XMAS A DAY OF TERROR.

Hard Lines of the Players Who Entertain Theater Crowds.

In the vaudeville houses where continuous performances are given Christmas day strikes terror to the most time hardened dramatic soul.

The doors open anywhere between 9:30 and 10:30 a. m. and close at about midnight. The headliners play their customary two turns, but those lower in the dramatic scale play "on demand," generally about four times If an act is particularly weak, it is used to "chase" out the audience—in plain English, to tire it into leaving the house and making room for the line waiting in the lobby.

The low salaried vaudeville actor. Chemically pure iron does not exist commercially. The purest irons are those from Yorkshire and Swedish ores. therefore, eschews any Christmas dinner and hies himself to the nearest quick lunch counter, there to feast on turkey sandwiches, execrable coffee and pie as heavy as his spirits. By the time he has done his last turn on America is about $50,000,000, and the annual cost of their maintenance is the stage he is more ready for bed than for the festive board.

To the unsuccessful actor Christmas is likely to bring that blessing of the Rialto, a "turkey date." Scattered within easy access of New York are numerous small cities, or, more properly speaking, towns, where good shows never come. Of these the catchpenny manager keeps a list, and on quick notice he scours Broadway for cheap, unengaged talent, from which he erganizes his company, rehearses it hastily in some playhouse conveniently idle at the time, rushes some cheap printing upon the poor, un-suspecting town and lands there suspecting town and lands there bright and early Christmas merning. The population, show hungry, wel-comes the holiday diversion and packs the town hall, matinee and night

Asthma is bad enough, but when bronchial symptoms are added the poor sufferer has almost an intolerable existence. An absolute specific is found in fragrant, healing Catarrhozone, which cures chronic cases that other remedies won't even relieve. "For years," writes Capt. MacDonald, of Montreal, "I battled with the agonies of bronchitic asthma. Often I couldn't sleep for nights at a time. I spent thousands on doctors and medicines without relief, but one delar's worth of Catarrhozone cured The actors are thus assured of a good Christmas dinner and supper and a percentage of the box office receipts. Usually these are divided according to the importance of the roles played by the actors. This will tide them over until New Year's day, which brings an-

One in particular tells how, with five associates, he put on "The Clemenceau Case," not abashed that the cast called for no less than twelve capable actors, and was quite radiant over the returns of "one Christmas dinner with trimmings" and $120 to be divided among the actors.-Washington Post.

"Barring out" was one of the Christmas customs greatly in vogue in England three centuries ago. It is a custom that obtains not only in England, curative properties of Chamberlain's cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonis, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had to this day, although it is not particular larly a Christmas custom in our country. "Barring out" was the keeping of bors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartly thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Congh Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. If the boys were able to keep the teacher out of the schoolhouse for three days and nights he was bound by all the laws of the custom to come to terms with the boys and to grant them all that they demanded in the way of half helidays and abbreviated lesson hours and extended recesses.

If, on the other hand, the teacher outwitted the boys and regained poss sion of the schoolroom, the chagrined pupils were bound to submit to such terms as he chose to dictate. As these they covered the space of an inch you would find after completing the task that you had handled exactly 1,009 terms usually included the severe trouncing of all the boys having anything to do with the barring out of the teacher, the boys were on the alert to keep him from defeating them. More than one Christmas time of rejoicing entirely recovered from his attack of rheumatism. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him after the best doc-tors in the town (Monon, Ind.) had has been turned into a time of weeping and wailing on the part of boys whom some barred out teacher has defeated. —Leslie's Weekly.

A Laundry List For Christs For a laundry list sottain a delicate book slate with two or three leaves and bound in cloth. From embroidery linean cut a piece sufficiently large to face the front and back and with a margin a quarter of an inch wide all around. On one-half of the piece mark the words "Laundry List" within a frame at the middle, and to decorate the remainder of the plece draw a conventional flower design.

When the work is finished, apply the linen to the slate and cover with glue by turning the edges over and making them fast to the inside on a narrow edge of the cloth binding that is usually left between the edge of the slate part and the binding.

At the top hinge corner attach a ring with bow and ribbons, by means of which it can be hung in a convenient place, and at the kaot tie a piece of string hulf a yard long, to the end of which a pencil may be attached. For a laundry list ebtain a delicate Christmas Wonder Oranges.

The wonder orange may be used to conceal small Christmas gifts, and it also makes a pretty decoration for the tree. Take a good sized ball of coarse orange colored worsted and begin winding it about the present. If the gift is not symmetrical enough to admit this, first wrap it in crushed tissue paper.

After the worsted is completely wound so as to make a ball the size of a big orange fasten green tissue paper leaves in a cluster about where the step should be and a loop of baby orange ribbon with which to hang it up. The wonder orange can also be used to stuff into the toe of some expectant Christmas stocking.

Merry Christmas!

Be merry all, be merry all!

With holly dress the feative hell;

To welcome merry Christmas.

ARCHITECT'S EPPERIMENTS.

Church Built by One Man—Sealskins and Snew, With Provision Bexes for Pewa, Served Esquimo.

At Stivichall, near Coventry, may be seen a church that—among Eng-lish Churches at all events—possesses the unique distinction of having been built by the unaided efforts of one man alone. The name of this persis-tent and assiduous workman was John Green, a stonemason of Coven-try, who laid the first stone in 1810, and finished his self-imposed task when the Rev. C. H. Sellwood Goodwin came into the living of St. Aidan's, near Middlesbrough, he found his flock without a place of worship. For a time he was at his wits' end and knew not what to do, for the cost of even a temperary wooden structure was far beyond the very limited means of the poor neighborhood. But, tenacious to his purpose and a man of resource, he did not remain long idle, and having been fortunate enough to secure a suitable site, set to work himself to dig the foundations. Such energy and enthusiasm proved contagious, and every Saturday af-contagious, and every Saturday afternoon, and often, too, on other evenings after working hours, a crowd of willing assistants might be seen aiding their pastor in his laudable design. Gifts of timber, bricks, glass, slates, etc., were not wanting, and after several weeks of hard but pleasant toil these zealous workers were rewarded by the possession of a church of which any parish would have been proud.

A worthy missionary, the Rev. E.

Peck, rose to the occasion when having no church for his Eskimo comgregation, he constructed one out of snow-blocks—a rude but efficient structure, that served its purpose of protecting its occupants from biting winds that often raged around.
The seats, the altar, and all else within were likewise made of snow.
On Blacklead Island, Cumberland

Sound, this same missionary dis-played his further ingenuity by utili-zing in the erection of a place of worship some forty sealskins, which were sewn together and stretched over a frame-work of whale's ribs. For seats old provision boxes and boards did duty. The pastor, how-ever, reckoned without his parishioners' dogs, which, pressed by hunger, partially devoured the church, and were only driven off with great difficulty. The rents that their vorocity had made in the sealskins were sub

The Chapel of Transfiguration, which belongs to Conanicut Island, Narragansett Bay, is built on wheels so that it can be transferred from place to place as need requires. church.

This unique place of worship, which is built upon a flat-bottomed lighter, is 30 feet in length by 7 feet in height, and cost $350 to erect. It contains, in addition to benches for the choir, thirty-six chairs (or the use of the congregation, a small organ, and a reading desk. On the whole it answers most satisfactorily, though certain of the worshipers have, through the gentle rocking of the boat, experienced at times the the boat, 'experienced at times the qualms of sea sickness.

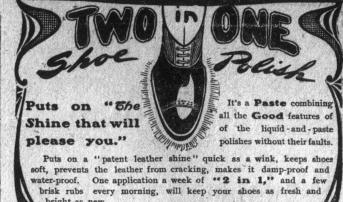

A Blast From Labouchere. I am not a connoisseur of philosophy any more than of poetry. Muc that passes as fine philosophy strikes me as very poor stuff, and whenever I have formed this opinion about the writings of any particular philosoph-I have formed this opinion about the writings of any particular philosopher, frequently more than one, takes the same view. I suppose it is as easy to set up as a philosopher as to set up as a point of the first essentials—after pen, ink and paperare a smattering of general knowledge and the power of concealing poverty of thought by grandiloquent obscurity of expression. A new system of philosophy—and the fashions in such goods change almost as quickly as in bonnets—is generally constructed by clothing threadbare ideas in new words and phrases and contradicting one or more of the acknowledged masters of the craft, ancient or modern.—London Truth.

The "Beg Wagen" in Leaden.

London by night is shortly to have a unique attraction in the shape of an elegant traveling restaurant, which will perambulate the street for the benefit of those who desire refreshment better than that provided at the ordinary coffee stall, says. The London Mail. The traveling restaurant consists of a lavishly ornamented van some twenty feet long by six in width, with a doorway at the side, to which the customer ascends from the street by a miniature flight of steps. Colored glass panels bearing allegorical designs form the windows round the sides, and the back of the car bears in large letters the announcement, "Night lunch." The "Deg Wagon" in London.

A Cheerful Custem.

In certain back country districts of England on Jan. 1, which is called Childermas, every child is soundly spanked before breakfast. The date is supposed to be the anniversary of the actual day upon which Herod slew the innocents. Therefore, to keep the memory of the slaughter fresh in the minds of the rising generation, subscribers to the ancient customs are bidden to whip their children before they rise on the morning of that day.

TO CURE FEVER CHILLS.

And such complaints as "Shivers" and ague we recommend Nerviline very highly. Twenty drops of Ner-viline taken in hot water with a little sugar three times daily not only stops the chills but knocks out the disease completely. Nerviline had a direct action on fever chills and removes the conditions causing them. In stomach and bowel troubles Nerviline never fails. To keep a rubber plant in condition it must have plenty of earth, plenty of water and a shower bath once a week When it has dried, after this bath wipe the leaves and sponge them with milk. This treatment acts as food as well as making them rich.

"Quick lunch" is one of the commonest of city signs. The sign does not say "a healthy lunch of good food—the character of the food apparently is not considered. It's just a quick lunch,—eat and get away. Is it any wonder that the stomach breaks down?" Food in the stomach breaks wonder that the stomach breaks down? Food is thrown at it, sloppy, indigestible and innutritious food; very often, and the stomach has to do the best it can. Normally, there should be no need for medical assistance for the stomach. But the average method of life is abnormal and while this centinues there will always be a demand for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the one medicine which can be relied on to cure diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It is a medicine designed for the stomach, and to cure through the stomach remote diseases which have their cause in the derangement of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system. It cures when all else fails.
