

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., OCT. 14, 1904.

Dr. Sawyer's Lecture.

The lecture delivered in College Hall on Friday evening last in connection with the formal opening of the College was well attended and highly appreciated. The subject was, 'In the Gallery, or a View of the Past.' Dr. Sawyer passed in review the last sixty years, referring to looks of various kinds as illustrative of the life of the past in relation to the life of the present. He spoke of social life and seemed to consider it of a higher order in some respects than that of the present. The books read in families and with which it was bad form not to be familiar were of a higher order than those now popular. Milton, Dickens, Scott, Hawthorne were read by the people, and even Cowper, around an open fire. Burns and Byron were appreciated. Now there are so many diversions that serious reading is not so popular.

In university books, also, there has been a revolution. The larger range of studies has narrowed the range of each, and new books are made to suit the needs.

In science there has been extensive research and a great change in the bearing of scientific thought on religious questions. Yet through it all Dr. Sawyer believes there has been no loss to religion. The bible still leads as the best selling book.

The men of one age make the books of that age, and while these represent the thought of that time they are not permanent. The certainties of science of one age are considered nonsense by the next, and so on from generation to generation. We must accept, then, certainties, but must also be ready to drop them for the new certainties that will surely be set forth. Amid all the changes, however, we abide, and the Divine Being changes not.

Wolfville people are always glad to hear Dr. Sawyer. For many years he was our foremost citizen, and he retains the confidence and respect of the people as he possessed it when his duties gave the citizens the privilege of hearing him more frequently. His address on Friday evening was in form, matter and delivery worthy of his reputation as a man of learning, ability and wide culture.

Town Council Meeting.

The adjourned regular meeting of the Council was held at the town hall on Tuesday evening.

Couns. Fitch, Duncanson, Tingley and Wallace and the recorder were present.

Coun. Fitch occupied the chair at the beginning of the meeting, but arrived and took his seat.

The Streets and Poor Committees presented reports of routine work done in these departments.

A letter was read from Mr. Henry A. Peck, declining to accept the office of Scott Act Inspector as he is not now a resident of the town.

The following accounts were read and ordered to be paid:

The chairman of the Sewerage Committee reported that Mr. Herbin wished to make some changes in the sewer so as to allow him to properly connect the small building on Linden Avenue.

Resolved, that we grant Mr. Herbin the privilege to put in a new length of pipe with Y at suitable angle, he bearing the expense.

Resolved, that the Town Clerk insert in THE ACADIAN a notice that all rates and taxes unpaid by the 1st of November will be collected by law.

The chairman of the Streets Committee was requested to notify all persons having barbed wire fences on the line of the street that they must be removed at once.

A Thoughtful Priest

POINTS OUT TO MOTHERS THE WAY TO KEEP THEIR CHILDREN WELL AND HAPPY

Rev. J. L. Francoeur, Casselman, Ont., is a kind hearted priest who has done much to alleviate suffering among the little ones in the homes of his parishioners. Writing under a recent date he says: 'I must say that Dr. Williams' Baby's Own Tablets are deserving of the high praise they have had as a cure for the ailments of children. For the past eight months I have been introducing them in many families, and always, the mothers tell me, with perfect results. Their action is always effective, without any sickly reaction, and they are especially valuable in allaying pains in the head, fever in teething, nervousness, sleeplessness, spasms, cramps in the stomach and bowels, colic and other troubles. Their regulating action gives almost instant relief, and gives speedy cure. This is the comforting experience that has come to my knowledge out of their judicious use. I am glad to give you my sincere testimony, and I will recommend the Tablets to all mothers and nurses of sick children as I have done heretofore.'

These Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers, or sent by mail on receipt of the enclosed amount. Price, 25 cents per box.

There are very serious reasons why an investigation is necessary. Robinson was either guilty, or he was innocent. If he was guilty, his execution, though a solemn and dreadful act, was a duty. If he was innocent it was a judicial murder, of which the whole community is guilty. Did those who gathered to aid in carrying out the sentence of the law seem greatly impressed with the dreadful solemnity of the occasion? No! If reports are true, they rather seemed inspired by the spirit which possesses an assembly of United States citizens upon the burning of a negro. Unless the conduct of those present at the execution is investigated and the guilty parties punished the death of Robinson will go down in history as an instance of

An Unfinished Speech.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN:

DEAR SIR,—In reporting the proceedings at a political meeting held in Kentville on the 8th inst. to nominate a candidate in the county of Kings for the next Parliament of Canada, the 'Morning Chronicle,' of Halifax, says: 'Captain Tingley moved that "We nominate Sir Frederick Borden who has won the confidence, esteem and respect not only of his county but—" the rest was drowned in applause.'

I am credibly informed that this newspaper report is correct in this particular. As Captain Tingley fills the office of Past Worthy Patriarch of Wolfville Division of the Sons of Temperance, and also the sacred office of Deacon in the Wolfville Baptist Church, his speech and work on such a public occasion cannot, in the public mind, be divorced from his dual representative capacity; and his personal nomination of the man Borden, as against the man Innes, to stand for us in parliament, will doubtless take effect in influencing Church and Temperance votes. I am a member of the Wolfville Baptist Church, in a humble way, and I have some interest in true Temperance, though not a 'Son' under the Patriarchal dispensation. I am also an elector of the County of Kings, now called upon to exercise this franchise for the first time. With these qualifications, I cherish the hope that Captain Tingley will not deem it impertinent in me to ask him as a man in public life, bearing the added responsibilities of high office among moral reformers and in religious work, the following questions, which I trust he will see fit to answer in your columns.

1.—When and how has the candidate Borden "won the confidence" of Kings county?

(a) in his public life in this county.

(b) in his public life at large.

(c) in his life as a man and a citizen within the county.

(d) in his life as a man and a citizen beyond the limits of the county.

2.—When and how has the candidate Borden "won" either "the esteem" or "the respect" of this county?

(a) in his public life in this county.

(b) in his public life at large.

(c) in his life as a man and a citizen within this county.

(d) in his life as a man and a citizen beyond the limits of the county.

If Captain Tingley's speech had not been "drowned" at the "but" (by applause), no doubt he would have given the county, through the 'Chronicle,' sufficiently cogent reasons for the faith that is in him, and for the broadly stated and unqualified eulogy of his nominee as above reported. Is it too much to ask him to furnish, in the press, for the enlightened and unenlightened alike, a speech, which, to our undoubted loss, prematurely left his career in the "But"?

Boyd's memories recall the unfortunate Duke of Clarence (or some other Duke in English history) who was drowned in a butt of malmsey.

To have this speech, which gave promise of so much enlightenment, ruthlessly ended in a "But" and "drowned in applause," is less tragic than that, yet the catastrophe must have been as disappointing to the speaker as it is to a new elector who is a seeker after truth.

To complete the Captain's deliverance in these matters, I would be glad to have him point out wherein consists the superiority, in the respects I have enumerated, of the man he nominates and sets up for us to vote for, as compared with the other candidate for our suffrages, nominated by I know not whom.

You're truly,

W. F. PARKER.

Wolfville, Oct. 10th, 1904.

That Execution.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN:

Dear Sir,—While I feel inclined to agree with your Kentville contemporaries in the opinion that the disgraceful conduct said to have taken place at the recent execution in Kentville should be investigated otherwise than through the medium of the local press, I think it only right that the press should continue to call for such investigation, and to show reasons why it should be held.

The Crown Prosecutor, we are told, 'did all he could to keep order.' This fact, which can be proved on the authority of four-fifths of the newspapers in Canada, is eminently satisfactory to the friends of the official referred to. But the fact involves an added responsibility. Being present and doing 'all he could to keep order' he knows who were the persons guilty of disorderly conduct, and also who would be available as witnesses against them. Is it not his duty then to institute prosecutions against the guilty parties, or, if an investigation is necessary, to initiate that investigation?

There are very serious reasons why an investigation is necessary. Robinson was either guilty, or he was innocent. If he was guilty, his execution, though a solemn and dreadful act, was a duty. If he was innocent it was a judicial murder, of which the whole community is guilty. Did those who gathered to aid in carrying out the sentence of the law seem greatly impressed with the dreadful solemnity of the occasion? No! If reports are true, they rather seemed inspired by the spirit which possesses an assembly of United States citizens upon the burning of a negro. Unless the conduct of those present at the execution is investigated and the guilty parties punished the death of Robinson will go down in history as an instance of

The Exhibition.

Friday's attendance at the exhibition was in no way a disappointment. Over sixteen hundred people visited the show during the day and evening, bringing the total attendance up to about 3500. Had Thursday been fine there would have been many more visitors. Friday evening the building was crowded, and all appeared to be much pleased with the exhibit. The Canning band rendered a fine program which was much enjoyed. The show was formally closed by Sir Frederick Borden.

Some of the exhibits were removed after the close of the show and the balance on Saturday, when the buildings and grounds presented a lively appearance. Secretary Porter and his assistants were kept busy issuing prize checks, and assisting exhibitors in locating and removing their goods. While all the matters in connection with the exhibition have not yet been arranged it is safe to say that the deficit, if any, will not be large. Good order prevailed throughout the whole show and the affair was most creditably conducted throughout.

We give below a partial list of the prize-winners, and the balance will appear next week. Names are given in order for first, second, third and fourth prizes:

Acadia Choral Club.

The music loving public will be interested to learn that Acadia Choral Club is about to resume work for the season 1904-1905, under the direction of Mr. G. F. Maxum.

All those who are interested in such work, and who would like to be enrolled, are requested to meet in Aldman Hall, Acadia Seminary, Monday evening, October 17, at 7:30 o'clock.

The fee, which will include admission to any and all concerts, has been placed at $1.50. The cost of the music will be considerably less than first year.

The plans for the year contemplate several features both of a choral and musical nature, which will be extremely interesting and profitable to all interested in musical work. It is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of this opportunity, and be present to join on the evening mentioned, October 17th.
