TAXPAYER SUGGESTS A DAY FOR THE CHILDREN

Believes the City Might Give a Big Outing Along the Lines Adopted by Mayor Bullock Yesterday

St. John, N. B., July 15, '08.
To the Editor of the Star:

Dear Sir,—In the borough of Brooklyn, New York, a city of 1,500,000 inhabitants, there is what is known as the Brooklyn Sunday School Union. Once a year, usually about June 15th or earlier, the children of the Sunday schools of Brooklyn form in a line and parade in a body to Prospect Park at which place they are addressed by the Governor of the State and a few others high in official life. After a reasonable time spent in the park they march back to a sufficient number of churches to hold them, where they are given a luncheon, more or less elaborate.

This day has come to be recognized as the greatest day in Brooklyn, superseding even the Fourth of July. Everybody in Brooklyn reserves this day as the great day of the year, the merchants dress their windows in honor of the occasion and wherever it is possible for an individual or the city government to participate even in the smallest degree in this day they do so. It was the writer's good fortune to visit Rockwood Park yesterday afternoon, when His Worship, the Mayor, was so generously entertaining several hundred of the children of the city at his own expense. It was a glorious sight to see the children, without scruple of creed or color, either shooting the chutes, riding on the merry-go-round or romping on the green, and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves. Judging from the appearance of their happy faces, this day will go down in their memory as one of the greatest days of their lives. It is needless to say that His Worship has endeared himself to the hearts of the children as very few men have been able to do.

When we stop to consider that the little ones, who now are attending the public schools, will in the space of a very, very few years be called upon to assume the responsibilities of home and state government, and that they must in turn look to the generation following to take up the work where they leave off, it is not well for us to make every sacrifice in order to make their young lives happy, so that in the future the memory of the past will entice them to a nobler and greater citizenship. Would it not be possible for the city to profit by His Worship's example and make a yearly appropriation and set aside one day for the children to have a good time in the same manner as they had yesterday? We find much complaint about the taxes, but I believe that by far the largest percentage of the taxpayers of this city would gladly pay a little more for such a worthy cause. I, for one, would.

Thanking you for this space, I am,
TAXPAYER.

INJURED WHILE TRYING TO STOP A RUNAWAY

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., July 15.—In attempting to stop a team of runaway horses, David Wilson, of New York, formerly head of the Dodge Express Company, was run over and seriously injured here today. Mr. Wilson, accompanied by his wife and daughter, had driven over from their summer residence in Sheffield, and he had left the team standing in the street while he stepped into a store. Seeing the horses start suddenly, he ran out and attempted to grasp the reins, but missed his footing and fell. The wheels passing over his body, causing probable internal injuries. Mrs. Wilson and her daughter, who were on the rear seat of the carriage, escaped injury, as the team was stopped after going a short distance. His condition, tonight was said to be critical.

FROM ANOTHER VIEWPOINT.

"Anyway," said her husband, "you'll give me credit for having sense enough to say nothing."
"Oh, I don't know," rejoined his wife. "Perhaps you haven't sense enough to say anything." — Chicago Tribune.

GIRL SHOTS DOWN DRUNKEN FATHER TO SAVE HER SISTER

'Are You Ready to Die?' Shouts Angry Man—Battle in the Dark—One Attacked, Then 19 Year Old Daughter Picks Up Pistol and Fires Twice

MILLVILLE, N. J., July 13.—Attempting to murder his wife and two daughters, Edwin E. Polhamus, Jr., was shot and perhaps fatally wounded by his daughter, Helen, in his farmhouse on the Mormon road near Delmont late Saturday night.

Polhamus always has been known to his neighbors as a sullen, gloomy man, subject to fits of violent rage. He had made repeated threats against a young man whom he supposed had been attentive to his second daughter, Sarah.

On Saturday morning while he was at work in a field he sent for Helen, his eldest daughter. As she came up to him he stopped her with the words: "You go home, tell Sarah to prepare to die. Tonight I am going to kill her. I will kill you, too, and your mother."

The girl fled to the house in terror and told her brothers and sisters what her father had said. They did not tell the mother, who lay in an upstairs room with a 3-day-old child.

The same afternoon the man drove to Leesburg, a neighboring town, where he met his father, who bears the same name. To him he repeated his threat against his daughter. The old man knelt in the road before his son and begged him not to harm his children.

Polhamus reached his home late in the evening. Three of his daughters were in the house when he arrived—Helen, 15; Sarah, 17, and Mary, 15 years old.

Helen, who drives a mail wagon between Leesburg and Leesburg, is licensed to carry a revolver, and this weapon lay upon the bureau of a bedroom which opens from the living room where his daughters sat.

"If you want me to die, dad, I suppose I am."

Before she had finished the father sprang at her, striking out savagely with his clenched fist. Sarah crouched to avoid the blow, but it struck her upon the temple and she fell limply to the floor. Her father threw himself upon her, beating her with his fists and trampling upon her body with his feet.

Helen caught him by the arm and tried to draw him away. "Don't do that," she begged. "Just sit down and talk it over, dad."

Whirling to face her, the father shouted a vile name and struck Helen with his fist. The blow drove her staggering backward, and she fell on the floor of the adjoining bedroom.

The father followed running. As he groped to find her in the darker room, the girl snatched the revolver from a bureau drawer and fired.

The bullet struck him full in the face. "You shot me," he shrieked, still groping in the dark. Then his hand met her face, and he clutched her throat and threw her to the floor. The girl raised the pistol and fired again, the muzzle pressed against her father's body. His body fell across her lap.

Helen dragged herself free and ran to her feet. With the help of her sisters she carried her father to a couch being into matrimony any unsuspecting male subjects of this state by scents, paints, powder, or perfumes, artificial teeth, false hair, iron stays, corsets, pads, or padding, hoops, or high-heeled shoes low-cut waists, lingerie, lace, variegated drop-ditch or rainbow hostery or by any other deceitful means or artful practices, the marriage, upon conviction, shall be null and void.

AMUSEMENTS.

SOUDANESE PICTURES A TREAT AT NICKEL.

In spite of the rain last evening, the Nickel caught the crowd and everybody enjoyed the excellent photographic of the natives of the Sudan, their work, play and customs. This territory and its people are of especial interest to Britons, particularly since Lord Kitchener did his great work out there. The colored transformation picture, The Magic Dice, was a return to these wonderfully fine trick photos, and the comedy, The Lone Ball, made everybody laugh long and loud. "Skinner's Finish," the Thos. A. Edison feature—the story of the love tribulations of a circus skeleton man—was a unique laugh-factor. Today, besides all these attractive features, Miss Foley will sing a bright and breezy ditty, "The Summer Time," and Mr. Gurney will introduce a character song, "Home Bright I Love You Bright Old Pal." Don't let the children miss the travel views.

What is perhaps one of the picture programmes ever shown in St. John is now on at the Unique. This popular was packed to the doors last evening with a well pleased throng of people. The leading film is called "The Blackmailer," and is one of the best sensational pictures ever exhibited; it also contains an excellent moral. A young married woman has a lover with whom she corresponds regularly. One day on leaving the post office she drops an envelope and a blackmailer picks it up and thus learning her name follows her. After reading her lover's letter she tears it to pieces and throws it away. The blackmailer gathers them up and puts them together. He then goes to the lady's house and showing her the letter demands a large sum of money. She refuses and going to her room poisons herself. "Strained" girl is an excellent comedy. A lady is dressing for the opera and her small daughter takes her perfume bottle while she is absent from the room and fills it with iodine.

The lady on entering the room picks the perfume bottle and throws some of it on her hair without noticing the difference. She then starts for the opera and every one with whom she comes in contact is almost strangled by the odor. The people who occupy the seats near her get up and leave and finally she is herself expelled from the building. Two other new pictures, The Animated Doll and Native Life in Sudan. Do not miss hearing Miss Outous in her new song, "Beside the Old Oak Tree." This young lady is making a decided hit. Mr. Will Harrison will sing Just to be With You.

HAPPY HALF HOUR.

The new programme at the Happy Half Hour yesterday delighted everybody present, both the pictures and the singing making a big hit. E. R. O. was the rule at several shows last evening. Love's Old Sweet Song has been sung here many a time, but never in the finished manner that Holmes and Behanan sang it last evening. Known as it is to almost everyone it is small wonder that cures were demanded after their every appearance. Many of the leading musicians of the city were present last evening for the first time and nothing but astonishment was expressed that two such artists could be heard for the price of admission charged, and many declared the singing alone to be worth a quarter. The say nothing of the balance of the excellent programme. The pictures are Vanderbilt's Coaching Trip from Brighton to London, Eng., The Dynamo, Three Sports and a Hat, a funny comedy; The Cat's Revenge, a black comedy picture; An Effective Hair Grower, a scream, and The Sorcerer's Scissors, a picture full of mystery.

Today the new illustrated songs will be: When You Were a Boy, a late hit, sung by the popular tenor, Whelan; Love's Old Sweet Song today at another late hit sung by Harry Le Roy. Holmes and Buchanan will again sing Love's Old Sweet Song today at every performance, both afternoon and evening, and the same pictures today. New pictures tomorrow. If you haven't heard Holmes and Buchanan do so today; they won't be here always.

N. B. INDIAN AFFAIRS DISCUSSED AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, July 15.

Items were last evening rushed through with great speed and with little discussion. On a vote of $15,000 towards expenses of Canadian representatives to the Olympic games, Dr. Sproule expressed the opinion that it was the height of absurdity. The say nothing of the balance of the tendency of games and sports and too little in the direction of profitable labor. The amount was, however, carried amid cries from both sides of "Longboat," "Longboat."

INDIAN SCHOOL INSPECTION.

On an item of $400 under the head of Indians for salaries in New Brunswick, Hon. Mr. Oliver explained that the vote was for the salary of a new inspector of Indian schools in the province.

Mr. Fowler asked who was to be appointed to the new office? Hon. Mr. Oliver—Rev. Father Ryan. Mr. Fowler thought the money should have been divided between various agents in the province. He suggested that the appointment of Father Ryan had been due to political influence and that it was unnecessary.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley said that if Father Ryan was appointed inspector he would do excellent work. Mr. Crockett held there was no necessity for the appointment of an inspector. Mr. Farrel had done his work well, and if there was to be any increase of salary he should have got it.

FOR BORINGS ON P. E. I.

On items of $25,000 to meet the cost of boring operations for oil, coal, gas, etc., Hon. Mr. Templeman stated that this amount or most of it was intended to be expended in boring for coal on Prince Edward Island, where geologists thought it might be found, though no deposit was known of.

No expenditures had been made for P. E. Island for geological purposes for many years. During the discussion it was stated that a shipment of shale from New Brunswick had been sent to Glasgow, Scotland, to be tested for oil. Dr. Ellis of the geological survey, had been given leave of absence on salary to go to Glasgow to watch the experiments.
