STUMPAGE UNDER TWO GOVERNMENTS.

The amount of this increase and how it is obtained are shown elsewhere. This year, with the lumber industry less active than usual, the province has an income from stumpage alone at least $45,000 and perhaps $50,000 lars or than last year. But last year's income was largely swelled by the change of Government. Mr. Grimmer got about $10,000 in one lump over the amount which the officer of the previous administration had arranged to accept from one operator. No one knows how many scalers' returns were raised after the March election above what they would have been if the votes had gone scalers' returns were raised after the March election above what they would have been if the votes had gone

If full lawful stumpage rates ostensibly in force, was $165,000. If full lawful stumpage had been paid the amount would doubtless have been one-third greater than the revenue of the current year. That is to say it would have been $320,000 a year. If the scaling of 1909 had been done as it was before the change of Government the stumpage revenue would have been $120,000 instead of $240,000.

Those who got off at half or third the lawful charge did not gain the difference supposes that this $160,000 or $200,000 or more a year was a free gift to the lumber operator. He had to pay tribute to the proper persons, and the proper causes. If he did not pay quite so much as he got, he never knew what the claim against him was, or when it would be made, or how often, or by what agent or politician. He was always under obligation, with the additional anxiety that he could not dispute the levy made upon him, was obliged to keep the whole transaction secret, and never a predictions. Usually things do not seem to happen as he promises, but his words are music to the ear.

"Mr. Pugsley spoke highly of the advantages of this port, and stated that in future the Premier and his colleagues would devote their attention to the port of Quebec, which he considered, was the natural terminal port for the important railway and navigation lines. When the Transcontinental was terminated this would be a road which would bring the Western traffic to Quebec in summer and to Moncton in winter. This port had necessarily to be equipped, so as to meet all demands which would be felt within the next few months. The C. P. R. have their main terminus for their Empresses, and the White Star-Dominion line would also have their terminus here, he said. As Minister of Public Works his duty was to work for every province, but this did not prevent him devoting his attention to the port of Quebec."

With the Grand Trunk Pacific carrying western raffic to Quebec in summer and to Moncton in winter, mare does Courtenay Bay come in?

But that was two days ago. Mr. Pugsley is now at John and has varied his solicy to suit the locality.

LIBERALS CANNOT DEFEND HIM

Yesterday The Standard re-printed the declaration of the Liberal Sachville Tribune, announcing that Sir Fred Borden must institute proceedings against Rev. Dr. Pringle. Tae New Glasgow Eastern Chronicle which has for a generation and more been a sort of Liberal oracle in Eastern Nova Scotia, speaks in the same emphatic way in the same sense as follows:—

"Regarding Dr. Pringle's accusations against the Min"ister of Militia, they may be as false as hell; but we "don't know and therefore have nothing particular to "say to the reverend muckraker on the subject. How"ever, the minister should clear himself of the charge or
"resign his seat in the Government. We confess that "he was not ready to meet his accusers in the supreme "court at Kentville. That looked bad. His accusers were
"there, they declared, with the evidence to convict the "issue at that time and put it off to a more convenient
"season. That action did not give his Liberal friends
"confidence in his innocence of the charge made against "him. Until he meets and refutes the charge made
"against him in Kentville, and its renewal by Rev. Dr.

HOW MANY ARE LOST.

The census bureau figures out that the population of the three prairie provinces has increased 300,000 in three years. In 1906 the population showed by enumeration was 800,000. It is now computed to be 1,100,000. This return is made by adding the yearly immigration to the natural increase. But unfortunately this system does not stand the test. The enumeration of 1906 showed that 40 per cent of the immigrants reported as havin is the increase in crown land revenue. this increase and how it is obtained are change of Government the stumpage revenue would have been $120,000 instead of $240,000.

Now this remarkable change has been accomplished by a very simple process. It was effected by the honest and fair administration of the law. All that was needed was a disposition to do right. The scalers are just as willing to return the full quantity as half or one-third. It is easier work to do it right because the old method repulsed a disposition to do right because the old method repulsed a disposition to do right because the old method repulsed a disposition to do it right because the old method repulsed a disposition to do right.

The province is a great gainer. It gains the moral advantage of having honest crown land administration. It gains a great and growing financial advantage. The Surveyor General will find himself in a position to accomplish some things which he greatly desires. A part got what he grains by the honest administration of the standard and the provincial election for the standard.

Surveyor General will find himself in a position to accomplish some things which he greatly desires. A part of what he gains by the honest administration of the public domain, he may devote to the development and protection of the public domain. There are many good uses for any additional revenue which the Government obtains, and every resident of the province has cause to be thankful for this reform. The increased subsidy from Ottawa is paid for by increased federal taxes, but amounts that are rescued from the political toll-taxes are clear gain.
