INCENDIARISM THE CHARGE.

Burning of a Stack of Hay and 1000 Feet of Lumber Leads to Two Arrests.

LANGMAN, PARRY SOUND, IS IN JAIL.

Case Will Come Up for Trial at the Sessions Taking Place June 4.

Parry Sound, May 24.—Some time ago a stack of hay belonging to Mr. Phin Davis of McDougall, was burned, together with about 1000 feet of lumber and some rails. The fire occurred in the night, and, as it was evidently the work of an incendiary, steps were taken to discover the guilty person or persons. Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Mr. Robert Blair of Carling made a careful search and discovered tracks of two persons, evidently a man and woman, leading from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Langman to the hay stack and back again to Langman's house. As there was a dispute between Mr. Davis and Mr. Langman about the removal of a mill from the property of Davis, and as Langman had been reported to have made threats, a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Langman, and they were lodged in jail Friday evening.

The preliminary hearing was held on Saturday at the Court House, here, before Police Magistrate Farrer. Mr. Haight, the District Crown Attorney, conducted the prosecution and Mr. F. R. Powell, defended the prisoners.

Mr. Davis told, in evidence, of his discovery of the fire at about 5 o'clock in the morning; the stack was in his field about ten feet from the private road leading thru his farm and about half a mile from his home. There were no bush fires in the vicinity and no one of his household had been near the stack on the previous day. After breakfast he and his wife went to the scene of the fire and discovered the footprints of two persons; the tracks of one of the persons were evidently made by a large man wearing a pair of rubbers, considerably worn; the other tracks were evidently made by a woman wearing shoes. The ground was damp and there was considerable mud on the road and the tracks were quite easily traced; near the stack was some plowed ground and some of the footprints were made in the plowed land and were traced right up to the stack. Mr. and Mrs. Davis followed the tracks to within a short distance of Langman's house and then called Mr. Blair and he went with them over the ground to the stack and back to the Langman house, following the tracks and measuring them. On Sunday, the 12th, Davis saw Langman wearing a pair of rubbers similar to those which made the tracks to the stack, and there was a similarity in the tracks.

Mrs. Davis corroborated her husband as to the finding of the tracks and following them to Langman's house, and also when Mr. Blair was present. Constable Hanna made a search of Langman's house but could not find the rubbers. Some of Langman's boys were called and one of them admitted his father had a pair of rubbers like those seen by Davis, that he saw his father with them on the Sunday in question, but that they had disappeared and he did not know what had become of them.

At the conclusion of the evidence the Police Magistrate committed Langman for trial, but discharged Mrs. Langman, giving her the benefit of the doubt, and possibly, he said, Mrs. Langman was coerced by her husband, or may have accompanied him to try and restrain him, as he was somewhat under the influence of liquor, it appeared, and was said to be very violent.

Six years ago on May 1 Langman leased a piece of ground from Davis at the mouth of Blair's Creek, on which he erected a shingle mill. The lease expired on May 1 and Langman was notified to leave. Davis claimed the mill building must be left on the land and Langman contended he was to leave the land in the same condition he found it and had the right to remove the mill, which he began to do. Davis got out an injunction restraining Langman from removing the mill and Langman came to town to answer to the notice of injunction. While here he got some liquor and talked a great deal and went home late that night. It is charged he and his wife walked to the stack and set it on fire. The case will probably come up for trial at the Sessions, which will take place on June 4.

At Long Branch.

As it may readily be imagined, there was a very slim attendance at the Long Branch Rifle Ranges yesterday. The few that did venture out had a decidedly unpleasant time of it. The wind blew hard all day, and only at times did the rain let up. The conditions were so bad as to preclude the possibility of making even average scores. It is probable that the scores made in the competition for Lieut. Harbottle's cup will not be counted, and that the contest will be shot off to-day.

Died Standing on His Head.

Brockport, N. Y., May 24.—Fate was unkind to Thomas Jennings, and, as a parting taunt, she caused him to die ridiculously, standing on his head.

Jennings was found dead yesterday at the foot of a stairway leading to rooms over John Duffy's saloon.

The body was standing on its head, with the heels in the air, resting against the wall of the narrow passage in such a manner as to maintain it in that position. There was a wound on the head.

Jennings, the day before, was seen to have a New York draft for a considerable sum, but he had been intoxicated, and, when discovered, there were only three cents in his pocket.

He had apparently fallen down stairs.

A Dead Colored Baby.

Dangers of Popularity.

Hazleton Pa., May 24.—George Barrie of Stockton, is such a popular man that when he was married yesterday nearly the entire town turned out to celebrate the event. As a result of the fights which ensued a number of arrests were made, one of the prisoners being Barrie, who spent the night in the borough lockup. He was liberated to-day.
