Toronto Humane Society.

The regular monthly meeting of the Toronto Humane Society was held yesterday. Mr. J. J. Cassel, vice-president, was chairman. A number of letters were read, showing that several Bands of Mercy have been established as the result of the distribution of this society's literature. A committee was appointed to consider the advisability of publishing a "Humane Monthly," for free distribution at schools and other places. A complaint of teamsters that contractors compelled them to overload their teams was considered, and a lit was decided to refer it to the City Engineer's Department, and have a clause inserted in city contracts specifying what weight makes a load.

His afternoon receptions had been treated by several of the newspapers at spirit of levity, and at this he was very much annoyed. He denounced it as a uscan place of business, and insinuated that the reporters did not appreciate the courtreless of everyday life. He also added that the reporters did not appreciate the courtreless months at the newspapers they represented needed to six more shapes they represented needed to set them a few words of advice, for they were a long way from being up to date.

Then, turning to the officials present, His Worship wished them good afternoon, when one of the reporters asked the Mayor answered that he could not. "We will take your case up later," he add. The Mayor answered that he could not. The Mayor answer
