

PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION IN SESSION HERE

Stirring Address of Welcome by Lieut. Governor—Mayor Schofield Also Speaks—Reply from President.

"A land of beauty, a land of plenty, a land in which the people are happy" was the way Lieutenant-Governor William Pugsley described the province of New Brunswick this morning in his address of welcome to the visiting druggists in attendance at the ninth annual meeting of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association. The early part of the morning was taken up with the registration of delegates. George O. Spencer, president of the New Brunswick druggists, was in the chair and with him on the platform were his honor the lieutenant-governor, his aide-de-camp, Col. A. McMillan, D. S. O., J. E. Tremblé of Montreal, president of the Dominion Association, G. E. Gibbard of Toronto, secretary-treasurer, E. Nesbit of Winnipeg, a past president, P. S. Mearns of Toronto, solicitor for the association, and Mayor Schofield.

In calling the meeting to order Mr. Spencer said that the New Brunswick druggists were glad to have their brother druggists to the province. The organization, he said, was purely Canadian, and was doing its utmost to assist the government in the observance of the laws. The deputy minister of health had said that ninety per cent of Canadian druggists are absolutely honest in the observance of the law and of the other one per cent, one-half got into trouble through no fault of their own. Mr. Spencer called upon Governor Pugsley to speak.

Important Organization. The governor expressed the great pleasure it gave him to be able to welcome the druggists to the province. He considered the Pharmaceutical Association one of the most important in Canada, as it was so closely related to the health of the people. He dwelt on the importance of good health and on the efforts of the druggists. In this work New Brunswick was doing its part.

The druggists were meeting today in happy times. The world had passed through a ruinous, desolating, miserable war and had emerged with scars. Brighter times, however, were in sight. There was to be a conference soon in Washington on the disarmament and there was a strong possibility of the eastern question being settled soon. The dark spot on the horizon today was the unhappy condition of Ireland. There was a truce there and the British government had gone to great lengths in an endeavor to effect a settlement. The link which bound Canada to the Mother Country was no thicker than a piece of silk thread, but it was stronger than the strongest piece of iron which could be forged. In closing he urged all the visitors to make it a point not to leave St. John before seeing the great dry dock in process of construction at Goulet Bay and also to go to the West Side and there see the provisions which had been made for the reception of great ocean going steamers. He considered the dry dock as a sort of baby of his own, of which he was very proud and predicted great things for it.

Mayor Schofield. Mr. Spencer called on Mayor Schofield. He had a sort of brother feeling for druggists. Some years ago he had spent some time with a wholesale drug firm in Hartford, Conn. Hon. James I. Fellows of Feltow's Hypophosphites fame, had been an uncle of his. His wife had been the daughter of a well known druggist, so he had had some little experience in drug matters. He referred to the dry dock and the harbor and urged all the visitors to see them. He suggested that visitors to the bridge and there explain to them the wonderful workings of the reversing falls.

President Replies. John E. Tremblé of Montreal, president of the association, replied briefly to the address of welcome to a province by the lieutenant-governor. He paid a tribute to Governor Pugsley, describing him as a democratic governor and a leading figure in the Dominion. He thanked the governor and mayor for their welcome. His remarks were supplemented by E. Nesbit of Winnipeg, a past president, who said this was his first appearance in New Brunswick and he appreciated the warmth of the welcome. John E. Tremblé then took the chair and the meeting adjourned.

Druggists from eight provinces in Canada are in attendance at the convention. British Columbia is the only province having no representation, and this was due to a technicality which was righted. Among those here is E. Nesbit of Winnipeg, who was president of the five years during the war. Five of the charter members of the association are present. They are S. H. Backer of St. John, G. A. Burbridge of Halifax, J. E. Tremblé of Montreal, G. E. Gibbard of Toronto, and P. S. Mearns of Toronto. Among others present are C. C. Fuller of Amherst, Alexander Stewart of Guelph, Ont., T. E. McLean of Galt, Ontario, W. J. MacMillan, president of the Saskatchewan society,

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

SETTLES A BIG GOLFING DISPUTE

Does the Club Really Follow the Ball After Impact?—Imperial Will Settle This Argument Tomorrow.

One of the most interesting single reels on a sporting subject is one dealing with the various strokes and fine points from Toronto for Wednesday's programme. Alex. J. Morrison, the Canadian expert, is the demonstrator, first in normal-speed movies and then in the slow motion. The slow motion pictures analyze the movement of the arms, impact with the ball, flight of the ball and all the essential things that happen after the swing. Driving strokes, mashie shots, putting strokes, holing out, bunker shots, etc., are most gorgeously depicted in ultra-slow motion so that golfers may learn how to correct their style if faulty. The feature picture is "My Lady's Latch Key," with Katherine McDonald as the star. There will be an Edgar comedy, Booth Tarlington fun.

WAGE FIGHT MUST COME TO AN END

Glenn E. Plumb Has New Plan for Reorganizing Industry—Labor Must Assent. Within the next two years the school of thought which has dominated the American Federation of Labor, holding that there was no such thing as public interest and contending that all a wage-earner cared for was the amount contained in his wage envelope, will have passed, to be succeeded by a broader element represented by such men as Warren Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; Sidney Hillman, the powerful leader of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America; William Johnson, president of the International Association of Machinists; and others grouped about them who realize that the eternal fight for wages must cease.

This was the prediction made by Glenn E. Plumb, counsel for the railroad brotherhood, who was in Toronto this week to address the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen.

Mr. Plumb has been associated with the heads of the brotherhoods in developing the Plumb plan of public ownership of the railroads in the United States, and has followed it up with another plan for the reconstruction of industry which, he says, has the support of the brotherhoods and other progressive organizations of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Plumb discussed his plan for the reorganization of industry. He stated that it depended upon political action, not that it expected any hope of success until this policy became a public policy, and not a Labor policy. He stated that this proposition would be encountered within the American Federation of Labor by a Labor political organization, but this, he stated, would be difficult.

Mr. Plumb pointed out that the Constitution of the United States, which its Anglo-Saxon progenitor had set down for the government as the maintenance of the common good of the people, their protection, safety and prosperity. Further, no man, no group or corporation, shall be entitled to compensation any greater than the measure of the value of service to the public. Finally, the purpose of government is to secure the life, liberty and the enjoyment by its citizens of the gains of their industry.

He said that the right of a man to the return of capital was recognized as well as the right of a man to what he earned. In industry, he pointed out, there were two elements—the producer and the consumer. The producer had two interests—the price he paid for the commodity and the quality of the article he was producing. The consumer had two interests—the price he paid for the commodity and the quality of the article he was producing.
