Mrs. Tucker on Empire Day.

GIVE THE PEOPLE A CHANCE TO DISPLAY THEIR LOYALTY.

Well, says Mrs. Tucker, our Party year after year has agitated for a holiday on May the twenty-fourth in honor of our beloved Sovereign Queen Victoria. Her reign was one of the greatest of any sovereign that ever wore a crown, and the idea of celebrating the birth of our beloved Queen by flying a few flags, and holding a few smoking concerts, always appeared ridiculous to her in the extreme. But now the scene is changed, and the argument put forward in days gone by, that we couldn't interfere with business by closing down on May the 24th, is exploded, and we are pleased to find that the business section of the community have realized that if we are to be reckoned as a truly patriotic people who love to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of Victoria the Good, we must make some sacrifices, even though it may mean that business be suspended for a day.

Mrs. Tucker says that now that the day is to be kept a holiday, the next thing for us to consider is the manner in which we are to celebrate. "Then much use to keep the day in a milk and watery fashion, by arising from bed a little later than on an ordinary work day, and start in shingling a roof, or painting the end of a house, and this is what will be done by many cute citizens, if no special programme is mapped out to mark the day, by those whom we look up to as teachers on such occasions. Nothing is more dismal than a patriotic occasion kept in a style so funeral as to cause the ordinary citizen to wind his way to a cemetery, to paint a railing, and up to the present this is the brand of rejoicing that most of our people have indulged in on days of celebrations in St. John's. There are others who leave town for trouting, and more who go to nearby airports to "visit the scenes of their youth," and on every side can be seen hundreds of men, women and children mooping around in the mud, not knowing exactly what to do with themselves. This humdrum way of celebrating a glorious event, is not the fault of the ordinary citizen who is ever ready to bubble over with enthusiasm, if he only knew how to start in, but rather can be attributed to the lack of interest taken in the general public, by those who should lead the way. And now is the time

Severe Street Fight.

TWO MEN HURT.

Shortly after 1 p.m. yesterday, a row occurred on Water Street, at the foot of Hutchings Street, which caused great excitement amongst the large crowd which gathered, and as the result of which a street car man and a man who recently came from over the bay, got hurt. In the row which occurred yesterday, no striker took part or were present as far as we can learn. As a matter of fact the first squabble occurred on Saturday last near Alexander Street, and policemen have been detailed to give particular attention to this end of the city since the lockout began. Those who were present yesterday say that the party from the bay, who resides at Angel Place, near the factory, instead of keeping his own back yard had come down the street with taunts for the strikers, and yesterday their sympathizers could not stand this and the result was the man was badly

Five Policemen Resign.

Yesterday, Constables Tucker, Badcock and Norman, of the Western Station, and two of the Eastern Station, resigned their positions on the police force. These men were long enough in the force to make them proficient at their work, but say they could not find it convenient or paying to live on the heartless "sympathy" of Premier Morris. Such pay as they receive with Sir Edward's "kindly regards" will not keep them in grub and boots, and like men of mettle they are taking up other avocations. To amplify its surplus, it will need amplifying before election time, the Government should now call an auction and sell the great quantity of discarded uniforms left over by the great number who have recently quit the force.

Fishery News.

The Board of Trade have received letters from Channel stating that the codfishery continues good, but there was not much doing with the lobster fishery which has just opened.

A communication was also received from Burgeo intimating that the catch for last week was 400 quintals and the total 1,501. Herring are plentiful in Fortune Bay and many bankers are there baiting.

Attacked Passing St.

SHARPLY ATTACKED LAST NIGHT AS

a man named Furlong who works in the shops of the Reid Nfd. Co., was passing up Water Street, he was the victim of an unprovoked attack. The man had his hands in his pockets and was not aware of the presence of a "nemy" until he received a stunning blow in the face which knocked out one of his front teeth and felled him. Another man who was with his assailant (Tucker) also attempted to assault Furlong when he fell. The latter when he had recovered from his surprise was about to sail into his own when Constables Phelan and Bussey appeared and arrested Tucker and also brought his accomplice along to the station though he was later allowed to go.
