CERTAIN OF VICTORY

Rome, Jan. 12.—The Osservatore Romano yesterday published the text of an important encyclical addressed by the Pope to the French Catholics.

In this document the Pontiff said that his chief object in addressing the faithful in France was to comfort them in their sufferings, which he felt deeply. There was, however, great consolation in the fact that the Catholics of France were united.

France were united.

The French Government's declaration of war was not only against the Christian faith, but against all spirit-

Christian faith, but against all spiritual ideas.

The French Catholics must be prepared for all sorts of trials, but they were certain of final victory. This meant the maintenance of their union with the Holy See, which was of the greatest importance, as shown by the efforts of the enemies of the church to dissolve the union.

Contrary to the statements made on the subject, the church did not desire a religious war, involving violent persecutions, as she did not desire to see her children suffering.

Indifference or carelessness with regard to these matters cannot with any show of justice be imputed to the British Government.
