokers should not have to enany public gathering.

The report tells of the discovery of an unknown, unused river, about thirty miles long and very broad, emptying into Langton Bay. It also refers to the Riviere la Ronclere, which is drawn in a free hand fashion with many flourishes on all modern maps, rising near Bear Lake and flowing majestically northward. Stefanson has now shown this stream to be non-existent. Now is the church's "due time." to see and to hear, but not the world's. The deceased spent most of his life on railroad construction, and when taken sick was practically in charge of the spur being built by the Ontario Government from the T. & N. O. to the Porcupine. His wife and several children survive him.

DEMAGOGIC APPEAL.

From The Sentinel: The United States has already asked for the removal of all customs barriers between the two countries. Free traders in every locality in Canada are coming out of their burrows and insisting that the manufacturers and bankers have had their way too long, and they talk rubbish about Canada being a land of plutocrats and slaves. They admit the business interests are against the agreement, but seek to force it thru, in spite of their opposition by a demagogic appeal to the ill-feeling they imagine the masses entertain towards capital.
