FOUR GIRLS ARE LOCKED UP

Alleged That They Have Been Robbing Visitors in the Departmental Stores.

SOUGHT AFTER FOR TWO MONTHS.

All the prisoners are respectable-looking, and the eldest is Only Eighteen.

Four respectable-looking young girls, the eldest of whom is 18, were captured by Detectives Burrows and Hartigan on Saturday night and locked up at the Court-street station on general charges of theft.

The police assert that the prisoners are responsible for a large amount of snuck thieving that has occurred recently in the big departmental stores. The valuables stolen consisted chiefly of purses and their contents, the property of persons from out-side places who came into the city to purchase goods at the Eaton and Simpson stores.

From the time the first theft was reported to the police nearly two months ago the two detectives have been steadily at work on the case, but it was not until late on Saturday afternoon that the officers secured any clue to the persons who were responsible for the disappearance of the valuables.

At that time the detectives learned that Annie Arling, of 270 Queen-st., Elizabeth O'Brien, 42 Baitwood-avenue, Irene O'Brien, had been seen acting in a suspicious manner since the disappearance of the goods, and they decided to place the quartet under arrest.

The four girls were found together on Victoria-street and in the company of a man. After the prisoners were locked up the O'Brien girl admitted a stolen watch.

$3,000,000 IN GOLD

Has Just Reached Seattle in Four Steamers From Dawson and Cape Nome.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 19.—Three millions of Klondike and Nome gold, not including perhaps $500,000 in individual wealth, of which the ships had no account, came in on the four Alaskan steamers which reached port yesterday before sundown. The vessels were the North American Transportation and Trading Company's Benbow, Capt. J. B. Weaver; the Lakme of the Seattle Yukon Transportation Company, the Pacific Steam Whaling Company's boat Excelsior, and the Lynn Canal liner Humboldt, Capt. Benfield.

The Humboldt came from Skagway with $500,000 of Klondike gold, a brilliant haul which represented a portion of Berry brother's El Dorado clean-up for the season of 1900. The Lakme brought $200,000 consisted by the Bank of British North America of Dawson to the company's bank and to the Yukon Bank, and the Excelsior, which carried $1,000,000 of actual worth exceeding $2,250,000, all as well as $100,000 consigned by the Pioneer Mining Company of Nome to the Scandinavian American Bank, being Klondike gold. It was shipped from Dawson to St. Michael on the company's river boat.

Of the larger cargoes, the Cape Nome Bank of Commerce of Dawson had seven boxes, the North American Transportation and Trading Company seven boxes, and George Carmack, the discoverer of the Klondike, two boxes. All of the Klondike and Nome gold and also that of the Humboldt and Excelsior is billed to the Seattle office.

300 ENDEAVORERS STRANDED.

Stuck at Venice, Geneva, and Lucerne—European Hotels and Railroads Failed to Keep Contracts.

Paris, Aug. 18.—Three hundred Christian Endeavorers are in deep distress at different points in France, Switzerland and Italy. The proximate cause of the distress is the failure of hotels and railroads to keep the contracts made with the Boston Tourist Company which had the Endeavorers in charge.

The hotels and railroads repudiated the contracts, alleging as excuse the delay of the tourist arrangement caused by the broken dock fire. The tourist agency has gone bankrupt and the Endeavorers find themselves stranded.

There are three parties—one at Venice, one at Geneva and one at Lucerne. The majority of the Endeavorers are women. Those who have money are helping those who have not, but the situation is serious as the steamer carrying them home will not sail till the end of the month, and they while they must pay hotel bills and rag round fare to Clermont. Some have already reached this city in a demoralized condition.

A New Terror of Courtship.
Chicago Medical Recorder: An Italian brunet for some days had been suffering from a supposed attack of pleurisy, but when Dr. J. B. Jordan examined him, he found that one of the young lady's ribs was fractured. After a minute questioning, the girl blushing admitted that her best friend had indicted the injury while giving her his usual tender embrace before parting on his last visit. The cause of the accident was marked by a sharp pain in her side, "a catch in her breath," and a sudden relaxation of her hold.

MEET DEATH WHILE BATHING.

Sydney A. C. Greene Lost His Life on Saturday Evening at the Island.

HIS FATHER TRIED TO SAVE HIM.

Bank Without a Struggle and Death is Attributed to Heart Failure.

Sydney A. C. Greene, barrister, and manager of the General Advertising and Publishing Company, lost his life on Saturday evening while bathing in the lake about 100 yards north of the Hospital for Sick Children, at Hamilton's Point. He was visiting the Island home of his father, Mr. Columbus H. Greene, and at about 9 o'clock went for a bathe. Mr. Greene, sr., was sitting on a bench on the beach when his son passed and threw off his slippers and bath robe preparatory to the plunge into the lake. The young man had told his father that he was at least 100 yards beyond the deep water about 90 or 70 feet out from the shore. When the swimmer had covered that distance he threw his hands up in the air and smiled, apparently indicating that he was on the sand bar. He then struck out and after swimming a short distance disappeared.

Could Not Restore Life.
As he did not rise, Mr. Greene, who was alarmed, and, throwing off his coat, rushed into the water, but became exhausted before he could get far enough out, and had to return. Miss Edith Greene, who was on the beach, saw her father run out and gave the alarm. Mr. Anglin and another neighbor boarded a scow, and Dr. Peterson, dentist of College-street, went to the spot with a canoe. He could see the body on the bottom in about 10 feet of water. He dived and the body seemed to come up almost as soon as he touched it.

Father Tried to Save Him.
Mr. Greene was 32 years of age. He leaves a widow and child. Dr. E. Herbert Greene, Carlton-street; Harry V. Greene, Rossland, and George Greene of Toronto Bank Company are brothers of the deceased. He is also survived by one sister, Miss Edith Greene, who writes on the obituary notice that the young widow is a daughter of Mrs. Arthur of West Hill.

The remains were removed to the home of Dr. Greene on Carlton-street, and the funeral will take place at 11 a. m. tomorrow at Necropolis cemetery.

Mr. Greene was for some years a member of the Queen's Own Rifles, and was a lieutenant in the regiment when he retired.

NEW KING A MASTER MIND.

Italy is Surprised at the Vigor Shown by King Victor Emmanuel—Thinks for Himself.

Rome, Aug. 19.—It is impossible to exaggerate the splendid effect produced on all the hearts by the inaugural address of the young King of Italy. The speech came as a revelation of hope and inspiration for Italy, no less welcome because unexpected from a young man who was almost unknown and scarcely believed by his future subjects.

He is a Master.
Standing in front of a brilliant concourse of Princes, Ambassadors and nobles, the King read his speech. His hearers were quick to recognize with the first sentences that the aged Premier Saracco had never written it and that the new King was speaking his own thoughts and making his own promises. As the ringing manifesto proceeded, the enthusiasm of the audience rose higher and higher until the King's voice was almost inaudible and sounds of weeping were heard on all sides. As the assemblage dispersed the feeling all was expressed in the words of a popular deputy who said "The master has come."

King Victor Emmanuel has thrown himself into his work with remarkable energy, which is proving decidedly disconcerting to the easy-going Italian statesmen.

The latter complain that His Majesty takes himself too seriously by consulting his latest order of the King is that all decrees requiring his signature must be submitted to him three or four days before they are to be signed, in order that he may have time to read them. The custom heretofore has been for the King to sign decrees at the Ministerial audiences 7 1/2 hours on Sundays, each Minister could be solemnly explaining their tenor. King Humboldt accepted this arrangement as calculated to save trouble, but several times he signed in this happy-go-lucky fashion decrees which were afterward declared illegal by the High Court.

Queen's Prayer Condemned.
Rome, Aug. 18.—The Congregation of the Holy Office has condemned and forbidden the recitation in the Catholic churches of the Queen Dowager Margherita's prayer in memory of King Humbert.

No Lawyer for Bresel.
Rome, Aug. 18.—Bresel, the Anarchist who killed King Humbert, refuses to select a lawyer to conduct his defence. All the lawyers who have been invited by the government to undertake the defence of the assassin have declined to serve.

At Munro Park.
Between twelve and fifteen thousand people visited Munro Park on Saturday evening and enjoyed a splendid program. The management added two extra turns, one some Scotch songs by Mr. Fildes, jr., which were given a double encore, and the other a most amusing and novel sketch by Ferguson and McCall, who made their first appearance in Toronto and scored a decided success. The program for this week is one of great merit. In addition to some splendid vaudeville turns, there are beautiful moving pictures of the Paris Exhibition, the British Cavalry charges, etc., and tomorrow night the British Canadian Band will play on the grounds.

WHAT IS TO BE CHINA'S FATE?

The Entry of the Allies Into Peking Has Hastened the Crisis in the Far East, Says

SUN'S LONDON CORRESPONDENT

Revolt of the Pure Chinese Against the Manchu Dynasty is Now One of the Possibilities.

London, Aug. 18.—(New York Sun Cable).—The good news from Peking, while it brings immeasurable relief to Europe, as well as to the rest of the world, serves but to hasten the real Chinese crisis. It cannot be assumed, of course, that military operations will be ended with the occupation of Peking, but the collapse of the Chinese resistance during the march of the allies disposed once and for all of the fear that civilization was face to face with the "Yellow peril" in its most dangerous form. Every Government in Europe believed a month ago that the ruling dynasty of China, as a result of the expedition of foreigners and as a result of the entry of the allies, would be overthrown and a republic established. It is now clear that any such plan extorted it was limited in scope and that the father sent and has already been virtually defeated.

China Without a Government.
The situation now justifies the belief that China is not only divided hopelessly against itself, but that the country is virtually without government and in a condition of anarchy. The only possibility of any further insurrectionary movements ought to be to the effect of the allies, unless the Allies press and her states and southern provinces of the Empire are the most likely to revolt, the more their influence will diminish. In fact, one of the most probable consequences of the crisis will be a revolt of the real Chinese against the Manchu dynasty.

Political Features.
It is necessary for the allies, while completing preparations for an military action, to turn their attention immediately to the vast and difficult political and social problems which this situation is peculiarly embarrassing to Great Britain.

The Salisbury Government had reason to believe until last week that the situation might be kept in abeyance for a few weeks, and that King Edward would have one more opportunity to free himself from the deadly entanglements which are paralyzing her army in South Africa before grappling with the perilous difficulties of the Chinese situation.

Britain's Policy in Shanghai.
Moreover, England has entered upon the task with a united front to the other possible ally for her future interests. The diplomatic world today is divided into the two camps of the British policy at Shanghai and the policy of the other powers.

Why, asks the Times, does the Government announce its purpose to land troops in Shanghai if it is willing to be bullied or persuaded to abandon the city? The answer is, according to every authority, the worst possible. The British policy in Shanghai is to maintain a strong and permanent presence in the city.

Why the Change?
It is quite true that Great Britain's action in the first instance caused the demonstration on the Continent and especially in France, but the British policy is now being questioned in the most serious manner. The British policy is now being questioned in the most serious manner.

Germany Will Demand Damages.
The discussion of the problem as a whole has scarcely begun at the diplomatic level. Germany will demand a special reckoning with China. It has already demanded that the Kaiser will be satisfied with merely pecuniary indemnities.

Orange Church Parade.
About 1500 members of the Western District L.O.O.F. attended divine service in Hope Congregational Church yesterday afternoon. They met at the Orange Hall on Spadina-avenue and walked to the church in a body by way of Bland-avenue, College and Church-streets. The parade was headed by District Master of West Toronto H. Armstrong, and was made up of members of the Orange Association, Royal Society Chapter and Royal Bice Preceptory.

The Inquest Adjourned.
At M. McCabe's undertaking establishment, the inquest on the body of James Segura, the Grand Trunk Railway yardman who met his death while coupling cars at the foot of Jarvis-street, was adjourned to Friday night. The remains of the deceased were last night taken to St. Eugene, Quebec, by justice of the peace. Four members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen accompanied the body.
