CAPTAIN CANOT. THE SLAVER Below we give some extracts from this book, It is a perfect revelation of the alave trade by one who was for twenty years engaged in it. The following extracts relate to scenes which occurred on abia-board.

ENGOL SHET, TO ROADDAN

PMALL-POX IN A SLAVER.

Bot wit and eleverness are not all in this world. Our captain retarmed in high spirits to his vessel; but we hardly reached the open see before he was prostrated with an ague which re-fused to yield to ordinary reundice, and finally ripened into a fever, that deprived him of reason. Other dangers thickened around us. We had been several alayed of deverse gales, when word was brought me after a night of weary watching, that several alayes wire iil of amall-pox. Of all calamities that occur in the voyage of a elayer, this is the most dreaded and unmanageable. The news appalled me. Impetuous with anxiety I rashed to the captain, and regardless of fever and teamities that occur in the voyage of a elayer. This is the most dreaded and unmanageable. The invest and pointing to a long coil of combustible meterial, said that it communicated through the decks with the powder magazine, and ordered me to "blow up the brig." The master's madness sobered his mate. I that in the set' are inquiry and consultation as to our despera tate. The gale thad lasted nine days without inter-mission, and during all this time with an onuch into the eat'. are inquiry and consultation as to our despera tate. The gale thad lasted nine days without inter-mission, and during all this time with and suc-parted during the tempera, a careful inspection of the body was made, and it was this that first dis-locued the pessifience in our midst. The corpus west entity throw into the sea, and the malady index was made, and it was the that first dis-locued the pessifience in our midst. The corpus was do and a death ansotance. As life had de-parted during the tempera, a careful inspection of the body was made, and it was during its may the and the averen, which all recked horriby with human vapor, even after ventilation. But here, also I found one of the negroes infected with the disease. We took couseal as to the use of human may be the negroes infected with the disease. broken water-easks, or billets of wood, found in the hold. The suddenness of this outbreak did or appal me, for, in the dangerous life of Africa, a trader must be always admonsthed and never of his guard. The blow that prostrated the first white man was the excleat symptom I detected of the rowlt, but, in an instant, I had the arm-ever, did not stand so well forward of the main-wast. Four of the bands were disabled by clubs, while the rest defended themselves and the sounded as well as they could with handspittes, or whatever could suddenly be clutched. I have always regretted that I left Ayudah on my homeward voyage without interpreters to aid in the necessary intercourse with our slaves. There was no use on bard who understoud a word of their dialect. Many complaints from the negoes that would have been dismissed or satis-factorily adjusted, had we comprehended their vivacious tongues and grievances were pissed over in silvnes or hushed with the lash. Indeed, the which show me the ender of the Nethel the whip alone was the emblem of La Estrella's discipline; and in the end it taught me the sad deet of leasons.

lived with a pent up volcano beneath us, and, day and night, we were caselessly vigilant. Terror reigned supreme, and the hash was its sceptre. At last, we made land at Porto Rico, and were with v passing its beautiful shores, when the in-spector called my attention to the sppearance of one of our attendant slaves, whom we had drilled us a sort of cabin-boy. He was a gentle, intelli-gent child, and had won the hearts of all the effi-
