YORK CIRCULATING LIBRARY,

187 KING-STREET.

THE Advantages afforded to a reading public by a Circulating Library, are so great and well known as to preclude the necessity of detailing the inducements that have prompted Charles Daly to open such an establishment in York.

C. D. having been many years Librarian to the Athenaeum, London, has formed such a connexion with the Booksellers in that City as will give him an opportunity of making his Library a credit to the Town, and as it will contain all authors of acknowledged merit and all periodicals of talent, he feels confident that he shall secure and merit the patronage of the Gentry of York and its vicinity.

The Subscription to the Library to be paid in advance will be

£2 0 0. Per Year.

£1 5 0. Per Half Year.

£0 12 0. Per Quarter.

An extensive and choice selection of Moral, Theological, Historical, and Scientific Works, as well as a full supply of the most approved Novels, Travels, Memoirs, &c. will be found in the Library; and arrangements are made for obtaining every new publication of merit as soon as possible after publication.

An elegant and commodious Reading Room will early in the Spring be connected with the Library, to which in addition to the Library will be added all Journals of interest.

The Library will for the present be kept in T. F. Caldicott's Store, 187 King-street, where are carried on Bookselling and Stationery in all their branches: Letterpress, Lithographic and Copperplate printing, Bookbinding, &c.
