

DAL BOXERS LOSE IN AMATEUR MEET

Boxing Titles Evade Dal

By FRED HOLLETT

The Rink Rat sponsored Maritime Amateur Boxing Tournament held last Friday and Saturday nights in the Dal gym was an outstanding success, with regard to all save one angle—the lack of Dal champions. Although Jim Cruickshank did emerge as the Heavyweight Champ, this was done in the rather unique manner of not fighting a single round. Jim was handed the trophy because he was the only fighter registered in the 175 lb. and over bracket.

The closest collegians came to another championship was the split decision handed down against Murray Dubchansky in his final Junior Welterweight match with Bryce Burgess. Johnny "Rocket" Williston also was a runnerup, but he placed second in the Middleweight division because of a win saved for him by the rule book.

Vaughn Baird was the only Dal boxer active Friday night as both Williston and Dubchansky drew byes to the semi-finals in their respective divisions.

Vaughn was matched against Archie York, a 151½ Middleweight from Shearwater Navy Base. It took the Manitoba-born Law student 'til the 1.53 mark of the first round to dispose of his sepiatoned opponent. It came about as York was trapped in a neutral corner by the two fisted attack of the shorter collegian, and after being setup by a light left to the midsection was banged on the jaw and off the ropes with a sizzling right crosscut that kept him down for a ten count and then some.

As his opposition Saturday Vaughn drew Joe Tynes, a 148½ pound negro from the Greenwood R.C.A.F. Station, who the night before had scored a T.K.O. win over Karl Kowalsky at 42 seconds of the first round.

Tynes bore in on Vaughn from the opening bell and after a severe pounding received in the early seconds of the first round the lad from the Forrest campus remained on the defensive for the most part.

The R.C.A.F. slugger opened up a bad cut under Vaughn's eye early in the last round. The decision was unanimous for Tynes, who then went on to win the Senior Welterweight title with a 29 second K.O. over Killoran.

Johnny "Ricket" Williston was matched against Bob Leadley, a 155½ pounder from the Shipyards A. C. The smiling shipbuilder had a decided edge throughout most of the match, which featured pier nine wrestling, and toe to toe slugging. Early in the last round, as a result of said wrestling both fighters fell against the ropes, Leadley going through and banging his head solidly on the uncovered boards. He was assisted back into the ring by one of his seconds and so was automatically disqualified and referee Roy Chisholm awarded the match to Williston. The "Rocket" was definitely behind on points at the time.

It was later learned that the Sydney born Med student had received a slight concussion as the result of a previous wrestling spasm in the dying seconds of the second round, at which time he had to be revived by his seconds for the third round. Consequently, Joe Muise, the other semifinalist was awarded the Middleweight Championship.

Dal Girls Win Hockey Title

The Dalhousie girls once again captured the Inter-collegiate ice-hockey title. A round robin tournament was held in the Dal rink on Saturday with Acadia, Mount A. and Dal competing. The McCurdy girls starred for Dalhousie, for it was between Marion and Joan that the goals were scored.

Mount A defeated Acadia in the first game of the afternoon by a score of 4-0. The star of the Mount A team was Dooley Harts, who scored two of the Mount A goals, while Sonny Fradsham and Connie Oxley gained the other two points for the Joe Duffy coached girls.

The second game was played between Dal and Mount A. The final score was 3-0 in favour of the Dal girls. Marion MacCurdy scored the first goal in the first period. Joan MacCurdy scored the other two points in the second period.

Acadia suffered another defeat at the hands of the Dal team in the last game of the afternoon, the final score of this game was 4-0.

Mount A—Dooley Harts, Dot Ellis, Marg Fenwick, Marg Webb, Barb Welton, Jane Livingstone, Sonny Fradsham, Shirley Rowcliff, Dawn Wood, Irma Trueman, Wendy Campbell, Connie Oxley, Peggy Ellis, Nancy Innis, Goals—Ollie Murray.

Acadia — Gwen Smith, Barb Wilson, Pat Campbell, Dee Levine, Janet MacGray, Nancy MacFarlane, Isobel Bishop, Gwen Kell, Alice Rice, Betty Lombard, Marg Stobo, Doreen Wells, Georgia Wood, Kay Henderson, Marg McFetridge, Mary Hennigar.

Dal — Forwards, Hazel Sharpe, Joan MacCurdy, Marion MacCurdy, Beth Thompson, Carol Chepeswick, Janet Petrie, Patty MacLeod; Defence, Jessie Forbes, Marg McMyrtle, Bernadine Melanson, Ethel Smith; Goals, Helen Snow.

Murray Dubchansky's first match of the night was scratched as a result of the injury picked up by proposed opponent Larry Callighen, in his Friday night bout.

So, at approximately ten minutes before ten Murray squared off with Bryce Burgess, a 145 pounder out of Wanderers A.A.C. and a former Maritime Lightweight champ. Earlier in the evening Bryce had flattened Dick Haines for a third round infinity count.

Dubchansky, the original Dal Tiger, traded punches with the cool and calculating beverage executive throughout the match, neither fighter able to capitalize on the shifting advantage, and the unanimous decision handed Burgess, couldn't be said to have met with the unanimous approval of the crowd.

Orchids to Dons Kerr and Goode, Gabe Vitalone and Company for a job well done.

UGH says Bryce Burgess as a Murray Dubchansky "left" connects to the head. Burgess rallied to gain a split decision in one of the best bouts of the Maritime Amateur Championships Meet.

WOT, NO HEADS is your first impression but hidden behind the outstretched heads and gloves are Johnny Williston of Dal and Bob Leadley from the Shipyard A.C. Both fighters had tough luck later in the evening. First Leadley was knocked out of the square circle and when he was helped back in by his handlers he was disqualified. Later it was learned that Williston had a slight concussion and was not allowed to continue. With all their tough luck the boys put on as good a Pier Nine brawl, as you'll see anywhere.

Sydney Y.M.C.A. To Meet Dalhousie

Saturday night at the Dal Gym the Basketball Tigers will play host to the visiting Sydney Y.M.C.A. team.

The Sydney crew are highly rated and some observers believe them to be the team that end St. F. X. superiority on the court. Their star studded lineup features two former St. F. X. greats in the person of Rudy Pace and Mooney Morrison. Led by these two, the team has racked up a very impressive record this year and in meeting Dal they will face one of their tougher tests so far.

The team is coached by the well known Pat Patterson, who is at the helm of the "Y" squad for the first season. Patterson will be remembered as the man who coached Sydney Academy to no less than six Maritime Championships.

All in all it will prove to be quite a test for the up and coming Dal team.

Game time is 8 o'clock. Admission is 35 cents for Dal students.

Estelle McLean Commerce Campus Queen Candidate

Estelle McLean has been chosen as candidate for campus queen by the Commerce Society, it was announced yesterday at a meeting of that group.

She is a third year Arts student, coming from New Glasgow. She is well known around the campus for her participation in the many activities.

At that meeting of the Commerce Society, the nominees for Commerce representative on the Student Council were elected. They are Bill Schwartz and Dave Jardine. Doug Clancy was elected for Commerce representative on the DAAC.

NFCUS Delays—

The executive said that in considering the issue it respected "The wishes of the Canadian students (who) realize that reconsideration of this issue runs counter to the express decision of the September conference."

It was in reference apparent to a claim by a Laval University student that decision of a National conference ought to be altered only by a subsequent conference and not by any mail votes.

Smith Shield—

The Shield was presented by Sydney Earle Smith, professor at the Law School from 1921 to 1925.

At the conclusion of the argument, the three presiding judges retired to make their decision. They returned and gave the decision first.

Mr. Justice Currie delivered the opinion of the court which was that the case ought to go back for retrial.

Chief Justice Doull then announced the winners of the shield. Both winners are well known at Dalhousie.

Ron Macdonald is now president of the Law Society while Bruce Lockwood is vice-president of the Students' Council and past editor of the Dalhousie Gazette.

Mr. Justice Currie then said a few words to the court. He complimented all the counsel, pointing out that their preparations have required intense study which was all the more difficult because the report of the trial judge was not available. He said work of this kind requires study, thought and work and added that the Law School can well be proud that they are turning out such fine students.

Mr. Bethune also added words of compliment and advice saying that lawyers must be very careful and accurate in preparing their cases.

In conclusion, Frank Gallant, chairman of this year's Moot Court committee thanked the three men for presiding at the case and for the interest which they have shown.
