Farmers Are Taking Advantage

There was an unusually large amount of hay and oats on the market this morning, and the demand was very brisk.

In all there were about 30 loads of hay on the square, and the price ranged from $11 to $12 per ton. It is likely that before long hay will grow dearer. The good roads are also an incentive to the farmers to come to the market, and if the fine weather continues the markets all this week should be large.

Dressed hogs were very much in evidence. The present price is rather high, and the farmers are taking advantage of the farmers are taking advantage of the farmingly bearish foreign crop and statistical conditions on flour opening, follows:

are unchanged.
Oats are getting cheaper, and the price now is $1 to $1 05 per cwt. There were 20 loads on the market this morning, and the demand was unusually heavy. All the loads were sold before 11 o'clock. Saturday's prices prevail in butter, eggs and poultry, and it is probable there will be no change this week.
Fruit prices are unchanged.
