bowed to the big gathering in appre-clation of their greeting, which was certainly a grand one. As he stepped future occ from the coach Mayor Coatsworth with bared head welcomed him, as did Chairman Graham of the reception committee and City Clerk Littlejohn. Between the mayor and the alderman-the prince climbed the wide marble staircase and bestowed an admiring glance upon the stained window facing the front door. There were a lot of people in the hall who were held in subjection by the police as they crushed to get closer.

to get closer. crimson carpet, carefully guarded by stalwart officers, led across to the mayor's office, which looked pretty much as usual, and that isn't so bad. In a minute or two the party proceeded to the council chamber.

Place Looked Nice. There was a gaily dressed gathering vaiting. The pretty chamber had been decorated on a really elaborate scale, taxing the ingenuity and resources of taxing the ingenuity and resources of Park Commissioner Chambers and the city clerk. The windows were darkened by crimson curtains, which, with the immense amount of palms and foliage and many plants and flowers, made a beautiful effect. The pretty gowns and bright faces of the women helped, and never before has the council chamber appeared to prouder advange. cil chamber appeared to prouder advan-tage. It was not overcrowded.

orchestra played loyal airs as the An orchestra played loyal airs as the royal party approached. Everyone was on the verge of expectancy. There was but little demonstration when the party entered and the prince rose to the dais in front of the mayor's chair. Near him was a bust of his grandfather the Prince Consort, to the features of which his bear a decided resemblance.

The Civic Address. Mayor Coatsworth was in his glory.

A BUSY WOMAN

Can Do the Work of 3 or 4 If Well Fed.

An energetic young woman living just outside of N.Y. writes: "I am at present doing all the housework of a dairy farm, caring for two children, a vegetable and flower garden, a large number of fowls, besides managing an extensive exchange business through the mails." ness through the mails and pursuing my regular avocation as a writer for several newspapers and magazines

(designing fancy work for the latter) and all the energy and ability to do this I owe to Grape-Nuts Food.

"It was not always so, and a year ago, when the shock of my nursing baby's death utterly baby's death utterly prostrated me and deranged my stomach and nerves so that I could not assimilate as much as a mouthful of solid food, and was in even worse condition mentally, he would have been a rash prophet who would have predicted that it ever would be so

Prior to this great grief I had suf-fered for years with impaired diges-tion, insomnia, agonizing cramps in the stomach, pain in the side, constipation, and other bowel derangements, all these were familiar to my daily life Medicines gave me no relief-nothing did, until a few months ago, Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"We ask permission to offer our congratulations upon the successful completion of the important mission entrusted to your royal highness, namely, that of investing the emperor of an allied nation with knighthood in the most nable Order of the Gerter, and to exnoble Order of the Garter, and to express the hope that the alliance between Great Britain and Japan may long be conducive to the maintenance of peace not only in the east but thru-of peace not only in the east but thruout the world at large.

"It is now upwards of 35 years since the citizens of Toronto first had the honor and pleasure of offering a welcome to your illustrious father, the Duke of Connaught, and at that time reference was made to the completion of the great work of forming the Briof the great work of forming the British North American provinces into a Dominion, and the hope was expressed that this joining of the propressed that the propres ate the power of Great Britain on this continent and materially increase the strength and dignity of the British empire. That these predictions have been largely fulfilled is not open to question, and we trust that during

Crowd at the City Hall.

There was a splendid welcome at the city hall. The steps were thronged with people, receiving the customary rebuffs from the police. The royal carriage was preceded and surrounded by dashing Dragoons. His highness was the third to leave the carriage and before doing so he removed his hat and bowed to the city Hall.

"We trust that this visit to Canada may be a most agreeable one to Your royal highness, and that we may on a future occasion again have the plea-

Reply of the Prince.

There was an easy relieved sort of smile around the mouth of the royal guest as he bowed in acceptance of the address, and handed it to Capt. Wyndham. Then he took a look over the audience and replied as follows:

"Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen,—I am deeply touched with the warmth and cordiality of the reception which you have given me on this my first visit to the provincial capital of Ontario.

During my long journey across the smile around the mouth of the royal guest as he bowed in acceptance of the address, and handed it to Capt. Wyndham. Then he took a look over the audience and replied as follows:

"Mr, Mayor and Gentlemen,—I am deeply touched with the warmth and cordiality of the reception which you have given me on this my first visit have given me on this my first visit During my long journey across the continent many things have impressed me—the extent of the Dominion, its great natural resources—the energy and spirit of enterprise which animates its people, but, perhaps most of all, the affection which all classes of Canadians manifest towards the motherland. "It will be my agreeable duty to report to the King the evidences of this attachment and of sentiments of loyalty and devotion which you have exhibited to-day towards the throne and person of his majesty.

I learn with pleasure of the wonderful progress which has taken place in your city during the past genera-tion. It is my hope that Toronto illus-trates in this convincing manner the sterling qualities of our race, as well as of the adaptability of British institutions to promote the welfare and happiness of those who live under

"I much appreciate your kind wishes on my own behalf." There was an undecided turn as his royal highness concluded his speech, and Mayor Coatsworth relieved it by calling upon the gentlemen for cheers for the prince, which were heartily re-sponded to both by gentlemen and the sponded ladies. Shook Hands With the Prince. The presentation of citizens was an interesting affair, which lasted a little over a quarter of an hour. City Clerk Littlejohn received cards from the ladies and gentlemen as they approached his royal highness and quietly announced the name. The prince's greeting was pleasant, indeed. To Staff-Sergt. Hutchinson, who wore medals, he spoke a few nice words, and he stooped over very kindly to take the hand of young Master Sanderson. The mayor stood at the eft of the prince, and this Hanna the Lightenant Cayer. and His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was at his right. The first lady presented was Mrs. Coatsworth. The reception created great interest amongst the large gathering of fashionably at-tired ladies in the gallery. Among those presented were: Hon and Mrs J W St John, Mr and Mrs J S Fullerton, Mr and Mrs James S Fullerton, Col G T Denison, Sheriff and Mrs Mowat, Hon J J Foy, Jas L Hughes, Miss Vida Coatsworth, Hon Col Matheson, Mr and Mrs Walter Edwin Ireland, Dr and Mrs Harley Smith, Mr Hammond, Miss Katie Redican, Staff Sergt Hutchinson, R.G.G.: Miss Hutchinson nothing did, until a few months ago, at a friend's suggestion, I began to use Grape-Nuts food, and subsequently gave up coffee entirely and adopted Postum Food Coffee at all my meals.

"To-day I am free from all the troubles I have enumerated. My digestion is simply perfect, I assimilate my food without the least distress, enjoy sweet, restful sleep, and have a buoyant feeling of pleasure in my varied duties. About Ourselves.

"Scarcely more than a century has elapsed since the site of the City of Toronto was reclaimed from the original forest, and we trust that we are not unduly proud of the fact that, during its comparatively short existence as a city, it has made rapid, substantial and continuous development. We also take pleasure in referring to the wonderful progress which Canada has made and is making, and it is with feelings of sincere gratification. Miss Helen M Merrill, Mr and Mrs

Murrich Lunched at Hunt Club. From the city hall the reyal party drove to government house. They were heartily cheered by the waiting crowd outside the city hall. After a short rest they went to the Toronto Hunt Club to a luncheon tendered to his royal highness by George Reardman. M.T.H.
