THE BATHURST INQUIRY.

Out Before Election

BATHURST, June 2.- The rev. father Varrily stood aside to be recalled on the production of certain letters. Dr. Inch, who was recalled, recollected a change in the manual in the printer's hands; he did so because it was necessary for the benefit of education throughout the province. It was not specially changed urst. He had an application before making the change from the district of Sackville to permit the renting of a building for a school. He could not grant the permit as regulation 10 was not amended. Several other changes were made while in the printer's hands. He had a conversation with the Bathurst trustees who objected to the regulation as at first printed. Dr. Inch gave the history of the refusal of the board to grant permission to Edward O'Brien to teach in the grammar school. He explained the matter of the Elizabeth Arseno examination. He refused the examination because no special examinations were being held. He offered her to come to Fredericton the following week, as it would be cheaper for all concerned. He would have made the change in regulation 10 if the trustees of Bathurst had never objected. The scheme referred to by inspector Mersereau was not a report for the board of education; it was intended for the attorney general only. No arrangements were made whereby the pupils of district 15 came to district 16 to receive religious instruction. In the schools taught by the sisters of charity the arrangement was made to permit the pupils of district 15 to be taught in school district 16, because there was no room in school 15. The teacher was a sister, but received no salary from 16. If he knew religion was taught in the school room after regular hours he would not think it was a matter of interference. This arrangement was cancelled and afterwards allowed for short term at the request of the memorialists. He thought it irregular but it covered nothing improper. Mr. O'Brien was not dismissed from the inspectorship on account of immoral habits. The board of education acted as promptly as it could in the matter of refusing permission to O'Brien to teach the grammar school.

The arrangements submitted by rev. Mr.

The arrangements submitted by rev. Mr. Thomson in 1892, are substantially now in force in the village schools.

Mr. White read a memorial from 28 rotestant ratepayers sent to the board of cation on the 13th January, 1891, inluding rev. Geo. D. Peters, rector of St. Genquert Episcopal church, expressing his satisfaction at the introduction of sisters under the law, and saying that no injustice was done.

Mr. Skinner objected to classing Mr. O'Brien as a protestant. Mr. O'Brien-Mr. Skinner changes polies so often he thinks I do the same in

Dr. Inch-Great difficulty is always experienced in grading where French and English children attend school. You can't divide 150 pupils in three schools of 50 each. I understand school hours to be from 9 a. m. until they close in the evening. If the catechism was taught between 12 and 12.30 in one department and the other branches in another department I would not allow it. I will not permit the catechism between 12 and

Anna Ethel Corbett attended the superior school at Petit Roche, taught by Jerome Boudreau and Miss Josephine Frenett. Catholic prayers opened school, Miss Frenett then taught catechism, protestant children could leave at catechism hour. Miss Frenett had the catechism up one day that the inspector was to come. Some one said, "There's the inspector.' She sent the class to their seats and hid the catechism. My father and mother knew of teaching the prayers and said I should not learn them. I never spoke to the teacher or trustees about this. All knelt; I knelt, but never was asked or forced to. The catholics would cross themselves, the protestants would not. Maud Corbett corroborated Ellen's tes timony. She said, at 9 we draw from Tinware FINEST in Pans, three to four catholic children to say their catechism; if any time before 4 they draw. The catechism is in French. I don't know it. The catholic primary department is not always taught as long as
