A COSTLY FLOWER.
A Double Carnation Sold by a Grand Rapids Man for $10,000.
Grand Rapids, Mich., March 4.—Ten thousand dollars is the price which is to be paid by a New York florist for the sole right to the famous double carnation, known as the "Murella." The flower has been raised and owned entirely by a firm owning a large greenhouse near Roseton, Lake. The senior member of the firm has been engaged in the cultivation of flowers since his boyhood, and has "bred" many peculiar species. The "Murella" is one of the most beautiful carnations ever seen, being very large and of a deep red color. He has been working upon it for many years, and brought it out only last year. After taking several prizes at floral shows, he began to receive offers from prominent florists about the country. One offer of $8,000 came from San Francisco last week, and the next day the New York man offered $10,000. The offer was accepted, and it was stated today that all the plants bearing that flower will be shipped to New York this week.

—Miss Ollie Jarvis, of Hamilton, who has been visiting her cousins, the Misses Rosie and Hetty Blackwell, 510 York street, returned home on the Wabash express yesterday.
—The regular weekly meeting of the water commissioners was held yesterday afternoon, when a few accounts and unimportant matters were disposed of. The completion of the agreement with the street railway for entering Springbank Park was deferred for another week.

—During the week ending Monday night, 19,258,700 gallons of water were pumped into the reservoir at Springbank. By days the pump registrations were: Feb. 25, 2,439,752 gallons; Feb. 26, 2,439,828 gallons; Feb. 27, 2,451,192 gallons; Feb. 28, 2,962,744 gallons; Feb. 29, 3,753,688 gallons; March 1, 2,738,832 gallons; March 2, 2,379,064 gallons. The steam machinery was worked 24 hours on Saturday, 7 1-2 hours on Thursday, and 5 hours on Sunday. The water in the reservoir was 13 feet deep on Sunday.

A BUILDER'S COMPLAINT.
"I desire to let the city architects know that we are being treated very unfairly," said a local builder to an "Advertiser" man yesterday. "At one time when a job was to be done entailing the expenditure of a few hundred dollars, the first thing attended to after preparing plans was the insertion in the daily newspapers of notices calling for tenders, a system under which all builders, great and small, were placed on an equal footing, and all were enabled to know what was going on. Now, however, some reason, this custom has become obsolete, and now when figures are wanted, cards are sent to a few builders in the city and vicinity, which enables those in the ring to do about as they please, while those in the snow. The man running an unpretentious establishment can very frequently give as close figures and as good satisfaction as the owner of a large institution, and should be given a chance to obtain a share of whatever is going, which is impossible under the system now in operation. In addition to being of profit to the builder, those 'Tenders Wanted' advertisements were a source of information to people all over the country interested in London's development, and were looked for as regularly as the papers were published. The cards may save a few cents in one way, but on the other hand, many dollars may be lost through the restriction to those composing the golden circle. Those advertisements should be again inserted, when perhaps a few of us outsiders would give such figures as would compel recognition and secure us a job at hammering nails, with profit to ourselves and patrons."
