CAHAN UPHOLDS LEGALITY OF BYNG'S ACTION

Scores King Gov't For Trying to Escape Censure

RINFRET SPEAKS

Conservative Women Organizers in Montreal Want Lady Registrar

MONTREAL, July 15.—"I sincerely regard the acts of the Governor General as fair, impartial and inevitable, and in complete accord with the precedents established in Great Britain and the Dominion," declared C. H. Cahan, K. C., ex-M. P. for St. Lawrence-St. George Division at a Conservative rally here last night.

"No Premier in England or in the British Dominion has ever been known to ask for a dissolution of Parliament for the obvious purpose of escaping a pending vote of censure in the House of Commons, to which he and his government were directly responsible, and where members were seen to be in judgment on the maladministration of the government."

WAS THE VOTE

Mr. Cahan spoke of the late vote, which he characterized as a "tie vote," referring to the mistake made by Mr. Bird, and said:

"Up to this stage of the proceedings there could be no possible criticism of the actions of the Governor-General. He had refused to grant Mr. Mackenzie King a dissolution of his administration to escape a vote of censure pending in the House of Commons."

"The Governor-General had called upon Mr. Meighen to form a government. Mr. Meighen's acceptance of the office had been confirmed by five successive votes of the House of Commons, thus again vindicating completely the action of the Governor-General in inviting him to accept office."

FAIR AND IMPARTIAL

"I have read the works of every Anglo-French constitutionalist, and I sincerely regard the acts of the Governor General as fair, impartial and inevitable, and in complete accord with the precedents established in Great Britain and the Dominion."

"To say that this is a denial of right to responsible government in Canada is an utter absurdity," declared Mr. Cahan.

Scenes of Arsenal Explosion

THIS picture giving a general view of the Lake Denmark naval depot and the Picatinny arsenal was taken from the Picatinny peak, a hill rising from the arsenal grounds. The unexploded storehouses of the arsenal lie directly below, too close to show in the picture. The grounds of the naval reservation are shown in the distance, the buildings and storehouses blasted out of existence leaving but a bare, smoldering expanse.

THESE sheet iron storehouses of the Picatinny arsenal piled full of heavy shells, were twisted and warped by the blasts until they looked, observers said, like red shredded wheat. Beyond to the right, can be seen the smoking hillsides that once was the Naval reservation, and where every minute or so a shell still was exploding as the photograph was made.

LONDON BANKERS Sol Upsets HEAR CHURCHILL Formal Dress In The Courts

Says Britain Bearing up Well Under Heavy Strike Strain

LONDON, July 15.—Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, addressing a meeting of London bankers yesterday on the subject of the Anglo-French debt settlement, said it would have been easy for the government to win praise in some quarters by being harsher with France in the debt agreement and using much vigor in its treatment of the debtor as Great Britain had received from her creditors.

But it would not have been wise policy to win cheap cheers and secure a ramshackle reputation for firmness by demonstrating what would not be accepted, or making an agreement that would not be observed.

Alluding to the coal crisis, Mr. Churchill thought it would probably continue for some time longer. Although it was producing grave and deepening effects upon the national wealth, it was a remarkable fact, he noted, that neither the general trade nor the general finances of the country had yet suffered nearly so severely as had been expected when the strike began. The brunt of the strike was falling on parts of the country where trade unionism was the most powerful.

The Times-Star will broadcast this bout from the Canterbury street offices. The battle is due to commence at 11 o'clock, local daylight time.

London, Eng., newspapers give prominence to the statement that the examination to which the ladies objected was made in accordance with a Canadian request and that a Canadian inspector was present at the time. Just who was responsible for the imbroglio is uncertain. The tourists blame the Immigration Department; the Immigration Department puts the responsibility on Canada, and the Canadian Line says it was all a misunderstanding of the definition of term "tourist third class."
